Conversation Is Salty On Governors' Cruise

When the nation's governors decided to hold their conference this year on board a cruise ship, they must have expected that it would be a lot of different from meeting in a hotel in New York or Chicago. It is.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

ABOARD THE SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — "Where's my brother Winthrop?" yelled Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

"He's in the card room playing state and local relations," quipped Gov. Dan Evans of Washington.

The governor of New York finally made connections with his brother, the governor of Arkansas, and started looking for a place for the Republican governors to caucus.

They tried the sun deck, but it was in use by some of the governors at the National Governors Conference on a cruise to the Virgin Islands. They were taking lessons in calypso music.

IN THE first class lounge several gubernatorial wives were a-gaggle over games of bridge.

On to the solarium, only to find that the press corps had turned it into a communications center.

"Oh, hell, let's meet in the bar," said the governor of New York, and he could have bitten his tongue when he saw the frown on the face of George Romney, the governor of Michigan.

Romney is a Mormon and he does not drink. He also is the man the New York Rockefeller is backing for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Republican governors finally caucused in the ship's chapel, which was still warm from a spirited defense by Texas Gov. John Connally—a Democrat—of President Johnson's Vietnam policy. (Leaving, Connally was trapped for 20 minutes in an elevator and had to be extracted through the liner's laundry room).

The GOP delegation, seeking still further seclusion, later caucused in the men's room aft of the library.

The ship's public address system, in between blurbs for the 4:30 helicopter pickup and the captain's gala, was calling attention to Liz Carpenter's 20-minute pitch in the auditorium on behalf of Lady Bird's beautification program.

Liz is Lady Bird's press secretary, of course.

SCUTTLEBUTT, the nautical name for rumor, swept the great liner fore and aft that LBJ was about to land on the quarterdeck in a helicopter.

Two Polaris nuclear subs were cruising silently in the wake ready to retrieve jettisoned careers.

T. H. White, author of "The Making of a President," was seen chatting with Happy Rockefeller, wife of Nelson.

There was talk of a shipboard romance between the forces of Ronald Reagan and Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee, who had more or less pledged his troth to George Romney.

The caucusing Republicans were rumored to be hammering out an open-housing resolution to counter any Vietnam resolution by the Democrats.

The public address system kept calling governors to the solarium for marine phone calls. The Republicans by impartial count of the ship's radio operator had a 3-1 edge in calls.

The SS Independence saluted a passing freighter with three deep-throated blasts on her foghorn. "My God," moaned a Romney man, "Lyndon's flown Ev Dirksen down to push his Viet resolutions."

Mother, Daughter Die

2 Killed, 2 Others Hurt As Cars Ram In County

Residents Of Canfield Are Victims

Woman's Husband, Palestine Motorist Are Hospitalized

A Canfield woman and her 4-year-old daughter were killed and two others badly injured in a two-car crash Friday night on Route 14, four miles east of Route 7, in Columbiana County.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital were Mrs. Anna Belle Roessler, 45, and her daughter, Shirley Ann Roessler.

In fair condition at the hospital with a broken arm, dislocated hip and shoulder, and a severe scalp laceration are William E. Roessler, 47, of Canfield RD 1 and Michael L. Stuart, 18, of 149 North Summer St., East Palestine.

The fatalities were the county's 28th and 29th of the year from traffic.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported that apparently Roessler was driving a 1962 sedan north when he failed to negotiate a curve to the left and his car ran off the right side of the road, slid back and went left of center, ramming Stuart's auto, a 1967 sedan, head-on.

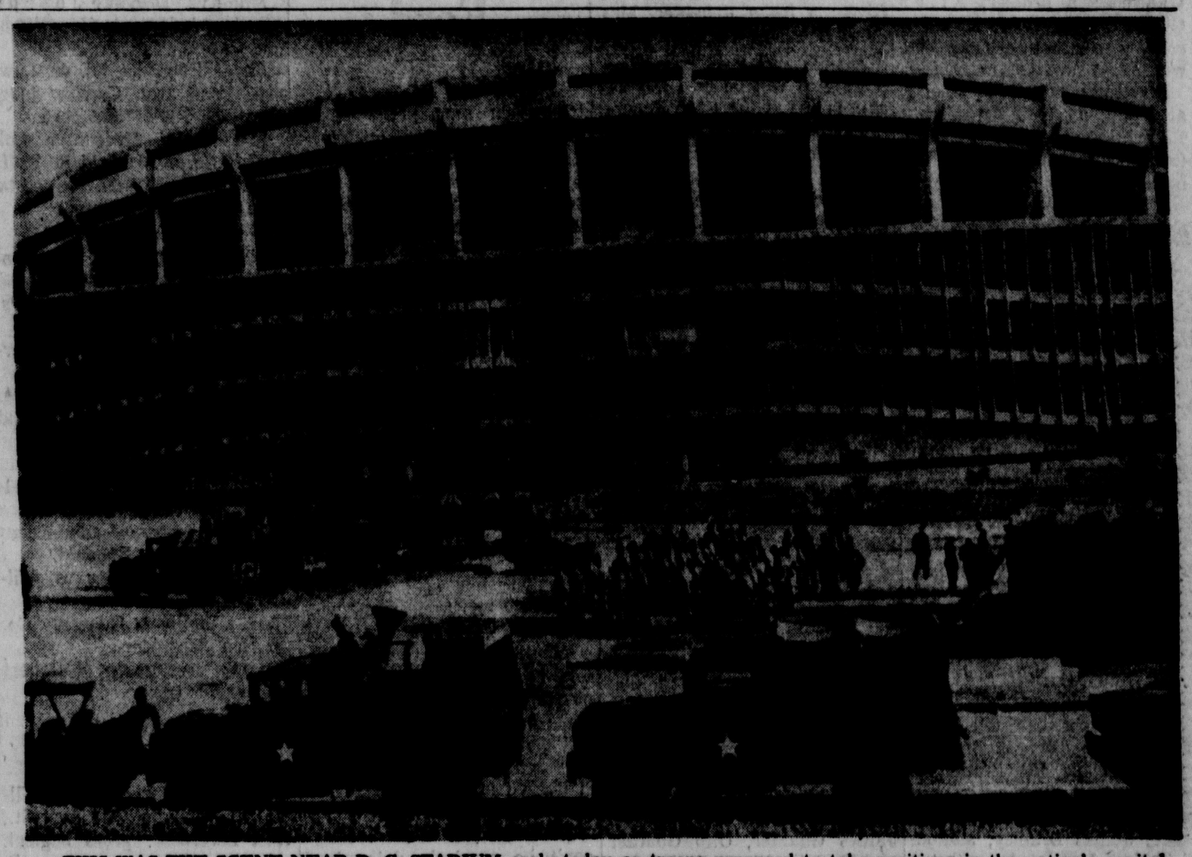

Both cars were demolished. The investigation is continuing.

Two Washingtonville residents were injured last night when their car went out of control on Route 334 near Columbiana and hit a telephone pole.

Allen L. Vignon, 22, of 480 High St. was driving his 1966 coach east on Route 334 when he failed to negotiate a curve to the right and the car slid out of control, ramming the pole.

He and his passenger, Jack Waggle, 19, of 225 Main St. were taken to Salem City Hospital, where they were treated and released.

The accident is still under investigation.

March On Pentagon Awaited

Demonstrators Begin To Gather, Washington Braces For Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of demonstrators-and countering forces of civilian and military police-gathered around the Lincoln Memorial today for a heralded antiwar rally and march on the Pentagon.

Demonstation supporters estimated as many as 70,000 would turn out for a rally at the memorial and then march across the Potomac River to the Pentagon—the symbol of American involvement in Vietnam in the eyes of peace groups.

But official sources, judging from intelligence reports available to them, predicted the war protesters would number about 25,000.

As the sun burned off the mist over the Potomac young demonstrators—some with long hair and bizarre costumes of the hippies—gathered around the monument. Some sat on the steps. Others stood around the reflecting pool.

And up the street, at the headquarters of the State Department, white-capped military police, in the green uniforms of the Army, took up positions.

A Justice Department official warned that the permit for the demonstration against the Vietnam war "is not a license for unlawful conduct." Estimates were that up to 70,000 would march on the Defense Department headquarters.

A weeklong effort by antidraft demonstrators in California to paralyze the Oakland Induction Center ended Friday when 10,000 turned out. But police kept the crowd back despite occasional clashes and the inductees went through.

On the East Coast students demonstrated at Brooklyn College and Columbia University in New York and in two Massachusetts communities.

As the intensity of the protest grew so did plans for counter-demonstrations in support of the war.

In New York, veterans' groups, unions and fraternal organizations prepared for a two-day vigil in Battery Park on the tip of lower Manhattan and parades were scheduled for Sunday.

The National Student Committee for Victory in Vietnam urged a "lights on" demonstration for motorists today to signal support for the U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Charles W. Wiley, executive secretary of the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, released letters from Richard M. Nixon and Barry Goldwater endorsing the demonstrations in support of the U.S. servicemen.

Several small bus companies in New York refused to use their vehicles as charters to carry peace demonstrators from New York to Washington for today's rally. The cancellations of about 60 to 70 buses were announced Friday night.

Spokesmen for the demonstrators said car pools were being organized.

To insure that today's demonstrators in Washington remain peaceful, the government flew in 6,000 troops—and word was that another 20,000 were at the ready.

The fifth straight day of antiwar protests in Oakland saw the biggest turnout of the week. Police formed a human corridor for the buses bearing inductees to pass through.

Demonstrators hooted and jeered, pelting police with cans and picket signs. Trash cans and automobiles were used to form temporary barricades but police quickly took them down.

Brooklyn College, scene of bloody clash between police and students Thursday, was virtually shut down in some departments as students called strike Friday.

But faculty and student representatives later reached an accord which administration spokesmen predicted would end the walkout Monday. Demonstrations in support of the Brooklyn students were also held on the campus of Columbia University, Queens College and Hunter College in New York City.

Students picketing in front of the Northhampton, Mass., City Hall to demand the resignation of the draft board chairman were met by 60 counterdemonstrators. They clashed but police prevented an all-out brawl.

Demonstrators broke windows at the U.S. Embassy in Oslo, Norway, and five were arrested.

Proposal Called 'Lousy'

Truckers Vote On Offer, Blast Shakes Area Office

Striking steel haulers were voting this weekend on a compromise agreement termed "lousy" by their leaders as scattered violence continued in the nine-week protest.

An explosion rocked a Substation area trucking office and stones were tossed at convoys moving through the district.

David Hoppel, owner of the Grans - Conn Trucking firm of Substation Rd. said an explosion ripped a hole in the ground near the office about 4 a. m. today.

Men in the office were awakened by the blast which caused a large crater. Hoppel surmised someone came through the woods behind the office and threw a bomb device which fell short or else they were frightened off. No damage or injuries were reported.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said stones were tossed at a convoy of Trans - Conn rigs Friday as the drivers were returning from making deliveries at Louisville. The windshield of one rig was broken.

William M. Gallagher, 17, of Industry was released on $500 bond in the custody of his parents after being charged with assault with intent to kill.

The youth was cited in connection with the wounding of Edward Stowers, 46, of Wolf Run Rd., Industry, with a rifle as the man and his son walked past the Gallagher trucking firm along Route 68.

Strike leaders from eight states where the highway shipment of steel has come to a virtual standstill agreed in Cleveland Friday to submit the plan to the rank-and-file without official recommendation. An answer is expected by Monday.

Truckers in the Cleveland area, the first reported to have voted, approved the plan Friday night. Specific figures were not given. It was rejected in the Somerset, Pa., area by a reported 68-3 margin.

David Haugh, spokesman for strikers in the Pittsbugh area, believes it will be turned down in Western Pennsylvania.

"I don't know anybody willing to work eight hours a day without pay," Haugh said. "And that's exactly what they're asking us to do."

The plan approved by 150 trucking firms would give the independent owner - operators $13.70 an hour for every hour after waiting four hours at steel mills to be loaded and unloaded. Trucking firms would get about $3.70 of that, for bookkeeping purposes.

Earlier, the drivers accepted a two-hour free waiting time proposal with $10 an hour thereafter. Trucking firms turned it down.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Labor and Industry William J. Hart issued an ultimatum before Friday's meeting warning, "There's no room for compromise."

"They've got everything we can legally get for them," said Hart, who headed a seven-state mediation panel. "They stay out till Hell freezes over" if they turn it down. "There will be no more meetings."

Hart said the four-hour waiting time—the key issue in the

Only Loose Ends Remain In Ford, Union Contract

DETROIT (AP) — With most major pieces stitched into place. United Auto Workers union and Ford Motor Co. bargainers moved today to tie off the loose ends of a contract to end a 45-day strike, third-longest in auto history. Already wrapped up, an industry source said, were enough big items to make the package probably the largest settlement ever in the automaking industry and possibly one of the richest ever in any industrial field.

But among the unresolved matters was the cost-of-living escalator clause, highly pized by the UAW.

UAW Pesident Walter P. Reuther was thought to be striving for a few more improvements to bring to $1 an hour the value wage and finge benefit gains would have over the three-year contract period.

The source said Reuther already had won wage increases that would, over the three years, range from 43 to 59 cents for most workers and 79 to 95 cents for the 20,000 skilled

Oil And Water Mix For Clue

A tell-tale trail of water and oil led to the arrest of an Irondale area man by Wellsville police this morning following a hit-skip mishap.

Gerald Murphy of Irondale RD 1 was fined $25 and costs by Mayor William Daugherty for leaving the scene of an accident.

Police said Murphy's car hit an auto owned by Pauline Barrett of 2019½ Clark Ave. at 18th and Commerce Sts. at 1:35 a.m. Officers said the radiator and crankcase of Murphy's 1960 sedan broke in the mishap, and they were able to trail the suspected driver to his home by following the water and oil which leaked out.

Reporter For Communist Papers Declares:

Hanoi In No Mood For Bargaining

This dispatch was filed to The Associated Press by an Australian correspondent who reports for Communist newspapers from Communist countries from which most non-Communist newsmen are barred.

By WILFRED BURCHETT

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — There is no possibility of any talks or even contacts between Hanoi and the U.S. government unless the bombardment and other acts of war against North Vietnam are definitively halted.

This is the position stated to me during conversations in the last few days with Premier Pham Van Dong, Nguyen Duy Trinh, foreign minister and deputy premier, and other high-ranking government and party leaders.

Hanoi is in no mood for concessions or bargaining and there is an absolute refusal to offer anything—except talks—for a cessation of the bombardment. The word stressed is "talks," not negotiations.

DURING AN informal talk, however, Trinh repeated that his statement to this correspondent last Jan. 28 — that talks could start if the bombing was halted — still be "meaningful" talks. Whether they would be "fruitful" or "productive" depended on the United States.

The mood of Hanoi is one of toughness and confidence. Although leaders expect Hanoi and Haiphong will probably be destroyed and that the war may last many more years, they feel the worst is behind them, that the daily bombings are absorbed into the country's organism.

Despite the air assault on Haiphong and intensified attacks on bridges along the rail link with China, traffic continues to move out of Haiphong almost normally over pontoon bridges, and the rail link with China is still functioning, although occasionally halted for a day or two Many tens of thousands of Chinese are working along this line and elsewhere, keeping rail and road communications open and repairing bridges.

THE FACT that the mile-long Paul Doumer Bridge over the Red River at Hanoi was repaired in less than six weeks after the bombers knocked out one of its huge spans is regarded as proof that anything that is destroyed is speedily repairable.

Although meat and fat rations are meager, there is no evidence of any shortage of rice. And the fact that the bridge span was knocked out and Hanoi's only road and rail link

West Virginia Legislature Call Weighed

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands (AP) — A special session of the West Virginia Legislature before Thanksgiving is a distinct possibility, Gov. Hulett Smith said here Friday.

Smith, attending sessions of the National Governors Conference, said he will decide whether to call a special session after a meeting of West Virginia legislative committees early next month.

The governor said the legislature might be called into session to consider realignment of West Virginia's congressional districts, reorganization of the Welfare Department, conflict of interest and election law reforms.

Several of West Virginia's congressional districts vary in population density in apparent conflict with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one - man, one-vote" decision.

Governor Puts On Squeeze

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla (AP) — A former lemonade salesman who became governor of Florida has come to the aid of an 11-year-old popsicle vendor forced into early retirement.

Gov. Claude Kirk hustled an aide off to Satellite Beach Friday with the command, "I want that stand reopened by Tuesday!" after learning that health authorities had closed Billy Churchill's sidewalk refreshment stand.

"The governor used to operate a lemonade stand as a boy and says he personally will be on hand for the reopening Tuesday," Kirk's news secretary said.

The governor learned of Billy's plight through a telegram from the boy and his father, William B. Churchill. The telegram asked for the governor's help and charged Dr. T. Paul Haney, Brevard County health director, discriminated against Billy in closing the stand.

DURING AN informal talk, however, Trinh repeated that his statement to this correspondent last Jan. 28 — that talks could start if the bombing was halted — still be "meaningful" talks. Whether they would be "fruitful" or "productive" depended on the United States.

The mood of Hanoi is one of toughness and confidence. Although leaders expect Hanoi and Haiphong will probably be destroyed and that the war may last many more years, they feel the worst is behind them, that the daily bombings are absorbed into the country's organism.

Despite the air assault on Haiphong and intensified attacks on bridges along the rail link with China, traffic continues to move out of Haiphong almost normally over pontoon bridges, and the rail link with China is still functioning, although occasionally halted for a day or two. Many tens of thousands of Chinese are working along this line and elsewhere, keeping rail and road communications open and repairing bridges.

THE FACT that the mile-long Paul Doumer Bridge over the Red River at Hanoi was repaired in less than six weeks after the bombers knocked out one of its huge spans is regarded as proof that anything that is destroyed is speedily repairable.

Although meat and fat rations are meager, there is no evidence of any shortage of rice. And the fact that the bridge span was knocked out and Hanoi's only road and rail link

Oil And Water Mix For Clue

A tell-tale trail of water and oil led to the arrest of an Irondale area man by Wellsville police this morning following a hit-skip mishap.

Gerald Murphy of Irondale RD 1 was fined $25 and costs by Mayor William Daugherty for leaving the scene of an accident.

Police said Murphy's car hit an auto owned by Pauline Barrett of 2019½ Clark Ave. at 18th and Commerce Sts. at 1:35 a.m. Officers said the radiator and crankcase of Murphy's 1960 sedan broke in the mishap, and they were able to trail the suspected driver to his home by following the water and oil which leaked out.

West Virginia Legislature Call Weighed

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands (AP) — A special session of the West Virginia Legislature before Thanksgiving is a distinct possibility, Gov. Hulett Smith said here Friday.

Smith, attending sessions of the National Governors Conference, said he will decide whether to call a special session after a meeting of West Virginia legislative committees early next month.

The governor said the legislature might be called into session to consider realignment of West Virginia's congressional districts, reorganization of the Welfare Department, conflict of interest and election law reforms.

Several of West Virginia's congressional districts vary in population density in apparent conflict with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one - man, one-vote" decision.

Governor Puts On Squeeze

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla (AP) — A former lemonade salesman who became governor of Florida has come to the aid of an 11-year-old popsicle vendor forced into early retirement.

Gov. Claude Kirk hustled an aide off to Satellite Beach Friday with the command, "I want that stand reopened by Tuesday!" after learning that health authorities had closed Billy Churchill's sidewalk refreshment stand.

"The governor used to operate a lemonade stand as a boy and says he personally will be on hand for the reopening Tuesday," Kirk's news secretary said.

The governor learned of Billy's plight through a telegram from the boy and his father, William B. Churchill. The telegram asked for the governor's help and charged Dr. T. Paul Haney, Brevard County health director, discriminated against Billy in closing the stand.

Deaths and Funerals

Robert Glenn

Robert L. Glenn, 51, of Orange Home, Fla., near Wildwood, a former potter, died Friday at 2 a.m. at the Leesburg (Fla.) hospital, after suffering a heart attack earlier at his home.

Mr. Glenn was born in Glenmoor Feb. 15, 1916, a son of Fred O. Glenn, who resides at Orange Home, and the late Maud Glenn. He moved from here several years ago. At one time he worked at the Harker China Co. in Chester and was a maintenance man at the Leesburg Hospital. He was active in the Boy Scout movement and was a Scoutmaster when he resided here.

He also leaves his widow, Mrs. Luvadell Sickle Glenn, at home; three sons, Robert Glenn and John Glenn, both of Leesburg, and Thomas Glenn of Wildwood; a brother, Allen Glenn, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Woods, both of near Wildwood, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Page - Theus Funeral Home in Leesburg. Burial will be in Hillcrest Memorial Gardens at Leesburg.

Harry Bradley

NEW CUMBERLAND — Harry Porter Bradley, 78 of River Ave., a retired employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co., died Friday at 11:30 p.m. at Weirton General Hospital after a long illness.

He was born here Aug. 17, 1889. He served in the Army before World War I and was a member of the New Cumberland Church of the Nazarene.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nellie Marshall Bradley, at home; four daughters, Miss Dorothy Bradley of Steubenville, Mrs. Harry (Betty) Allison of New Cumberland, Mrs. Lee (Jean Ann) Cundiff and Miss Mary Ruth Bradley, both of Cleveland; six sons, George Bradley and Thomas Bradley, both of Florida, Bill Bradley of Weirton, Harry Bradley Jr., stationed in Germany with the Air Force, James Bradley, stationed in New Jersey, also with the Air Force, and Frederick Carl Bradley of Virginia; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Ferrill of Steubenville, and 18 grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Turley Funeral Home here by the Rev. George S. Stewart. Burial will be in New Cumberland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Mrs. Bessie McKenzie

SALINEVILLE — Mrs. Bessie McKenzie, 79, of Salineville RD, a native of Carroll County, died this morning at 2 at the Town and Country Nursing Home following a lengthy illness.

She was born Dec. 19, 1887, a daughter of the late John and Mary Miller. She was a member of the Calvary United Presbyterian Church here and the Brush Creek Grange.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Martha Baumgartner of Rocky River; a foster daughter, Mrs. June Bettridge of East Liverpool, and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Kerr Funeral Home here by the Rev. Ralph Chambers of the Salineville Methodist Church. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time after 3 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Angie Silvestri

Services for Mrs. Angie Gualtier Silvestri of Cleveland, a former resident of Wellsville, were held Friday in Cleveland. Burial followed in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Silvestri, widow of Dominic Silvestri, died Oct. 17 at Suburban Hospital in Cleveland after an illness of two years.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Rose Remesch, Miss Marcella Silvestri and Miss Virginia Silvestri, all of Cleveland, Miss Gloria Silvestri and Miss Joan Silvestri, both of California, and Mrs. Lucy Netti of Wellsville; two sons, John Silvestri and Dominic Silvestri Jr., both of Cleveland; six brothers, Adrian Gualtier of California, James Gualtier, Otto Gualtier and Earl Gualtier, all of Cleveland, Thomas Gualtier and Noah Gualtier, both of Wellsville.

And Away They Go!

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Robert W. Lewis, General Electric plant manager, complained of a record 18 walkouts at the Pittsfield plant during a dedication address Friday for a research laboratory.

As he spoke, the record rose to 19.

About 500 maintenance men left their jobs in a grievance over job classifications. No incidents were reported.

The theme of his address: "General Electric is taken for granted in Pittsfield."

Nippy, But Pleasant

Although it may be nippy at times, everything points to a pleasant weekend.

The forecast calls for fair and cooler tonight, with the low in the 30's, and sunny and warmer Sunday.

Skies were mostly clear over Ohio this morning, with temperatures generally around 40 degrees.

Bomb Threat At Potteries Proves Hoax

Bomb threats at two Hancock County potteries Friday night turned out to be a hoax.

Chester police received a call about 6:20, saying bombs had been planted in both the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co. at Chester, and the Homer Laughlin China Co. at Newell. The caller did not specify when the bombs were to explode.

Chester Patrolmen Rex Cowey and Joseph Cornell swung into action, notifying the Hancock County sheriff's office of the Newell report and then hurrying to T.S.&T., where guards were notified.

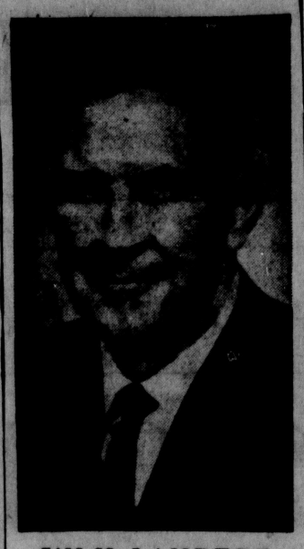

Cowey then called T.S.&T. Board Chairman Edwin S. Morse, who came to the plant to conduct an investigation.

Morse took a group of employes and scoured the premises, but found nothing.

At Homer Laughlin, deputies notified Executive Vice-President and Secretary Joseph Wells Jr., who reported the company conducted no investigation because of the sprawling 89 acres of plant and warehouses which would make it virtually an impossible task.

Morse notified police after his investigation that nothing was found, but praised the officers for their work in the case.

Canned apricots, heated in a little of their own syrup in a skillet, make an excellent accompaniment to a platter of sliced baked ham. Use a slotted spoon to remove the apricots from the skillet when you are ready to add the fruit to your platter.

tradesmen among the 160,000 strikers.

Tentative contact gains won by the union also included fatter pensions and pay increases in the second and third years of the contract, bigger than those provided in the last two years of the previous pact.

The items won by the UAW, the source said, also included the 60-year-old union chief's pet project—guaranteed annual income, or a form of it.

The cost-of-living escalator increases or reduces the pay of workers according to movement in the cost-of-living index. During the last three years it added 18 cents to workers' hourly wage.

Reuther has said the UAW will allow "no tampering" with the clause, which the UAW originally won at General Motors in 1948. Ford, offering to guarantee a minimum hourly wage gain of three cents in the last two years of the contract, proposed a ceiling of eight cents in those two years, the source said.

The total value of the package can't be precisely determined because the cost-of-living index will fluctuate in the coming three years.

Reuther has said that the union wouldn't settle for less than a 5.6 per cent gain in wages and fringe benefits—80 cents an hour over three years.

Under the old pact, wages and fringe benefits increased 87 cents an hour in the three years before it expired at 11:59 p.m. Sept. 6.

The two sides ended late Friday a 31-hour bargaining session without confirming or denying details of tentatively settled contract provisions as outlined by the industry source.

The UAW hoped to use the Ford contract as a pattern for settlement at General Motors and Chrysler where UAW members have continued to work although their contracts also expired Sept. 6.

Any agreement is subject to ratification by union members.

By Ford estimates, strikers have lost $170 million in wages.

At the same time, the nation's second-largest automaker has been taken out of production of 1968 models for more than six weeks, and sales of Ford cars in the first 10 days of this month fell 60,000 below the Ford sales total for the same period last year.

The sales drop came despite the fact that Ford dealers around the nation still have about 140,000 cars on hand, most of them 1967 models, but about 45,000 of them the 1968 models built before the strike began.

One difficulty foreign diplomats have in persuading Hanoi to make any new peace gesture is what one of the leaders referred to as a "credibility gap" between what President Johnson says and does. Because of experiences in certain earlier private and secret moves which no leaders with whom I talked would precisely specify, there has been deep skepticism about any public statements or private feelers coming from Washington through diplomatic and other channels.

SUCH SKEPTICISM was much less in evidence during my previous visits, but today it is noted by diplomats from Socialist and other countries accredited to or visiting Hanoi. Several times the names of Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Walt Rostow, special assistant to Johnson, are mentioned in the most unflattering terms as men in those word no confidence is possible.

It is impossible to find any leader who believes the sincerity of Johnson's statements that he really wants to end the war on terms that would leave the Vietnamese free to settle their own affairs or that he does not intend a permanent U.S. military presence in South Vietnam.

Man Charged With Murder In Aliquippa

ALIQUIPPA — A 36-year-old Aliquippa man faced a charge of murder today following the slaying of a companion on a city street early this morning.

Arthur Lee Mills of 324 Wyke St. was to be arraigned for the shooting of John Edward Hayes, 24, of 216 3rd Ave. who was pronounced dead on arrival at Aliquippa Hospital at 12:35.

Police said Hayes was shot once in the head with a .32 caliber revolver.

Officers said Hayes, Mills and Ford Newsome, 30, of 303 Wyke St. had been out drinking for about two hours when the shooting took place at the intersection of Davis and Wyke Sts., on the sidewalk beside Newsome's auto.

No motive was established for the shooting. Mills was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Ayoob on charges of murder and violation of the firearms act.

The House committee adopted an amendment increasing local control Friday as it approved and sent on for action by the full House a bill extending the life of OEO programs two years at a cost of $2.06 billion.

The local-control amendment was offered by Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., a persistent critic of the way the War on Poverty is being waged. It would designate state or local governments as the official agencies for distributing antipoverty funds.

One difficulty foreign diplomats have in persuading Hanoi to make any new peace gesture is what one of the leaders referred to as a "credibility gap" between what President Johnson says and does. Because of experiences in certain earlier private and secret moves which no leaders with whom I talked would precisely specify, there has been deep skepticism about any public statements or private feelers coming from Washington through diplomatic and other channels.

SUCH SKEPTICISM was much less in evidence during my previous visits, but today it is noted by diplomats from Socialist and other countries accredited to or visiting Hanoi. Several times the names of Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Walt Rostow, special assistant to Johnson, are mentioned in the most unflattering terms as men in those word no confidence is possible.

It is impossible to find any leader who believes the sincerity of Johnson's statements that he really wants to end the war on terms that would leave the Vietnamese free to settle their own affairs or that he does not intend a permanent U.S. military presence in South Vietnam.

Man Charged With Murder In Aliquippa

ALIQUIPPA — A 36-year-old Aliquippa man faced a charge of murder today following the slaying of a companion on a city street early this morning.

Arthur Lee Mills of 324 Wyke St. was to be arraigned for the shooting of John Edward Hayes, 24, of 216 3rd Ave. who was pronounced dead on arrival at Aliquippa Hospital at 12:35.

Police said Hayes was shot once in the head with a .32 caliber revolver.

Officers said Hayes, Mills and Ford Newsome, 30, of 303 Wyke St. had been out drinking for about two hours when the shooting took place at the intersection of Davis and Wyke Sts., on the sidewalk beside Newsome's auto.

No motive was established for the shooting. Mills was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Ayoob on charges of murder and violation of the firearms act.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems, not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastrophic to anv system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water - laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increase in flow therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quantities of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled — they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats, and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in over-loaded and flooded systems. Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields — freeing the ground of pore - clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Sea-Cal contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria, and 60,000,000 aerobic bacteria, in each gram and, there being 28 grams to the ounce (with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day), this means that a "seeding" with a few ounces of Sea-Cal will regenerate even the most dormant system.

Sea-Cal, the only insurance policy you can buy for your sewage system.

Caucuses Set In Peace Bid In Shafer Tax

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top legislative leaders have agreed to meet in a series of caucuses to try to break the deadlock of Gov. Shafer's $285 million tax proposal.

The agreement was reached Friday in a conference with Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr.

But the bipartisan group said a solution was still weeks away.

"There's a lot of work to be done," said Democratic Sen. Ernest P. Kline, senate minority leader. "I don't want anybody to think that we're going back to Harrisburg Monday and settle this."

Also at the meeting were Republicans Lee A. Donaldson, House majority leader, and Robert D. Fleming, Senate president pro tem, and Democratic K. Leroy Irvis, House minority leader.

Fleming said there would probably be two weeks of meetings trying to "rearrange" Shafer's tax package and predicted several weeks before it came to the floor for a vote.

Democrats say there is too much fat in the budget and refuse to act favorably until cuts are made.

Among the programs the tax dispute is hurting are appropriations for Pitt, Temple and Penn State, all state-related universities which receive substantial funds from the state.

Credit Union To Hold Yule Party On Dec. 13

The City Employes Credit Union officers and board of directors set Dec. 13 as the date for a Christmas party during the meeting Friday night in the Council chambers.

Two new members were accepted.

Mrs. Helen Steffen will be in charge of the Christmas party.

Bridge Floor Funds Are Set

LISBON — Columbiana County will pay $4,500 toward putting a new floor on an 80-foot steel truss bridge on Route 39 in Salineville.

County commissioners adopted a resolution of cooperation Thursday with the Ohio Highway Department which will bear 75 per cent of the cost, estimated at $18,000.

The bride is on Main St., two-tenths of a mile west of the junction of Route 164 and County Rd. 413.

Work will consist of removing the existing corrugated steel flooring with bituminous macadam wearing surface and replacing it with a 3-by-6-inch creosoted timber strip floor.

County Engineer John Ursu said the Highway Department will advertise the job for bids, but he does not know when.

The state's detour plan calls for the use of Route 644 from Salineville to Millport, Route 518 from Millport to Gavers and Route 164 from Gavers to Salineville, and states:

"There shall be no work started which requires the closing of the structure to traffic until all materials are on the job site so that the time for detouring traffic is held to a minimum."

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received a contract to furnish three legal - size filing cabinets for the clerk of courts for $272. Bids of three other firms ranged from $290 to $470.

Commissioners authorized travel allowances for four Welfare Department workers to attend professional meetings.

Father Of 10 Convicted In Traffic Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Beaver County father of 10 was convicted of involuntary manslaughter Friday and sentenced to 11½ to 23 months in the workhouse.

Melvin Smith, 41, of New Brighton was convicted in the death of Mrs. Linda Beightley, 33, of Baden who was killed in a three-car collision Dec. 29 on the Ohio River Blvd. in suburban Sewickley.

Witnesses said Smith's car went through a red light near the Sewickley bridge, hit one car, then veered across the highway and hit the Beightley car.

Six others were injured, including Mrs. Beigheley's husband, Harry, 36, and their two children.

Four City Policemen End Training Course

Four city policemen will be graduated tonight from a training school at Alliance.

Homer Clyde Dillon, J. W. Woods, Charles B. Coen and David L. Huffman have completed a training course at the Stark County Peace Officers school. They have had 120 hours of instruction in basic law enforcement techniques.

The ceremonies will be held at the Caskey Motor Inn at Alliance, beginning at 6:30.

U.S. Bombers Pound 6 Red Torpedo Boats

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy bombers pounced on six torpedo boats near the North Vietnamese coast today and pilots reported sinking four of them.

The six enemy patrol boats, one of the largest groups of torpedo boats American fliers have spotted, were attacked one mile east of the mouth of the Thanh Hoa river, in the central part of North Vietnam, a U.S. spokesman said.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops reported killing nearly 300 of the enemy in hard fighting Friday in the northern provinces.

Heavy fall rains bring many problems, not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastrophic to anv system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water - laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increase in flow therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quantities of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled — they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats, and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in over-loaded and flooded systems. Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields — freeing the ground of pore - clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Sea-Cal contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria, and 60,000,000 aerobic bacteria, in each gram and, there being 28 grams to the ounce (with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day), this means that a "seeding" with a few ounces of Sea-Cal will regenerate even the most dormant system.

Sea-Cal, the only insurance policy you can buy for your sewage system.

Population Up

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's population grew by about one per cent in 1966 to reach a total of 7,843,088, the Central Bureau of Statistics announced. Immigration from abroad, a total of 27,240 persons, figured largely in the growth.

The surplus of births over deaths in Sweden last year was 44,914, an increase of 0.6 per cent. The bureau said that only Austria, Belgium, East Germany and Hungary among European countries have a lower natural population increase than Sweden.

Chamber Summary

Gains Recorded In Some Indices

Eight East Liverpool area business and industrial indices showed gains in September, compared with the levels they attained in August, the Chamber of Commerce reported today in its monthly summary of conditions.

The gains were shown in bank clearings and debits, industrial employment, outbound railroad carloadings, river traffic, new and used car sales and parking meter receipts. Dips were reported in postal receipts, inbound carloadings, the freight tonnage moved on the river and advance payments in Columbiana County on state sales taxes.

PAYROLLS at 11 plants hit $1,486,557 in September, a gain of 7.6 per cent from the $1,381,893 in August. They stood at $12,521,158 for the first nine months of the year, a drop of 1.7 per cent from the $12,737,171 shown at the same time in 1966.

The plants had 3,791 on the job in September, virtually unchanged from the 3,812 in August. Employment averaged 3,595 monthly for the first three quarters of the year, off 4.1 per cent from the average of 3,749 maintained at the same time in 1966.

New car registrations in Columbiana County reached 336 during September, a gain of 10.5 per cent from the 304 in August. They stand at 3,024 for the first three quarters of the current year, down 12.1 per cent from the 3,442 shown at the same time in 1966.

Used car sales hit 1,125 during September, up 12.5 per cent from the 1,000 in August. They total 10,115 for the first nine months of 1967, a gain of 26.6 per cent from the 7,990 at the same time in 1966.

The city's parking meter receipts totaled $8,504 in September, 5.4 per cent from the $8,065 in August. They total $66,792 for the first three quarters of 1967, a boost of 25.8 per cent from the $53,081 shown at the same time in 1966.

Advance payments of sales taxes in the county reached $117,471 during September, down 51.7 per cent from the $243,165 in August. The payments stand at $1,222,537 for the first nine months of 1967, a gain of 4.5 per cent from the $1,169,588 listed at the same time in 1966.

DISTRICT dams locked through 491 river craft in September, a boost of 3.2 per cent from the 476 listed in August. The dams have handled 3,993 of the craft in the first nine months of 1967, a drop of 6.7 per cent from the 4,281 listed at the same time in 1966.

The September river traffic represented 1,711,800 tons of cargo, a drop of 3.7 per cent of the 1,777,700 listed in August. The tonnage totals 15,140,200 for the first nine months of the year, a drop of 6.4 per cent from the 16,174,466 tons at the same time in 1966.

Inbound railroad carloadings totaled 249 in September, off 10.4 per cent from the 278 in August. They stand at 2,397 for the first nine months of the year, off 5.2 per cent from the 2,528 in the same time during 1966.

Outbound carloadings reached 602 in September, a gain of 53.2 per cent from the 393 listed in August. They stand at 3,349 for the first nine months of 1967, a drop of 13 per cent from the 3,850 listed at the same time in 1966.

Postal receipts stood at $23,616 in September, off 48 per cent from the $45,421 listed in August. They total $238,040 for the first nine months of the year, up 10.1 per cent from the $216,253 listed at the same time in 1966.

Caucuses Set In Peace Bid In Shafer Tax

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top legislative leaders have agreed to meet in a series of caucuses to try to break the deadlock of Gov. Shafer's $285 million tax proposal.

The agreement was reached Friday in a conference with Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr.

But the bipartisan group said a solution was still weeks away.

"There's a lot of work to be done," said Democratic Sen. Ernest P. Kline, senate minority leader. "I don't want anybody to think that we're going back to Harrisburg Monday and settle this."

Also at the meeting were Republicans Lee A. Donaldson, House majority leader, and Robert D. Fleming, Senate president pro tem, and Democratic K. Leroy Irvis, House minority leader.

Fleming said there would probably be two weeks of meetings trying to "rearrange" Shafer's tax package and predicted several weeks before it came to the floor for a vote.

Democrats say there is too much fat in the budget and refuse to act favorably until cuts are made.

Among the programs the tax dispute is hurting are appropriations for Pitt, Temple and Penn State, all state-related universities which receive substantial funds from the state.

Credit Union To Hold Yule Party On Dec. 13

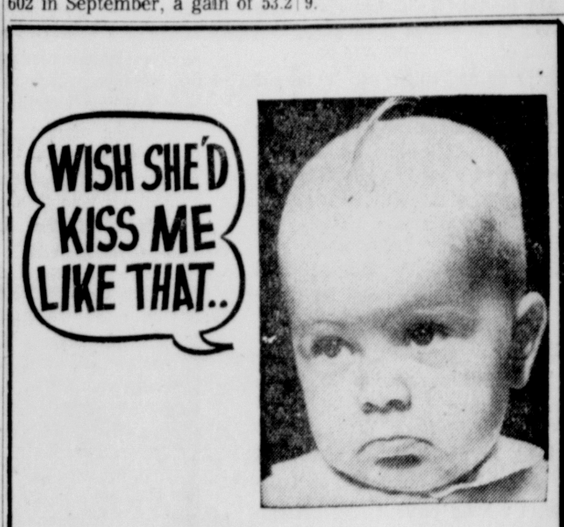

The City Employes Credit Union officers and board of directors set Dec. 13 as the date for a Christmas party during the meeting Friday night in the Council chambers.

Two new members were accepted.

Mrs. Helen Steffen will be in charge of the Christmas party.

Bridge Floor Funds Are Set

LISBON — Columbiana County will pay $4,500 toward putting a new floor on an 80-foot steel truss bridge on Route 39 in Salineville.

County commissioners adopted a resolution of cooperation Thursday with the Ohio Highway Department which will bear 75 per cent of the cost, estimated at $18,000.

The bride is on Main St., two-tenths of a mile west of the junction of Route 164 and County Rd. 413.

Work will consist of removing the existing corrugated steel flooring with bituminous macadam wearing surface and replacing it with a 3-by-6-inch creosoted timber strip floor.

County Engineer John Ursu said the Highway Department will advertise the job for bids, but he does not know when.

The state's detour plan calls for the use of Route 644 from Salineville to Millport, Route 518 from Millport to Gavers and Route 164 from Gavers to Salineville, and states:

"There shall be no work started which requires the closing of the structure to traffic until all materials are on the job site so that the time for detouring traffic is held to a minimum."

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received a contract to furnish three legal - size filing cabinets for the clerk of courts for $272. Bids of three other firms ranged from $290 to $470.

Commissioners authorized travel allowances for four Welfare Department workers to attend professional meetings.

Father Of 10 Convicted In Traffic Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Beaver County father of 10 was convicted of involuntary manslaughter Friday and sentenced to 11½ to 23 months in the workhouse.

Melvin Smith, 41, of New Brighton was convicted in the death of Mrs. Linda Beightley, 33, of Baden who was killed in a three-car collision Dec. 29 on the Ohio River Blvd. in suburban Sewickley.

Witnesses said Smith's car went through a red light near the Sewickley bridge, hit one car, then veered across the highway and hit the Beightley car.

Six others were injured, including Mrs. Beigheley's husband, Harry, 36, and their two children.

Smith was sentenced by visiting Judge James A. Reilly of Fayette County after a nonjury trial in Allegheny County Criminal Court.

Four City Policemen End Training Course

Four city policemen will be graduated tonight from a training school at Alliance.

Homer Clyde Dillon, J. W. Woods, Charles B. Coen and David L. Huffman have completed a training course at the Stark County Peace Officers school. They have had 120 hours of instruction in basic law enforcement techniques.

The ceremonies will be held at the Caskey Motor Inn at Alliance, beginning at 6:30.

U.S. Bombers Pound 6 Red Torpedo Boats

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy bombers pounced on six torpedo boats near the North Vietnamese coast today and pilots reported sinking four of them.

The six enemy patrol boats, one of the largest groups of torpedo boats American fliers have spotted, were attacked one mile east of the mouth of the Thanh Hoa river, in the central part of North Vietnam, a U.S. spokesman said.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops reported killing nearly 300 of the enemy in hard fighting Friday in the northern provinces.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

A Dependable Newspaper Serving the Tri-State District

A Soldier Needs A Rifle

The M-16 rifle controversy has heated up considerably with release of a House Armed Services subcommittee report recommending a review of the entire Army system of development and production of weapons.

The report minces no words in explaining how investigating members feel about practices followed by the Army in its arms development program.

Alleged Army mismanagement is called "unbelievable." Attempts to correct malfunctions are scored. Proposed additional modifications offer "no proof" of being able to put the stamp of dependability upon the rifles, the report states.

Defenders of the lightweight automatic rifle that now is the basic weapon for U.S. combat forces in Vietnam herald the weapon as a breakthrough. Malfunctions, they say, have been exaggerated. Improper cleaning procedures have been blamed in part.

The fact changes have been made and others contemplated is evidence enough that charges of excessive jamming in the field are true.

In addition to trying for adequate corrective measures on the weapon, subcommittee members are seeking to force a review of a system they feel could let the same thing happen again.

It is inconceivable the Army would deliberately develop and adopt a weapon that malfunctions under combat conditions. But if careless or improper procedures led to the defective weapon, they must be stopped.

When some American soldiers are throwing away their M-16s in favor of weapons and ammunition they take off the bodies of the enemy, something's wrong.

American troops deserve weapons they can count on operating when they need them. If it takes a review of Army practices to get them, let's get on with it.

One More For The Park

Approval of plans for the development of Pennsylvania lands west of Beaver Creek as a natural park is one of the most significant advances in the tri-state recreation picture in many years.

The approximately 1,000 acres will be kept as a "green belt" in the program under the Beaver County Commissioners and the state's Project 70 project.

General studies and projected plans for East Liverpool, Columbiana County and Beaver County have revealed the recreation potential of the Beaver Creek area, and the vital need to protect the creek valley and adjacent hills from the encroachment of those who would exploit and destroy the natual beauty and wildlife.

Continuing attempts must be made to obtain the state assistance required to further develop Ohio's Beaver Creek State Park and implement plans to make the Beaver Creek district one of the finest natural parks in Northeast America.

Improvements at the present park, restoration of Gaston's Mill and the Williamsport Chuch and the interests of the County Forests and Parks Council a number of private landowners have helped greatly. But timber-cutting, strip-mining, stream pollution, neglect of certain other historic sites goes on.

Governmental and civic leaders and a conservationists owe it to the present and future residents of the tri-state area unremitting efforts to add to the park's scope and its availability as prime recreation resource.

200 Million More Or Less

In one of its most fascinating extrapolations of statistical guesswork, the Census Bureau is predicting the population of this country will reach 200 million Nov. 20 about 11 a.m.

This will put the United States among the all-time Big Four, if the extrapolation can be trusted. The other three are China, India and the Soviet Union, all of them earnestly wishing they never had qualified for the club.

It never was their intention to possess inordinately large, unwieldy and perennially hungry populations. It happened because they had no sense of purpose. Not one of the other three of the Big Four ever has come within hoping distance of feeding itself.

The United States can boast of feeding itself with something to spare, but that is only because it is a newcomer to the top-heavy population club. Either it will learn how to adjust its future population to its space and food-producing potential or it, too, will be confronted with mass starvation.

This already is the problem of America's largest cities, which have jammed millions of people into too small a space, with no hope of self-sufficiency.

We can expect hearty congratulations next Nov. 20 when the mythical population total goes over 200 million. It would be more fitting to declare it a day of national mourning, to consider the 20th century's most urgent problem — how to repress an irresponsible increase of the world's population.

Putting On The Spending Brakes

The Washington money-go-round doesn't seem to be slowing down any although Ohio's Rep. Frank Bow and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas are trying to put on the brakes.

Rep. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee that is keeping the President's surtax proposal under lock and key. He wants a spending cut of $10 billion.

Rep. Bow, ranking Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, is spearheading a move for a $5 billion cut in federal spending.

The Appropriations Committee is seeking to force a $2.85 billion spending reduction by tacking an amendment to an emergency financing bill enabling federal agencies to meet payrolls until Congress approves appropriations for the budget year that started July 1.

Rep. Bow says $2.85 billion isn't enough. He's right.

It would require a reduction in the $8 to $10 billion range to curb the inflation the Johnson administration says it is worrying about. And there would be no need for a tax increase if that much public spending stopped.

The additional tax the administration hopes to push through Congress is nothing more than a means of supporting federal spending at an increasing level under President Johnson's guns and butter policy.

Meaningful spending cuts must be made in areas where the going gets sticky. Areas like foreign aid, public works, research and waste in Vietnam all could be placed on the operating table.

Our nation is fighting an expensive war. Spending cannot go on at the same bouncy rate while $70 billion a year is being drained off for military purposes.

A line must be drawn. Congress has the constitutional authority to draw it.

Deep cutting on proposed spending is the only answer to reducing the proposed gigantic budget deficit, not half-hearted attempts, certainly not a tax boost.

A Little Too Late!

VICTOR RIESEL

Strikes Shake The Country

WASHINGTON — Intimates of Lyndon Johnson will tell you that he personally starts most of those rumors about not running again. He doesn't mean to, say those who've worked with him almost since '48. But he does. This happens when he slips into a "moody mood."

Victor Riesel

Then he snorts that he's had it. This is the last time around. He grunbles he'll not campaign again.

But he always has. And he will. His friends, who have been through a thousand "moody moods" with him since he hit the Senate also report there will be no dumping of Hubert Humphrey as the new rumors have it.

Fact is that the vice-president has just taken on a new, brilliant account executive in charge of refurbishing Mr. Humphrey's image with the liberal community — of which he once was the leader. They've left him standing almost alone on the Vietnam line.

Now what the President needs, say his old friends, is an account executive in charge of sedating the labor front. On this sector the President could use a bombing pause. In this theater everybody has been sending word they want to battle it out. Well, nearly everybody.

At one point late this summer there were 630 formidable strikes. But always one of both of the combatants told the government to stay out. This was the "request" from both the United Auto Workers (UAW) and the Ford Motor Co. This strike did not get to the "Willard Wirtz-Jim Reynolds" stage because the White House had decided that Ford and Reuther were out of bounds for the government.

ONLY ONCE DID THE federals get into the marathon copper-nonferrous stoppage, involving 37,000 men in eight states. It began last July 15 and has cost at least one Western state some $40 million. There was so much loud bitterness at the single peace conference in the Labor Dept. that the White House has kept its hands off ever since.

But these are the headlined strikes. There have been hundreds of others — especially in the construction arena.

In the past year there were 977 strikes in this one industry alone. They averaged 29 days. But some ran as long as 100. The average wage increase won ran to 37 cents an hour. This upped skilled craft wages by an average of $14.80 a week per man for some 500,000 who struck. Compounded over a three-year contract the increase will reach almost $50 a week per man (without overtime).

Since the wireless has replaced the pony express word gets around swiftly. Everybody wants what the other fellow has won. So the same men who flood into Washington to cheer the President lead the strikes which depress him.

Thus the attitude inside the White House now is: if they want to battle it out let them battle it out. Wages are high. Food prices are high. Now strikes come higher. By last week the UAW was paying some $33 million monthly in strike benefits and other costs. After Ford comes General Motors. A G.M. strike would cost the union $12.5 million weekly — or $50 million monthly — in the strike relief.

IN ALL THIS there is only one bright spotlight to lighten the "moody mood." Oddly, this comes from the tough United Steelworkers union. For some time now it has appeared ready to strike the raw steel industry next August, a few months before the presidential election.

Its leader, I. W. "Abe" Abel, has been saving for years now he would not again permit the White House to head off a national steel strike of some 450,000 men.

But last month he and some of the steel industry leaders secretly took a long count of the effect of strikes on man, profits and country. They realized, in this industry, perhaps there was no virtue in bloodying up each other. Last year the Japanese, the Germans and other countries had sold the U.S. manufacturers about 11 per cent of the total steel used inside the U.S.A. These foreign sales in the U.S. came to over a billion dollars. This year the foreign imports will be higher. Certainly this slashes profits. But it threatens to kill some 70,000 to 80,000 union jobs.

So both sides began talking of some accommodation, if not arbitration, to prevent strikes in the industry. They have not yet worked it out. But a few days ago they almost did during a closed door conference here in Washington.

It may yet work. These days neither the steel industrialists nor the union chiefs think of each other as S. O. B's. Not all business men are, despite a phrase made current in the early sixties. Nor all union chiefs.

And it's not a matter of getting the President out of a depressed "moody mood." It's a matter of keeping the country from plummeting into a depression one of these days after that bombing pause abroad which certainly is coming.

This 'N That

Contrary to popular impression, penguins do not all live in regions of ice and snow. Some species inhabit the coasts of South America and Africa and some areas of Australia, New Zealand and Pacific islands, but none live north of the equator.

One of North America's least known of large mammals is the elephant seal, which lives in isolated places along the California coast. They derive their name from the huge, curving noses of the ungainly bulls.

Radium gives off three kinds of radiation—alpha, beta and gamma rays.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Alliance Needed

What is the Vietnam War all about?

Many a citizen has been misled by the argument that the United States should "stop the bombing and make peace" with the North Vietnam government. The trouble is that the Hanoi government is not the only enemy.

Red China and the Soviet Union are the main adversaries.

This was made clear 13 years ago when Richard Nixon, as vice president of the United States, delivered an off-the-record speech on the subject of Vietnam before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16, 1954. The text was not given out, but a paraphrase was printed. The main points were summarized as follows:

"But the Vietnamese lack the ability to conduct the war by themselves or govern themselves. If the French withdrew, Indochina would become Communist-dominated within a month.

"THE UNITED STATES as the leader of the free world cannot afford further retreat in Asia. It is hoped the United States will not have to send troops there, but if this government cannot avoid it, the administration must face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

"Therefore, the United States must go to Geneva and take a positive stand for united action by the free world. Otherwise, it will have to take on the problem alone and try to sell it to the others."

This speech caused a sensation as the hint of armed inercention made the headlines.

The State Department announced the next day that the speech enuniciated "no new United States policy in regard to Indo-China," but that it supported the official policy set forth by Secretary of State Dulles on March 29, 1954, when he said:

"Under the conditions of today the imposition on Southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Chinese Communist ally, by whatever means, would be a grave threat to the whole free community. The United States feels that that possibilty should not be tactily accepted, but should be met by united action. This might involve risks, but these risks are far less than those that will face us a few years from now if we dare not be resolute today."

The Geneva conference on Indo-China took place shortly after Mr. Nixon's speech was delivered. The United States made every effort there to obtain collective action to insure the independence of Vietnam and the right of the people to free elections.

The conference, instead, decided on the partition of Vietnam, and the United States "disassociated" itself from the agreement.

Secretary Dulles tried hard to prevent a Communist takeover, but neither France nor Great Britain would join in this undertaking.

THE SECRETARY said that "peace is always easy to achieve—by surrender," but is shortlived. He argued for a plan of collective defense as the best way to assure a durable peace.

It is clear after 13 years of accumulated evidence that the only answer to the Vietnam problem is a collective defense against Communist aggression.

This cannot be achieved today through the medium of the United Nations because of Soviet influence therein.

The United States has brought to its side a few allies—Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and South Korea. Until more of the free countries of the world—especially the larger European nations—join in a collective defense, neither the Soviet Union nor Red China is likely to be persuaded to stop the war.

Thus, the problem of peace in Vietnam boils down to a simple issue: The Soviets and the Red Chinese must be convinced that their course—which has brought on a crisis in Vietnam—cannot be successful.

Repelling Communist aggression in Southeast Asia is more and more coming to be viewed by the United States and its allies as the only way to forestall a major war.

The sooner other nations, therefore, join the "alliance for freedom," the quicker will Moscow, Peking and Hanoi realize that their war of aggression cannot succeed.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Plans were announced by the Parent - Teacher Association of Negley to hear a talk by Chief Owen Red Feather, a full blooded Cherokee Indian.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The East Liverpool Jaycees voted to purchase 40 new signs to be used as street markers.

Deaths and Funerals

Robert Glenn

Robert L. Glenn, 51, of Orange Home, Fla., near Wildwood, a former potter, died Friday at 2 a.m. at the Leesburg (Fla.) hospital, after suffering a heart attack earlier at his home.

Mr. Glenn was born in Glenmoor Feb. 15, 1916, a son of Fred O. Glenn, who resides at Orange Home, and the late Maud Glenn. He moved from here several years ago. At one time he worked at the Harker China Co. in Chester and was a maintenance man at the Leesburg Hospital. He was active in the Boy Scout movement and was a Scoutmaster when he resided here.

He also leaves his widow, Mrs. Luvadell Sickle Glenn, at home; three sons, Robert Glenn and John Glenn, both of Leesburg, and Thomas Glenn of Wildwood; a brother, Allen Glenn, and a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Woods, both of near Wildwood, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Page - Theus Funeral Home in Leesburg. Burial will be in Hillcrest Memorial Gardens at Leesburg.

Harry Bradley

NEW CUMBERLAND — Harry Porter Bradley, 78 of River Ave., a retired employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co., died Friday at 11:30 p.m. at Weirton General Hospital after a long illness.

He was born here Aug. 17, 1889. He served in the Army before World War I and was a member of the New Cumberland Church of the Nazarene.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nellie Marshall Bradley, at home; four daughters, Miss Dorothy Bradley of Steubenville, Mrs. Harry (Betty) Allison of New Cumberland, Mrs. Lee (Jean Ann) Cundiff and Miss Mary Ruth Bradley, both of Cleveland; six sons, George Bradley and Thomas Bradley, both of Florida, Bill Bradley of Weirton, Harry Bradley Jr., stationed in Germany with the Air Force, James Bradley, stationed in New Jersey, also with the Air Force, and Frederick Carl Bradley of Virginia; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Ferrill of Steubenville, and 18 grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Turley Funeral Home here by the Rev. George S. Stewart. Burial will be in New Cumberland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Mrs. Bessie McKenzie

SALINEVILLE — Mrs. Bessie McKenzie, 79, of Salineville RD, a native of Carroll County, died this morning at 2 at the Town and Country Nursing Home following a lengthy illness.

She was born Dec. 19, 1887, a daughter of the late John and Mary Miller. She was a member of the Calvary United Presbyterian Church here and the Brush Creek Grange.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Martha Baumgartner of Rocky River; a foster daughter, Mrs. June Bettridge of East Liverpool, and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Kerr Funeral Home here by the Rev. Ralph Chambers of the Salineville Methodist Church. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time after 3 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Angie Silvestri

Services for Mrs. Angie Gualtier Silvestri of Cleveland, a former resident of Wellsville, were held Friday in Cleveland. Burial followed in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Silvestri, widow of Dominic Silvestri, died Oct. 17 at Suburban Hospital in Cleveland after an illness of two years.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Rose Remesch, Miss Marcella Silvestri and Miss Virginia Silvestri, all of Cleveland, Miss Gloria Silvestri and Miss Joan Silvestri, both of California, and Mrs. Lucy Netti of Wellsville; two sons, John Silvestri and Dominic Silvestri Jr., both of Cleveland; six brothers, Adrian Gualtier of California, James Gualtier, Otto Gualtier and Earl Gualtier, all of Cleveland, Thomas Gualtier and Noah Gualtier, both of Wellsville.

And Away They Go!

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Robert W. Lewis, General Electric plant manager, complained of a record 18 walkouts at the Pittsfield plant during a dedication address Friday for a research laboratory.

As he spoke, the record rose to 19.

About 500 maintenance men left their jobs in a grievance over job classifications. No incidents were reported.

The theme of his address: "General Electric is taken for granted in Pittsfield."

Nippy, But Pleasant

Although it may be nippy at times, everything points to a pleasant weekend.

The forecast calls for fair and cooler tonight, with the low in the 30's, and sunny and warmer Sunday.

Skies were mostly clear over Ohio this morning, with temperatures generally around 40 degrees.

A low pressure center just north of the Great Lakes caused somewhat cooler air to move southward over the state.

Bomb Threat At Potteries Proves Hoax

Bomb threats at two Hancock County potteries Friday night turned out to be a hoax.

Chester police received a call about 6:20, saying bombs had been planted in both the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co. at Chester, and the Homer Laughlin China Co. at Newell. The caller did not specify when the bombs were to explode.

Chester Patrolmen Rex Cowey and Joseph Cornell swung into action, notifying the Hancock County sheriff's office of the Newell report and then hurrying to T.S.&T., where guards were notified.

Cowey then called T.S.&T. Board Chairman Edwin S. Morse, who came to the plant to conduct an investigation.

Morse took a group of employes and scoured the premises, but found nothing.

At Homer Laughlin, deputies notified Executive Vice-President and Secretary Joseph Wells Jr., who reported the company conducted no investigation because of the sprawling 89 acres of plant and warehouses which would make it virtually an impossible task.

Morse notified police after his investigation that nothing was found, but praised the officers for their work in the case.

Canned apricots, heated in a little of their own syrup in a skillet, make an excellent accompaniment to a platter of sliced baked ham. Use a slotted spoon to remove the apricots from the skillet when you are ready to add the fruit to your platter.

tradesmen among the 160,000 strikers.

Tentative contact gains won by the union also included fatter pensions and pay increases in the second and third years of the contract, bigger than those provided in the last two years of the previous pact.

The items won by the UAW, the source said, also included the 60-year-old union chief's pet project—guaranteed annual income, or a form of it.

The cost-of-living escalator increases or reduces the pay of workers according to movement in the cost-of-living index. During the last three years it added 18 cents to workers' hourly wage.

Reuther has said the UAW will allow "no tampering" with the clause, which the UAW originally won at General Motors in 1948. Ford, offering to guarantee a minimum hourly wage gain of three cents in the last two years of the contract, proposed a ceiling of eight cents in those two years, the source said.

The total value of the package can't be precisely determined because the cost-of-living index will fluctuate in the coming three years.

Reuther has said that the union wouldn't settle for less than a 5.6 per cent gain in wages and fringe benefits—80 cents an hour over three years.

Under the old pact, wages and fringe benefits increased 87 cents an hour in the three years before it expired at 11:59 p.m. Sept. 6.

The two sides ended late Friday a 31-hour bargaining session without confirming or denying details of tentatively settled contract provisions as outlined by the industry source.

The UAW hoped to use the Ford contract as a pattern for settlement at General Motors and Chrysler where UAW members have continued to work although their contracts also expired Sept. 6.

Any agreement is subject to ratification by union members.

By Ford estimates, strikers have lost $170 million in wages.

At the same time, the nation's second-largest automaker has been taken out of production of 1968 models for more than six weeks, and sales of Ford cars in the first 10 days of this month fell 60,000 below the Ford sales total for the same period last year.

The sales drop came despite the fact that Ford dealers around the nation still have about 140,000 cars on hand, most of them 1967 models, but about 45,000 of them the 1968 models built before the strike began.

One difficulty foreign diplomats have in persuading Hanoi to make any new peace gesture is what one of the leaders referred to as a "credibility gap" between what President Johnson says and does. Because of experiences in certain earlier private and secret moves which no leaders with whom I talked would precisely specify, there has been deep skepticism about any public statements or private feelers coming from Washington through diplomatic and other channels.

SUCH SKEPTICISM was much less in evidence during my previous visits, but today it is noted by diplomats from Socialist and other countries accredited to or visiting Hanoi. Several times the names of Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Walt Rostow, special assistant to Johnson, are mentioned in the most unflattering terms as men in those word no confidence is possible.

It is impossible to find any leader who believes the sincerity of Johnson's statements that he really wants to end the war on terms that would leave the Vietnamese free to settle their own affairs or that he does not intend a permanent U.S. military presence in South Vietnam.

Man Charged With Murder In Aliquippa

ALIQUIPPA — A 36-year-old Aliquippa man faced a charge of murder today following the slaying of a companion on a city street early this morning.

Arthur Lee Mills of 324 Wyke St. was to be arraigned for the shooting of John Edward Hayes, 24, of 216 3rd Ave. who was pronounced dead on arrival at Aliquippa Hospital at 12:35.

Police said Hayes was shot once in the head with a .32 caliber revolver.

Officers said Hayes, Mills and Ford Newsome, 30, of 303 Wyke St. had been out drinking for about two hours when the shooting took place at the intersection of Davis and Wyke Sts., on the sidewalk beside Newsome's auto.

No motive was established for the shooting. Mills was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Ayoob on charges of murder and violation of the firearms act.

jury after it reported itself deadlocked.

Held without bond were Deputy Sheriff Cecil R. Price of Neshoba County and Alton Wayne Roberts, a onetime nightclub bouncer who now sells mobile homes.

The judge said, "I understand there was some very loose talk in the halls." If you think you can intimidate this court you are mistaken." He said dynamite had been mentioned in a conversation in the hall of the courthouse.

The all-white jury of seven women and five men returned guilty verdicts Friday against seven of the 18 defendants. Those convicted also included Sam H. Bowers Jr., described as imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The convictions marked the first time any jury in Mississippi had returned a guilty verdict in a major civil rights case since Reconstruction.

No date for sentencing was set.

People In New Mexico Don't Fear Grizzlies

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The New Mexico Game and Fish Department says there shouldn't be any worry about grizzly bears attacking anyone in the state.

A department spokesman says there hasn't been a grizzly in New Mexico in more than 30 years.

There are so-called black bear in the state the spokeman said, and they will leave people alone under most circumstances.

The spokesman said the department has had several anxious inquires "since the tragic mishaps" involving grizzly bear in Montana.

Miss Mary Louise Fisher And Ronald Roach Marry

MRS. RONALD ROACH
Residing On Walnut St.

Miss Mary Louise Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of 809 Burford St., became the bride of Ronald Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Haney of 700 Riley Ave., Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Calvary Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dean McElroy performed the double ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of flowers, ferns and candelabra. Satin bows were used on the family pews.

Richard Thurman Allen, great - uncle of the bridegroom, presented a half - hour of organ music and sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly type lace styled with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, sabrina neckline embroidered in sequins. Her bouffant skirt, fashioned with two tiers and a scalloped edge, also was embroidered in sequins and formed a chapel sweep back.

Her two-tier bouffant veil of illusion fell from a forward arrangement of loops and lace flowers with jewel centers and pearl swirls.

Mrs. Nancy Folkertsma, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Ruth Bradfield and Carol Vollberg were bridesmaids. They wore long empire sheer cage over Chantilly sheath with scoop neckline, elbow sleeves and back bow. Their headdresses were matching blush veils attached to Dior bows. They carried colonial bouquets of mums tied with velvet streamers.

The bride's mother wore an aqua and white ensemble with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother chose a gold outfit with brown accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow tea roses.

Philip Folkertsma, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man and John Clendenning and John Dray were ushers.

Aides were Mrs. Isabel Keysor, Mrs. Shirley Smith and Mrs. Grace Haney.

The bride is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and her husband works at the Harker China Co. Both are 1967 graduates of East Liverpool High School.

The newlyweds are residing at 610½ Walnut St.

Truckers

strike—would be the only plan acceptable to the Interstate Commerce Commission. ICC rules now call for a six-hour period without pay.

The estimated 15,000 strikes, most of them Teamsters Union members, have no strike fund. Their rigs, worth up to $30,000, have sat idle since the dispute began in Gary, Ind., and spread east, punctuated by shootings, stonings, and arson.

They have hit tire and truck suppliers, service stations and truck stops for donations to keep them going—but as one trucking executive put it, "They can't stay out forever."

A source close to the negotiations blamed the two-hour difference between the carriers and strikers on the steel mills.

The source said the trucking companies were in agreement with the first two-hour, $10 proposal, but balked when the steel industry said it couldn't meet the time limit.

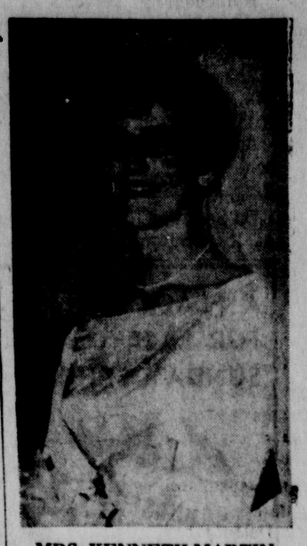

He said the industry asked the carriers if they could get the waiting time jumped to four hours. "It was just a request, not an order," the source said.

"The problem is there are too damn many people in this thing," he said. "When you have just the employer and employe it's fine. But when you have the truckers, the carriers, the Teamsters, the steel mills—where do you start and where do you stop?"

The drivers, who earn no hourly wage, receive about 73 per cent of the cost paid for hauling a load of steel. The agreement would raise it to 79 per cent.

Cut soft rolls into slices that are about 1½ inches thick. Spread area about 1½ inches Spread the cut surface generously with butter and toast under the broiler. These tidbits are delicious with soup or salad.

Diane L. Patton Marries In Maryland Ceremonies

MRS. KENNETH MARTIN
Double-Ring Ceremony.

The Hughes Methodist Church in Kensington, Md., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Diane L. Patton of Chevy Chase, Md., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patton of Irondale, and Kenneth A. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin C. Martin of Kensington Oct. 7.

The double - ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles E. Kirkley before an altar decorated with white daisies and mums. Satin bows marked the family pews. Robert Holder was organist and Carol McGee soloist.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white full-length gown of taffeta pearl. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt ending in a chapel train. A crown of crystal and sequins held her illusion veil in place. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white daisies and mums.

For traveling, the bride was attired in an off-white dress trimmed with beige and accessories to match. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride's attendants were Diane Martin and Margaret Ake. They wore green chiffon dresses over taffeta, and carried bouquets of golden mums and pompons. Their headdresses were chiffon bows with theater veils. They carried green and yellow streamers on bouquets.

The bride's mother wore blue green satin brocade with a hat of blue and green feathers. The bridegroom's mother chose a gold brocade suit with a rust flowered hat. Their corsages were pink and white mums.

Robert D. Martin was best man. Ushers were Mike Studd, David Cross, John Mockabee, Tom Taylor and Douglas Patton.

A RECEPTION for 250 guests was held in the church social rooms, with the table centered with a five - tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. A color scheme of white and gold was used for the table decorations.

The bride was graduated from Stanton Local High School and the Mary Medical Secretary School at Hagerstown, Md., and is employed at the National Institute of Mental Health at Chevy Chase. Her husband is a graduate of Einstein High School and works as an endorsement calculator at Chevy Chase. The couple is residing in Rockville, Md.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems, not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastrophic to any system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water - laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increase in flow therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quantities of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled — they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats, and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in over-loaded and flooded systems. Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields — freeing the ground of pore - clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Sea-Cal contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria, and 60,000,000 aerobic bacteria, in each gram and, there being 28 grams to the ounce (with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day), this means that a "seeding" with a few ounces of Sea-Cal will regenerate even the most dormant system.

Sea-Cal, the only insurance policy you can buy for your sewage system.

Chamber Summary

Gains Recorded In Some Indices

Eight East Liverpool area business and industrial indices showed gains in September, compared with the levels they attained in August, the Chamber of Commerce reported today in its monthly summary of conditions.

The gains were shown in bank clearings and debits, industrial employment, outbound railroad carloadings, river traffic, new and used car sales and parking meter receipts. Dips were reported in postal receipts, inbound carloadings, the freight tonnage moved on the river and advance payments in Columbiana County on state sales taxes.

PAYROLLS at 11 plants hit $1,486,557 in September, a gain of 7.6 per cent from the $1,381,893 in August. They stood at $12,521,158 for the first nine months of the year, a drop of 1.7 per cent from the $12,737,171 shown at the same time in 1966.

The plants had 3,791 on the job in September, virtually unchanged from the 3,812 in August. Employment averaged 3,595 monthly for the first three quarters of the year, off 4.1 per cent from the average of 3,749 maintained at the same time in 1966.

New car registrations in Columbiana County reached 336 during September, a gain of 10.5 per cent from the 304 in August. They stand at 3,024 for the first three quarters of the current year, down 12.1 per cent from the 3,442 shown at the same time in 1966.

Used car sales hit 1,125 during September, up 12.5 per cent from the 1,000 in August. They total 10,115 for the first nine months of 1967, a gain of 26.6 per cent from the 7,990 at the same time in 1966.

Caucuses Set In Peace Bid In Shafer Tax

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top legislative leaders have agreed to meet in a series of caucuses to try to break the deadlock of Gov. Shafer's $285 million tax proposal.

The agreement was reached Friday in a conference with Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr.

But the bipartisan group said a solution was still weeks away.

"There's a lot of work to be done," said Democratic Sen. Ernest P. Kline, senate minority leader. "I don't want anybody to think that we're going back to Harrisburg Monday and settle this."

Also at the meeting were Republicans Lee A. Donaldson, House majority leader, and Robert D. Fleming, Senate president pro tem, and Democratic K. Leroy Irvis, House minority leader.

Fleming said there would probably be two weeks of meetings trying to "rearrange" Shafer's tax package and predicted several weeks before it came to the floor for a vote.

Democrats say there is too much fat in the budget and refuse to act favorably until cuts are made.

Among the programs the tax dispute is hurting are appropriations for Pitt, Temple and Penn State, all state-related universities which receive substantial funds from the state.

Credit Union To Hold Yule Party On Dec. 13

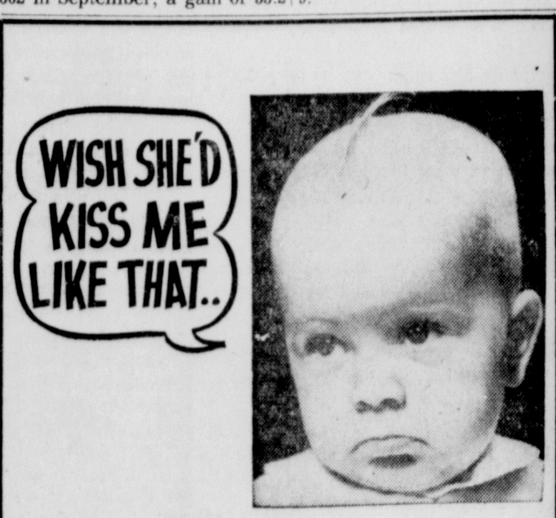

The City Employes Credit Union officers and board of directors set Dec. 13 as the date for a Christmas party during the meeting Friday night in the Council chambers.

Two new members were accepted.

Mrs. Helen Steffen will be in charge of the Christmas party.

Members took notice of the recent Thrift Honor Award received by the union. It was awarded by the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9.

Bridge Floor Funds Are Set

LISBON — Columbiana County will pay $4,500 toward putting a new floor on an 80-foot steel truss bridge on Route 39 in Salineville.

County commissioners adopted a resolution of cooperation Thursday with the Ohio Highway Department which will bear 75 per cent of the cost, estimated at $18,000.

The bride is on Main St., two-tenths of a mile west of the junction of Route 164 and County Rd. 413.

Work will consist of removing the existing corrugated steel flooring with bituminous macadam wearing surface and replacing it with a 3-by-6-inch creosoted timber strip floor.

County Engineer John Ursu said the Highway Department will advertise the job for bids, but he does not know when.

The state's detour plan calls for the use of Route 644 from Salineville to Millport, Route 518 from Millport to Gavers and Route 164 from Gavers to Salineville, and states:

"There shall be no work started which requires the closing of the structure to traffic until all materials are on the job site so that the time for detouring traffic is held to a minimum."

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received a contract to furnish three legal - size filing cabinets for the clerk of courts for $272. Bids of three other firms ranged from $290 to $470.

Commissioners authorized travel allowances for four Welfare Department workers to attend professional meetings.

Father Of 10 Convicted In Traffic Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Beaver County father of 10 was convicted of involuntary manslaughter Friday and sentenced to 11½ to 23 months in the workhouse.

Melvin Smith, 41, of New Brighton was convicted in the death of Mrs. Linda Beightley, 33, of Baden who was killed in a three-car collision Dec. 29 on the Ohio River Blvd. in suburban Sewickley.

Witnesses said Smith's car went through a red light near the Sewickley bridge, hit one car, then veered across the highway and hit the Beightley car.

Six others were injured, including Mrs. Beigheley's husband, Harry, 36, and their two children.

Smith was sentenced by visiting Judge James A. Reilly of Fayette County after a nonjury trial in Allegheny County Criminal Court.

Four City Policemen End Training Course

Four city policemen will be graduated tonight from a training school at Alliance.

Homer Clyde Dillon, J. W. Woods, Charles B. Coen and David L. Huffman have completed a training course at the Stark County Peace Officers school. They have had 120 hours of instruction in basic law enforcement techniques.

The ceremonies will be held at the Caskey Motor Inn at Alliance, beginning at 6:30.

U.S. Bombers Pound 6 Red Torpedo Boats

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy bombers pounced on six torpedo boats near the North Vietnamese coast today and pilots reported sinking four of them.

The six enemy patrol boats, one of the largest groups of torpedo boats American fliers have spotted, were attacked one mile east of the mouth of the Thanh Hoa river, in the central part of North Vietnam, a U.S. spokesman said.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops reported killing nearly 300 of the enemy in hard fighting Friday in the northern provinces.

Homecoming Services Are Set At Hookstown

Homecoming services will begin Oct. 27 at the Hookstown Free Methodist Church.

The Rev. W. P. Jones of Monaca will launch the exercises with a sermon at 7:30 p.m.

Arden Jarvis of East Liverpool will be song leader. The Rev. Milo Smith is pastor.

On Saturday, Oct. 28, the Rev. A. R. Grafton of East Liverpool will deliver the sermon.

A union service will be featured Sunday, Oct. 29, with Sunday School at 10 a.m. and Rev. Smith delivering the sermon at morning worship. Mrs. Willard McLaughlin will conduct the Junior Church. The Girls Junior Choir, with Mrs. Milo Smith as accompanist, will perform, appearing for the first time in the new robes. Misss Janet Smith is director.

Following the service, the congregation will go to the Hookstown Grange Hall for lunch, served by the Ladies Missionary Society. The group will return to the church for a "hymn sing" under the leadership of the Men's Life and Light Fellowship of the Free Methodist Church of Weirton. Ernest Hissom of Weirton will lead the singing.

At 3:30 p.m., the congregation will visit the former site of the church, where its history will be reviewed and a devotional service held. Former pastors will take part in the services. Among them will be the Rev. George McLaughlin, son-in-law of the Rev. and Mrs. Smith and son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard McLaughlin of the Beulah Free Methodist Church at Morgantown.

A coverdish dinner will be served at 4:30 p. m. in the grange hall.

The evening service will begin at 7 and will include the rite of Holy Communion. The Rev. R. D. Merkle of East Liverpool, superintendent of the Rochester District of Free Methodist Churches, will speak.

Mrs. Smith will be organist for the services. Miss Aleatha Cain of Shippingport will be pianist.

Plans Are Set For 'VD' Film

Further plans to publicise the upcoming showing of a venereal disease film Nov. 16 were outlined when the East Liverpool Junior Women's Club met Thursday night at the gas company.

The showing, at Westgate auditorium beginning at 8 p.m., is free to the public. A representative from the U.S. Public Health Department will be moderator. Mrs. Virginia Smith, a member of the club's program committee, is in charge.

Under the project committee, Mrs. Helen Turner reported that three children who attended the club-sponsored cerebral palsy nursery have enrolled in the public school system.

Donations recommended by the board of directors were approved. They include those for the Child Counseling Center, the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A contribution of $50 also was made to the teachers of the "Head Start" program for the purchase of supplies.

Club members will assist Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ludwig of Cream Ridge Rd. in taking orders and packaging table - size Christmas trees to be sent to men or women serving in Vietnam. Orders may be made at the St. Clair Plaza on Nov. 10. The club has purchased two trees.

Mrs. Connie Bingham reported on the recent fall conference at Warren. Mrs. Vicki Lane, president, and Mrs. Barbara Mangano also attended the session.

The members were reminded of the City Federation meeting Nov. 1 at Mary Patterson Memorial. The club voted to continue membership in the City Hospital Sycamore Twig.

Mrs. Joyce Chamberlain was named to replace Mrs. Pauline Walton as corresponding secretary.

Mrs. John Larean of the Junior Women's Federated Club of Leechburg, Pa., presented the program and displayed Christmas bazaar items.

The social committee included Mrs. Leah Kay Smith, chairman, Mrs. Bingham, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Jean Buck and Mrs. Beverly Chadwick. A Halloween theme was used for the table decorations.

Special Program Will Be Held At Orchard Grove

The Rev. Ivan Dornan of East Palestine, Methodist missionary on furlough from Japan, will speak and screen films on Japan next Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Orchard Grove Methodist Church.

Special music will be provided by the Mt. Zion Youth Choir and the Clarkson Grange quartet.

A fellowship hour will follow, with refreshments to be served. The public and area churches are invited to attend.

Revival Services Continue Sunday

The fourth in a series of Sunday evening revivals during October will be held tomorrow at 7 at the Fredericktown Christian Church. Thomas Hess is the pastor.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Allen Fields of the New Cumberland Christian Church. Miss Nell Toland is in charge of the music.

The program will include a choir from the Hammondsville Methodist Church, directed by Clyde Crook, and a quartet from the host church, accompanied by Mrs. Delores Craig. The members include Sue, Kay and Debbie Craig and Miss Toland.

Refreshments will be served in the social rooms after the services. A nursery will be available for pre-school children.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

WHAT WILL IT PROFIT?

Jesus asked a question in Mt. 16:26 that is worthy of our careful attention. "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" It was quite evident in the day in which Jesus lived, that men were not placing a high enough value on the soul. This problem is still prevalent in the world today. Men have always placed too little value on the soul and too great a value on the material things of life.

It is sad that this is true because of the fact that those material things that seem to have so great a value to us, are the things that will soon pass. However, by contrast, our soul will live forever.

The eternal destiny of the soul is determined by the way we live while here on the earth. If we neglect our soul here, we will pay by having our soul punished in eternity. Jno. 5:28, 29. "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth: they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." These verses make it clear that our resurrection to eternal life or to eternal death depend entirely upon the way that I have lived while here on the earth.

When we consider the duration of our lives here on the earth and then compare that with the ceaseless ages of eternity, it seems foolish for us to place a greater value on some temporal thing than we do on our never-dying soul. At the very most, our lives here on the earth will cover about 100 years. Eternity will never end. This is the reason that Jesus was trying to help us to see the value of our soul.

This lesson has not been learned by the majority of the people in the world. We see some who live as though they think they will live here on the earth forever. Worldly pleasure is more important than the soul. The treasures of this life are of more value to some than the treasures that should be placed in heaven. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Mt. 6:19-21.

Dear Friend, what would you give in exchange for your soul? How great a value have you placed upon it? You are invited to attend the services of the Church of Christ tomorrow.

A Soldier Needs A Rifle

The M-16 rifle controversy has heated up considerably with release of a House Armed Services subcommittee report recommending a review of the entire Army system of development and production of weapons.

The report minces no words in explaining how investigating members feel about practices followed by the Army in its arms development program.

Alleged Army mismanagement is called "unbelievable." Attempts to correct malfunctions are scored. Proposed additional modifications offer "no proof" of being able to put the stamp of dependability upon the rifles, the report states.

Defenders of the lightweight automatic rifle that now is the basic weapon for U.S. combat forces in Vietnam herald the weapon as a breakthrough. Malfunctions, they say, have been exaggerated. Improper cleaning procedures have been blamed in part.

The fact changes have been made and others contemplated is evidence enough that charges of excessive jamming in the field are true.

In addition to trying for adequate corrective measures on the weapon, subcommittee members are seeking to force a review of a system they feel could let the same thing happen again.

It is inconceivable the Army would deliberately develop and adopt a weapon that malfunctions under combat conditions. But if careless or improper procedures led to the defective weapon, they must be stopped.

When some American soldiers are throwing away their M-16s in favor of weapons and ammunition they take off the bodies of the enemy, something's wrong.

American troops deserve weapons they can count on operating when they need them. If it takes a review of Army practices to get them, let's get on with it.

One More For The Park

Approval of plans for the development of Pennsylvania lands west of Beaver Creek as a natural park is one of the most significant advances in the tri-state recreation picture in many years.

The approximately 1,000 acres will be kept as a "green belt" in the program under the Beaver County Commissioners and the state's Project 70 project.

General studies and projected plans for East Liverpool, Columbiana County and Beaver County have revealed the recreation potential of the Beaver Creek area, and the vital need to protect the creek valley and adjacent hills from the encroachment of those who would exploit and destroy the natual beauty and wildlife.

Continuing attempts must be made to obtain the state assistance required to further develop Ohio's Beaver Creek State Park and implement plans to make the Beaver Creek district one of the finest natural parks in Northeast America.

Improvements at the present park, restoration of Gaston's Mill and the Williamsport Chuch and the interests of the County Forests and Parks Council a number of private landowners have helped greatly. But timber-cutting, strip-mining, stream pollution, neglect of certain other historic sites goes on.

Governmental and civic leaders and a conservationists owe it to the present and future residents of the tri-state area unremitting efforts to add to the park's scope and its availability as prime recreation resource.

200 Million More Or Less

In one of its most fascinating extrapolations of statistical guesswork, the Census Bureau is predicting the population of this country will reach 200 million Nov. 20 about 11 a.m.

This will put the United States among the all-time Big Four, if the extrapolation can be trusted. The other three are China, India and the Soviet Union, all of them earnestly wishing they never had qualified for the club.

It never was their intention to possess inordinately large, unwieldy and perennially hungry populations. It happened because they had no sense of purpose. Not one of the other three of the Big Four ever has come within hoping distance of feeding itself.

The United States can boast of feeding itself with something to spare, but that is only because it is a newcomer to the top-heavy population club. Either it will learn how to adjust its future population to its space and food-producing potential or it, too, will be confronted with mass starvation.

This already is the problem of America's largest cities, which have jammed millions of people into too small a space, with no hope of self-sufficiency.

We can expect hearty congratulations next Nov. 20 when the mythical population total goes over 200 million. It would be more fitting to declare it a day of national mourning, to consider the 20th century's most urgent problem — how to repress an irresponsible increase of the world's population.

Putting On The Spending Brakes

The Washington money-go-round doesn't seem to be slowing down any although Ohio's Rep. Frank Bow and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas are trying to put on the brakes.

Rep. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee that is keeping the President's surtax proposal under lock and key. He wants a spending cut of $10 billion.

Rep. Bow, ranking Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, is spearheading a move for a $5 billion cut in federal spending.

The Appropriations Committee is seeking to force a $2.85 billion spending reduction by tacking an amendment to an emergency financing bill enabling federal agencies to meet payrolls until Congress approves appropriations for the budget year that started July 1.

Rep. Bow says $2.85 billion isn't enough. He's right.

It would require a reduction in the $8 to $10 billion range to curb the inflation the Johnson administration says it is worrying about. And there would be no need for a tax increase if that much public spending stopped.

The additional tax the administration hopes to push through Congress is nothing more than a means of supporting federal spending at an increasing level under President Johnson's guns and butter policy.

Meaningful spending cuts must be made in areas where the going gets sticky. Areas like foreign aid, public works, research and waste in Vietnam all could be placed on the operating table.

Our nation is fighting an expensive war. Spending cannot go on at the same bouncy rate while $70 billion a year is being drained off for military purposes.

A line must be drawn. Congress has the constitutional authority to draw it.

Deep cutting on proposed spending is the only answer to reducing the proposed gigantic budget deficit, not half-hearted attempts, certainly not a tax boost.

Strikes Shake The Country

WASHINGTON — Intimates of Lyndon Johnson will tell you that he personally starts most of those rumors about not running again. He doesn't mean to, say those who've worked with him almost since '48. But he does. This happens when he slips into a "moody mood."

Victor Riesel

Then he snorts that he's had it. This is the last time around. He grunbles he'll not campaign again.

But he always has. And he will. His friends, who have been through a thousand "moody moods" with him since he hit the Senate also report there will be no dumping of Hubert Humphrey as the new rumors have it.

Fact is that the vice-president has just taken on a new, brilliant account executive in charge of refurbishing Mr. Humphrey's image with the liberal community — of which he once was the leader. They've left him standing almost alone on the Vietnam line.

Now what the President needs, say his old friends, is an account executive in charge of sedating the labor front. On this sector the President could use a bombing pause. In this theater everybody has been sending word they want to battle it out. Well, nearly everybody.

At one point late this summer there were 630 formidable strikes. But always one of both of the combatants told the government to stay out. This was the "request" from both the United Auto Workers (UAW) and the Ford Motor Co. This strike did not get to the "Willard Wirtz-Jim Reynolds" stage because the White House had decided that Ford and Reuther were out of bounds for the government.

ONLY ONCE DID THE federals get into the marathon copper-nonferrous stoppage, involving 37,000 men in eight states. It began last July 15 and has cost at least one Western state some $40 million. There was so much loud bitterness at the single peace conference in the Labor Dept. that the White House has kept its hands off ever since.

But these are the headlined strikes. There have been hundreds of others — especially in the construction arena.

In the past year there were 977 strikes in this one industry alone. They averaged 29 days. But some ran as long as 100. The average wage increase won ran to 37 cents an hour. This upped skilled craft wages by an average of $14.80 a week per man for some 500,000 who struck. Compounded over a three-year contract the increase will reach almost $50 a week per man (without overtime).

Since the wireless has replaced the pony express word gets around swiftly. Everybody wants what the other fellow has won. So the same men who flood into Washington to cheer the President lead the strikes which depress him.

Thus the attitude inside the White House now is: if they want to battle it out let them battle it out. Wages are high. Food prices are high. Now strikes come higher. By last week the UAW was paying some $33 million monthly in strike benefits and other costs. After Ford comes General Motors. A G.M. strike would cost the union $12.5 million weekly — or $50 million monthly — in the strike relief.

IN ALL THIS there is only one bright spotlight to lighten the "moody mood." Oddly, this comes from the tough United Steelworkers union. For some time now it has appeared ready to strike the raw steel industry next August, a few months before the presidential election.

Its leader, I. W. "Abe" Abel, has been saving for years now he would not again permit the White House to head off a national steel strike of some 450,000 men.

But last month he and some of the steel industry leaders secretly took a long count of the effect of strikes on man, profits and country. They realized, in this industry, perhaps there was no virtue in bloodying up each other. Last year the Japanese, the Germans and other countries had sold the U.S. manufacturers about 11 per cent of the total steel used inside the U.S.A. These foreign sales in the U.S. came to over a billion dollars. This year the foreign imports will be higher. Certainly this slashes profits. But it threatens to kill some 70,000 to 80,000 union jobs.

So both sides began talking of some accommodation, if not arbitration, to prevent strikes in the industry. They have not yet worked it out. But a few days ago they almost did during a closed door conference here in Washington.

It may yet work. These days neither the steel industrialists nor the union chiefs think of each other as S. O. B's. Not all business men are, despite a phrase made current in the early sixties. Nor all union chiefs.

And it's not a matter of getting the President out of a depressed "moody mood." It's a matter of keeping the country from plummeting into a depression one of these days after that bombing pause abroad which certainly is coming.

Alliance Needed

What is the Vietnam War all about?

Many a citizen has been misled by the argument that the United States should "stop the bombing and make peace" with the North Vietnam government. The trouble is that the Hanoi government is not the only enemy.

Red China and the Soviet Union are the main adversaries.

This was made clear 13 years ago when Richard Nixon, as vice president of the United States, delivered an off-the-record speech on the subject of Vietnam before the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16, 1954. The text was not given out, but a paraphrase was printed. The main points were summarized as follows:

"But the Vietnamese lack the ability to conduct the war by themselves or govern themselves. If the French withdrew, Indochina would become Communist-dominated within a month.

"THE UNITED STATES as the leader of the free world cannot afford further retreat in Asia. It is hoped the United States will not have to send troops there, but if this government cannot avoid it, the administration must face up to the situation and dispatch forces.

"Therefore, the United States must go to Geneva and take a positive stand for united action by the free world. Otherwise, it will have to take on the problem alone and try to sell it to the others."

This speech caused a sensation as the hint of armed inercention made the headlines.

The State Department announced the next day that the speech enuniciated "no new United States policy in regard to Indo-China," but that it supported the official policy set forth by Secretary of State Dulles on March 29, 1954, when he said:

"Under the conditions of today the imposition on Southeast Asia of the political system of Communist Russia and its Chinese Communist ally, by whatever means, would be a grave threat to the whole free community. The United States feels that that possibilty should not be tactily accepted, but should be met by united action. This might involve risks, but these risks are far less than those that will face us a few years from now if we dare not be resolute today."

The Geneva conference on Indo-China took place shortly after Mr. Nixon's speech was delivered. The United States made every effort there to obtain collective action to insure the independence of Vietnam and the right of the people to free elections.

The conference, instead, decided on the partition of Vietnam, and the United States "disassociated" itself from the agreement.

Secretary Dulles tried hard to prevent a Communist takeover, but neither France nor Great Britain would join in this undertaking.

THE SECRETARY said that "peace is always easy to achieve—by surrender," but is short-lived. He argued for a plan of collective defense as the best way to assure a durable peace.

It is clear after 13 years of accumulated evidence that the only answer to the Vietnam problem is a collective defense against Communist aggression.

This cannot be achieved today through the medium of the United Nations because of Soviet influence therein.

The United States has brought to its side a few allies—Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and South Korea. Until more of the free countries of the world—especially the larger European nations—join in a collective defense, neither the Soviet Union nor Red China is likely to be persuaded to stop the war.

Thus, the problem of peace in Vietnam boils down to a simple issue: The Soviets and the Red Chinese must be convinced that their course—which has brought on a crisis in Vietnam—cannot be successful.

Repelling Communist aggression in Southeast Asia is more and more coming to be viewed by the United States and its allies as the only way to forestall a major war.

The sooner other nations, therefore, join the "alliance for freedom," the quicker will Moscow, Peking and Hanoi realize that their war of aggression cannot succeed.

Farm Bureau Sets Meeting

LISBON — The annual meeting of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 4, at United School on Route 9 near New Garden.

Mike Noday of Youngstown, assistant chief inspector for the manufacturing division of Republic Steel Corp., will be guest speaker. A teacher of American History at Youngstown University — his alma mater — he will speak on "The U. S. Supreme Court — The Court of Last Resort."

Dawson Irey of Lisbon RD 4, president, said tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the Farm Bureau office here or from any of the directors.

Members will review and vote on resolutions submitted by the policy development committee and elect new directors.

Mrs. Elizabeth Farmer of Salem RD 3, county women's chairman, reported at the board meeting here Thursday night on the northeast women's rally Tuesday at Canton. She said this county had 30 women among the more than 300 present. Sen. Oliver Ocasek of Northfield was guest speaker.

The nominating committee reported on director nominees last night and Albert Hartley of Columbiana RD 2, chairman of the policy development committee, presented resolutions for board approval.

Directors discussed the youth conference Saturday at Ravenna, Buckeye Farm records, and the annual state meeting at Columbus in November.

Federation members interested in learning more about Buckeye farm records may contact Evelyn Hoopes, organization director, at the Farm Bureau office, 232 S. Market St., Tuesday or Thursday of any week.

Teacher, Classroom Shortage In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Beirut newspapers charge that 140,000 Lebanese children will be unable to go to school this year because of the shortage of teachers and classrooms.

Most Lebanese who can afford it — and many who cannot — send their children to private schools, claiming the education provided by the state is poor. Newspapers are urging a higher education budget to improve and expand the state-run schools.

The newspaper Le Jour said 120,000 children were left out of school last year—despite Lebanon's reputation as the best-educated of the Arab countries—and the number would go on increasing unless large-scale expansion of the educational system were undertaken.

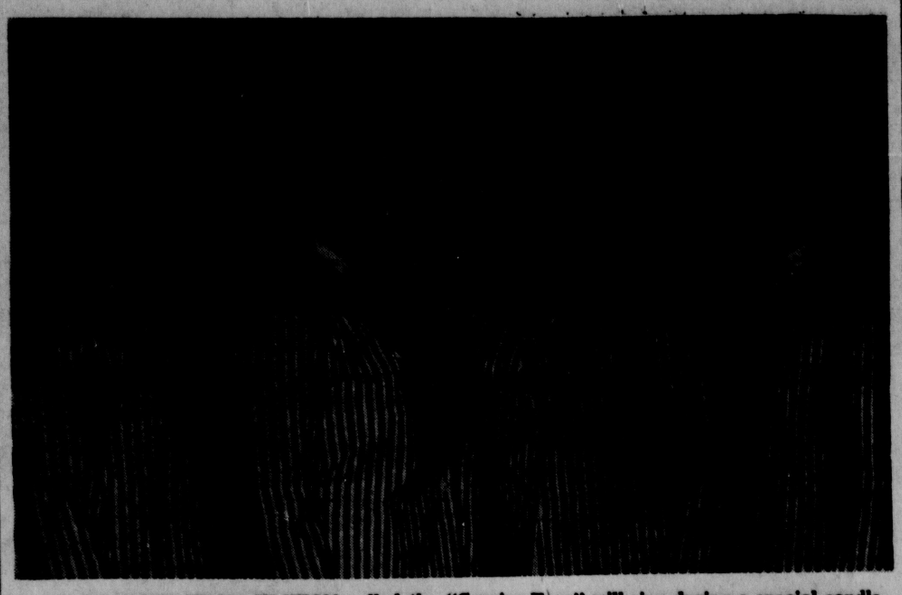

It said Lebanon needed 3,500 new teachers at the elementary school level and a $3.5 million increase in the education budget.

Elementary schoolteachers here in state schools are sometimes paid as little as $83 dollars a month, and the cost of living in Lebanon can be higher than in the United States. Some office boys make more than the teachers.

At Church In West Point

Honors Due Servicemen

The second candlelight service featuring special prayers for those in the armed services will be conducted at the West Point Church of the Nazarene Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. L. D. Smith is minister.

Names of soldiers should be submitted no later than the Sunday morning services, Rev. Smith points out. The address and a picture for display also are being accepted. The pictures will be returned. Names may be phoned to Mrs. Oda Mae Howell, Mrs. Reynolds or Rev. Smith.

Any person is invited to submit the name or names of those in the service for the special prayer service, the minister said.

OTHER features of the service will be the lighting of a special light for each and as their name is called the American Flag will be displayed with special lighting.

For soldiers who have given their lives, a cross will be lighted and taps will be played.

Music will be furnished by a quartet from Elkton, called the "Cousins Four." Special numbers will include "He Has the Whole World In His Hands" and "How Great Thou Art". The members are Diane Baker, Mrs. Gloria Moser, Marilyn Baker and Karen Woodburn.

The public is invited.

Republican Governors Avoid Viet Resolution

FREDERIKSTED, V.I. (AP) —The Democrats lost the final naval battle to the Republicans but contended they won the political campaign as the nation's governors wound up the business of their seaborne conference without acting on a Vietnam resolution.

Although some dissident Democrats joined GOP state executives in knocking down a proposal to support the tax increase President Johnson has recommended to combat inflation, the Democrats stood solidly together in a test vote on the Vietnam issue. Prevented by Gov. George Romney's veto from getting executive committee approval of a strong war-supporting resolution, the Democrats tried to bring a watered down version before the last conference general session Friday.

It would have committed the conference to saying that "beyond any question of approval or disapproval of the strategic and tactical decisions which are not our responsibility, we stand united in our fight for the freedom and self-government of the people of South Vietnam."

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah moved to bring it up under a rules suspension that required a three-fourths favorable vote. On the tally 18 Republicans were against acting on it. One, Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, joined 25 Democrats in voting to bring up the resolution, but this was six short.

Rampton and Gov. John Connally of Texas taunted the Republicans with the charge they were not supporting the war. The Democrats felt that they had put their foes on a political spot.

Rhodes said he broke the GOP ranks because he had consistently supported the war effort and U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, elected new chairman of the national conference, supplied clear indication of Republican political uneasiness when he told a news conference he thinks several of his party members may issue statements to clarify their position.

Rampton said during the debate that the views of the governors were being "stifled by a gag rule" imposed by the Republicans.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California replied that no one was stopping any governor from voicing his own views. But he said that the proposal for a blanket endorsement of Vietnam policies constituted "an introduction of partisan politics into the governors' conference."

That was all Connally needed. He shouted a demand for the floor on a point of personal privilege and said he was personally affronted by the reference to "partisan politics."

Connally accused the Republicans of sidestepping the Vietnam issue. He likened some of them, without naming any one, to the Tories and Copperheads of previous wars. He associated them with rioters and draft card burners. He wound up by saying that there was "nothing partisan" about the resolution.

Romney spoke up during the ensuing rollcall to say that the conference was no place for foreign policy decisions. He said that past resolutions had been misused by the President as indications of strong support by the governors for the course he was taking in Vietnam.

Carlisle Named In Water, Sewer Post At Lisbon

LISBON — William Carlisle of 225 W. Chestnut St. is the new general superintendent of the village water and sewer departments.

The appointment was announced Friday by James Crowell, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs.

Carlisle succeeds Elmer Donnalley of 326 W. Pine St., who resigned.

Donnalley had been with the department 10 years and was appointed general superintendent after the resignation of Ernest (Packy) Reisinger in 1966.

Carlisle has been with the department 11½ years and will continue to supervise the sewage treatment plant. He has licenses for both water and sewer operations.

Trial

jury after it reported itself deadlocked.

Held without bond were Deputy Sheriff Cecil R. Price of Neshoba County and Alton Wayne Roberts, a onetime nightclub bouncer who now sells mobile homes.

The judge said, "I understand there was some very loose talk in the halls." If you think you can intimidate this court you are mistaken." He said dynamite had been mentioned in a conversation in the hall of the courthouse.

The all-white jury of seven women and five men returned guilty verdicts Friday against seven of the 18 defendants. Those convicted also included Sam H. Bowers Jr., described as imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The convictions marked the first time any jury in Mississippi had returned a guilty verdict in a major civil rights case since Reconstruction.

No date for sentencing was set.

People In New Mexico Don't Fear Grizzlies

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The New Mexico Game and Fish Department says there shouldn't be any worry about grizzly bears attacking anyone in the state.

A department spokesman says there hasn't been a grizzly in New Mexico in more than 30 years.

There are so-called black bear in the state the spokeman said, and they will leave people alone under most circumstances.

The spokesman said the department has had several anxious inquires "since the tragic mishaps" involving grizzly bear in Montana.

Miss Mary Louise Fisher And Ronald Roach Marry

MRS. RONALD ROACH
Residing On Walnut St.

Miss Mary Louise Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of 809 Burford St., became the bride of Ronald Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Haney of 700 Riley Ave., Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Calvary Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dean McElroy performed the double ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of flowers, ferns and candelabra. Satin bows were used on the family pews.

Richard Thurman Allen, great - uncle of the bridegroom, presented a half - hour of organ music and sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly type lace styled with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, sabrina neckline embroidered in sequins. Her bouffant skirt, fashioned with two tiers and a scalloped edge, also was embroidered in sequins and formed a chapel sweep back.

Her two-tier bouffant veil of illusion fell from a forward arrangement of loops and lace flowers with jewel centers and pearl swirls.

Mrs. Nancy Folkertsma, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Ruth Bradfield and Carol Vollberg were bridesmaids. They wore long empire sheer cage over Chantilly sheath with scoop neckline, elbow sleeves and back bow. Their headdresses were matching blush veils attached to Dior bows. They carried colonial bouquets of mums tied with velvet streamers.

The bride's mother wore an aqua and white ensemble with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother chose a gold outfit with brown accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow tea roses.

Philip Folkertsma, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man and John Clendenning and John Dray were ushers.

Aides were Mrs. Isabel Keysor, Mrs. Shirley Smith and Mrs. Grace Haney.

The bride is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and her husband works at the Harker China Co. Both are 1967 graduates of East Liverpool High School.

The newlyweds are residing at 610½ Walnut St.

Projects Set By 'Citizens'

Several projects were outlined during a meeting of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

William Osborne presided, with 108 attending.

The women will meet Wednesday at 1 p.m. in the church to address envelopes for the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic and the group will repair toys for welfare children of Beaver County at the Salvation Army daily, with the exception of Wednesday.

Plans were discussed for the annual Thanksgiving dinner.

Guests were Paul Stern of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mary Buzzard, Dorothy Trainer and Homer Franklin, all of East Liverpool. The corsage was received by Mrs. Bessie Hassell.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Anna Osborne and games were played.

A Halloween party will highlight next Thursday's meeting.

Miss Columbiana County Will Join Camp Fire Event

Polly Lease, "Miss Columbiana County 1967" will be a guest during the Camp Fire Girls barbecue Oct. 29 at Echo Dell Camp. All 9th, 10th, and 11th - grade girls in East Liverpool also have been invited to attend.

Miss Lease, a junior at Mt. Union College, Alliance, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Lease of Salem. She was the talent winner in the Miss Ohio contest, singing selections from Broadway productions. She was one of the 10 finalists in the Miss Ohio competition held at Cedar Point in July.

Miss Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, "Miss America 1963," also will join in the festivities.

Rock and roll music will be presented by Kenny Martin and His Sounds.

Truckers

strike—would be the only plan acceptable to the Interstate Commerce Commission. ICC rules now call for a six-hour period without pay.

The estimated 15,000 strikes, most of them Teamsters Union members, have no strike fund. Their rigs, worth up to $30,000, have sat idle since the dispute began in Gary, Ind., and spread east, punctuated by shootings, stonings, and arson.

They have hit tire and truck suppliers, service stations and truck stops for donations to keep them going—but as one trucking executive put it, "They can't stay out forever."

A source close to the negotiations blamed the two-hour difference between the carriers and strikers on the steel mills.

The source said the trucking companies were in agreement with the first two-hour, $10 proposal, but balked when the steel industry said it couldn't meet the time limit.

He said the industry asked the carriers if they could get the waiting time jumped to four hours. "It was just a request, not an order," the source said.

"The problem is there are too damn many people in this thing," he said. "When you have just the employer and employe it's fine. But when you have the truckers, the carriers, the Teamsters, the steel mills—where do you start and where do you stop?"

The drivers, who earn no hourly wage, receive about 73 per cent of the cost paid for hauling a load of steel. The agreement would raise it to 79 per cent.

Cut soft rolls into slices that are about 1½ inches thick. Spread area about 1½ inches Spread the cut surface generously with butter and toast under the broiler. These tidbits are delicious with soup or salad.

Diane L. Patton Marries In Maryland Ceremonies

The Hughes Methodist Church in Kensington, Md., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Diane L. Patton of Chevy Chase, Md., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patton of Irondale, and Kenneth A. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin C. Martin of Kensington Oct. 7.

The double - ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles E. Kirkley before an altar decorated with white daisies and mums. Satin bows marked the family pews. Robert Holder was organist and Carol McGee soloist.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white full-length gown of taffeta pearl. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt ending in a chapel train. A crown of crystal and sequins held her illusion veil in place. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white daisies and mums.

For traveling, the bride was attired in an off-white dress trimmed with beige and accessories to match. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride's attendants were Diane Martin and Margaret Ake. They wore green chiffon dresses over taffeta, and carried bouquets of golden mums and pompons. Their headdresses were chiffon bows with theater veils. They carried green and yellow streamers on bouquets.

The bride's mother wore blue green satin brocade with a hat of blue and green feathers. The bridegroom's mother chose a gold brocade suit with a rust flowered hat. Their corsages were pink and white mums.

MRS. KENNETH MARTIN
Double-Ring Ceremony.

A RECEPTION for 250 guests was held in the church social rooms, with the table centered with a five - tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. A color scheme of white and gold was used for the table decorations.

The bride was graduated from Stanton Local High School and the Mary Medical Secretary School at Hagerstown, Md., and is employed at the National Institute of Mental Health at Chevy Chase. Her husband is a graduate of Einstein High School and works as an endorsement calculator at Chevy Chase. The couple is residing in Rockville, Md.

County Educators Will Join In Program At Canton Rally

Several Columbiana County educators will participate in the program for the East Central Ohio Teachers Association's ninth annual convention Nov. 3 at Canton.

Pupils in Columbiana, Carroll, Stark, Tuscarawas, Holmes and Wayne counties will have the day off.

Kenneth B. Keating, associate judge of the New York Court of Appeals and former U. S. senator from New York, will speak during the general assembly at 10:15 a. m. in Canton Memorial Auditorium.

The Canton Symphony Orchestra will present a one-hour concert beginning at 9:15.

Arno Holderread of Columbiana is a member of the executive committee.

The program lists Victor C. Wood, who resigned as superintendent of Salem Schools in September, as leader for the administrators' luncheon meeting at the United Church of Christ.

A former superintendent of the Leetonia system, Wood has accepted a position as head of Oregon City schools in Lucas County. He is still with the Salem system while the board seeks a replacement.

Mrs. Marjorie Fair of Hanoverton RD 1, first grade teacher at United School, is leader for the kindergarten and first-grade luncheon meeting at Timken High School.

On her committee are Mrs. Louise Jones, kindergarten teacher, Lisbon; Mrs. Helen Ward, first grade, Calcutta, and Mrs. Anne Kirkbride, first grade, East Liverpool.

Harold A. Windram, a Lisbon teacher for 10 years and now a principal at Carrollton, is a candidate for president-elect.

Carolyn M. Wood, librarian at East Palestine High School, is a candidate for ECOTA representative to the Ohio Teachers and Pupils Reading Circle.

Association members will vote by mail Oct. 27. James Nesbitt of East Palestine will give the election committee report during the representative assembly dinner meeting at 6 p.m. Nov. 2 in Mergus Restaurant, Canton.

Taking Out Tonsils By The Numbers

It was family style at City Hospital today as eight youngsters of a Wellsville family were separated from their tonsils in a sort of mass surgery.

Shown left to right as they arrived at the hospital last night are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Mobley of 2028 Buckeye Ave. — Patrick, 5; Robin, 9; Darlene, 6; Ricky, 8; Carlajean, 7; Mike, 4; Fred, 11; and Kathy, 10.

Mr. Mobley, 31, employed at the Elite Aquarium Co. before he became disabled a few years ago, and his wife have four other children — two younger and two older.

The eight were "getting along OK" late this morning, and looking forward to returning home Sunday.

Is There Life On Earth As We Know It?

By ROBERT POPP

THE ASTOUNDING ADVANCES in scientific knowledge made possible in the last generation by development of highly sophisticated research devices were demonstrated again when the Russians succeeded in placing a tiny space vehicle on the fog-shrouded planet Venus.

Radio Moscow and the Red television stations blared forth the news across the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and to most of the nations of Europe and Asia. Foreign language broadcasts whirled around the earth via shortwave, heralding the triumph and attributing it to the absolute freedom of the human spirit and the untrammeled genius of the Red scientific community, nourished in the heady atmosphere of Lenin and Marx.

Telemetering devices dropped on Venus relayed data on the temperature, the nature of the atmosphere and other facts. The Russians rushed to report them to the world.

They found for instance, that the surface temperature of the unknown planet ranges from 114 degrees to 536 degrees. They announced also that the atmosphere is comprised almost entirely of carbon dioxide, with little or no sign of oxygen.

Scientists around the globe made due note of the Russian announcements and awaited revelation of even more startling discoveries as more and more of the radioed data was deciphered and evaluated. They hailed the Red achievement as the most significant accomplishment to date in the space race and asserted the Russians were six to 10 years ahead of the U.S.

AND WHILE all this was transpiring on one of the most insignificant planets in the universe, there also was scientific activity on Venus, unknown to the Russians.

But far from a major stir, it was good for only a few minutes' comment on the evening news program beamed to all good Venusians on their equivalent of television by a smiling team of reporters.

The script has been translated from the Venusian and paraphrased for the convenience of earthlings.

The report on the strange, small sphere found on a remote section of the planet was relegated to a brief spot between the last two commercials.

The reporter opened with a straightforward account of the discovery of the shiny metal object, attached to a strange shroudlike device, and smiled as he recounted the stir it created among some of the less sophisticated rural elements.

"Some of these persons believed strongly it was an object landed on the Venusian plain by creatures on another planet," he said with a broad smile. "They created such a stir that the sphere was taken to our national scientific laboratories for investigation. There was one way of quieting the ridiculous fears stirred up by these irresponsible stories — to subject this sphere to various tests and then examine its contents — if any.

"TO TEST THE quality and nature of the metal, our scientists subjected it to various temperatures ranging from 114 degrees to nearly 600 degrees. It showed no signs of stress, despite the two extremes of temperature.

"Next it was immersed in containers of various chemical elements, including one that was virtually pure carbon dioxide. Still the sphere maintained its form and shape and showed no signs of deterioration. It was determined, short of exact analysis, that the metal is a crude amalgam comprised mainly of stainless steel and titanium.

"Then our scientists opened the container and found some of the crudest, most elementary radio equipment imaginable. It also contained some other gear that seemed to be sensing equipment.

"The scientists, going back into dusty archives and long-forgotten records, decided it was an amateur attempt to counterfeit the earliest kinds of radio equipment and electronic gear developed on this planet eons ago. The one surprising thing was that knowledge of this primitive gear had survived through the generations and that someone had been able to reproduce it rather faithfully.

"THE INVESTIGATORS decided to write it off as an attempt to hoax the rural population by contriving a pseudo-scientific device and then leaving it in a spot where it could be 'discovered' by a wide-eyed rustic. They were inclined to write it off as the brainchild of some backward college students.

"But after further investigation, they declined to attribute such a rudimentary production to young men on the college level. Instead, they feel it was the work of boys in high school, or possible precocious youngsters in grade school.

"They seem to be the direct lineal descendants of those fellows hundreds of years ago who concocted disc-shaped objects, called them 'flying saucers' and set the populace astir by tossing them around the countryside.

"Boys will be boys, as the old Venusian saying goes. But this hoax was hardly up to par, fellows. Better luck next time!"

You And The Law

Parking or stopping in a no parking" zone can be a lot more expensive than just the cost of a parking ticket.

Not finding a parking space on the street makes it very tempting to use "no parking" zones when you are in a hurry.

Suppose you want to work at the drugstore to pick up a prescription on the way home from work? You have driven around the block twice and the nearest parking lot is a good three blocks away. You figure it will only take a minute to run in and pick up the prescription. So you stop in the no parking zone on the corner in front of the store.

TRUE, IF you're fast enough, you might get back to your car before it is tagged, but you're still taking an awful chance. What if someone stopping for the intersection pulls out into the other street and is hit by another car?

He might well contend that he couldn't see the oncoming traffic because your car blocked his view. Chances are that you will be defending a suit in court. If the fact that your car was parked illegally is found to have caused the accident, you will probably have to pay damages.

The same could happen if a pedestrian steps out into traffic and is struck because he couldn't see around your car.

It is better to take your time and walk a few blocks than to risk the consequences of blocking a zone which for safety reasons should be kept clear.

Wintertime means party-time, and for a stunning finale to a variety of menus, Mrs. Alice M. Bowers of Summit Ln. offers a Spanish recipe:

Platanos Al Ron (Bananas in Rum Sauce)

8 small bananas, cut in half, lengthwise
1 cup of brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
pinch of powdered cloves
pinch of powdered ginger
8 tbls. butter
1 small can crushed pineapple
¼ cup dark sweet rum, heated.

Roll bananas in the sugar, which has been blended with the spices. Saute in butter until browned and sugar begins to caramelize. Place in layers in a shallow casserole or decorative skillet that can be brought to the table, sprinkling more of the sugar-spice mixture over each layer, but saving out 2 tablespoons.

Pour the crushed pineapple with its syrup over the bananas, add the reserved sugar mixture. Place in oven preheated to 350 until top begins to caramelize. Remove from oven, spoon heated rum over top, lighting rum. Carry flaming to table. Serves four.

The Verse Box

There's nothing new
Beneath the blue . . .
'Tis difficult to conceive
Garb more brief
Than the skimpy leaf
That mini-skirted Eve.

Beatniks today
Think beards are gay —
They're now a way-out fad;
They can't compare
To the bunch of hair
That guys like Moses had.

Jackets, bright,
Are fashion's height —
In yellow, red and blue —
Such a coat before
Young Jacob wore
In a variegated hue.

Vietnam is not
A peaceful spot;
Each day the battle thickens;
When Saul was king
'Twas quite the thing
Ta fight to beat the dickens.

The race in space
Proceeds apace,
With progress sure and steady;
We're wasting time,
The nursery rhyme
Puts a cow up there already.

Our arms today
Retain at bay
Proponents of aggression;
Samson fought alone
With an ass's bone —
(You will pardon the expression.)

The food fad fellow
Waxes mellow
On sunflower seeds and air;
Locusts were what
John the Baptist got
On his exciting bill of fare.

If you are swept
By a new concept,
Don't rush to take full credit —
Back along the line
The chance is fine
Some prior dope has said it!

News from Paris has it that the (a-hem) hemline is going to drop several inches. That

Homecoming Services Are Set At Hookstown

Homecoming services will begin Oct. 27 at the Hookstown Free Methodist Church.

The Rev. W. P. Jones of Monaca will launch the exercises with a sermon at 7:30 p.m.

Arden Jarvis of East Liverpool will be song leader. The Rev. Milo Smith is pastor.

On Saturday, Oct. 28, the Rev. A. R. Grafton of East Liverpool will deliver the sermon.

A union service will be featured Sunday, Oct. 29, with Sunday School at 10 a.m. and Rev. Smith delivering the sermon at morning worship. Mrs. Willard McLaughlin will conduct the Junior Church. The Girls Junior Choir, with Mrs. Milo Smith as accompanist, will perform, appearing for the first time in the new robes. Misss Janet Smith is director.

Following the service, the congregation will go to the Hookstown Grange Hall for lunch, served by the Ladies Missionary Society. The group will return to the church for a "hymn sing" under the leadership of the Men's Life and Light Fellowship of the Free Methodist Church of Weirton. Ernest Hissom of Weirton will lead the singing.

At 3:30 p.m., the congregation will visit the former site of the church, where its history will be reviewed and a devotional service held. Former pastors will take part in the services. Among them will be the Rev. George McLaughlin, son-in-law of the Rev. and Mrs. Smith and son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard McLaughlin of the Beulah Free Methodist Church at Morgantown.

A coverdish dinner will be served at 4:30 p. m. in the grange hall.

The evening service will begin at 7 and will include the rite of Holy Communion. The Rev. R. D. Merkle of East Liverpool, superintendent of the Rochester District of Free Methodist Churches, will speak.

Mrs. Smith will be organist for the services. Miss Aleatha Cain of Shippingport will be pianist.

Midland Minister Due New Position

The Rev. W. L. Harris, pastor of the Midland Mt. Olive Baptist Church at 440 Ohio Ave., has accepted a call to the Metropolitan Baptist Church at 351 W. Rayen Ave., Youngstown.

He will assume his new duties Dec. 3.

Rev. Harris has been Mt. Olive's pastor the last 12 years. He will serve communion at the 11 a.m. worship service Nov. 26, then deliver his farewell sermon at 3 p.m.

Plans Are Set For 'VD' Film

Further plans to publicize the upcoming showing of a venereal disease film Nov. 16 were outlined when the East Liverpool Junior Women's Club met Thursday night at the gas company.

The showing, at Westgate auditorium beginning at 8 p.m., is free to the public. A representative from the U.S. Public Health Department will be moderator. Mrs. Virginia Smith, a member of the club's program committee, is in charge.

Under the project committee, Mrs. Helen Turner reported that three children who attended the club-sponsored cerebral palsy nursery have enrolled in the public school system.

Donations recommended by the board of directors were approved. They include those for the Child Counseling Center, the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A contribution of $50 also was made to the teachers of the "Head Start" program for the purchase of supplies.

Club members will assist Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ludwig of Cream Ridge Rd. in taking orders and packaging table - size Christmas trees to be sent to men or women serving in Vietnam. Orders may be made at the St. Clair Plaza on Nov. 10. The club has purchased two trees.

Mrs. Connie Bingham reported on the recent fall conference at Warren. Mrs. Vicki Lane, president, and Mrs. Barbara Mangano also attended the session.

The members were reminded of the City Federation meeting Nov. 1 at Mary Patterson Memorial. The club voted to continue membership in the City Hospital Sycamore Twig.

Mrs. Joyce Chamberlain was named to replace Mrs. Pauline Walton as corresponding secretary.

Mrs. John Larean of the Junior Women's Federated Club of Leechburg, Pa., presented the program and displayed Christmas bazaar items.

The social committee included Mrs. Leah Kay Smith, chairman, Mrs. Bingham, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Jean Buck and Mrs. Beverly Chadwick. A Halloween theme was used for the table decorations.

Special Program Will Be Held At Orchard Grove

The Rev. Ivan Dornan of East Palestine, Methodist missionary on furlough from Japan, will speak and screen films on Japan next Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Orchard Grove Methodist Church.

Special music will be provided by the Mt. Zion Youth Choir and the Clarkson Grange quartet.

A fellowship hour will follow, with refreshments to be served. The public and area churches are invited to attend.

Revival Services Continue Sunday

The fourth in a series of Sunday evening revivals during October will be held tomorrow at 7 at the Fredericktown Christian Church. Thomas Hess is the pastor.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Allen Fields of the New Cumberland Christian Church. Miss Nell Toland is in charge of the music.

The program will include a choir from the Hammondsville Methodist Church, directed by Clyde Crook, and a quartet from the host church, accompanied by Mrs. Delores Craig. The members include Sue, Kay and Debbie Craig and Miss Toland.

Refreshments will be served in the social rooms after the services. A nursery will be available for pre-school children.

'Mission' To Be Held By Church In Chester

In conjunction with a Methodist action program in West Virginia during October, the Chester First Methodist Church will launch a mission Sunday during 10:45 a.m. worship.

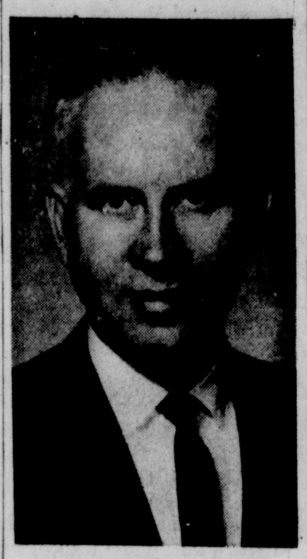

The mission will continue through Oct. 26, with special services for the public being held Sunday and Thursday evenings at 7:30.

The visiting minister will be the Rev. Joseph Casey of Logan, W. Va., who will conduct training sessions each evening for the visiting teams made up of members of the Chester church. Visitation will be held Sunday afternoon and Monday through Wednesday evenings.

Ministers of the northern half of the state began traveling through the south Oct. 8 to lead a five day United Evangelistic missions. During the week of Oct. 22 the ministers of the southern half of the conference will be guest preachers for the United Mission programs, which will include the Wheeling district.

Through person - to - person visitation, the five - day mission will attempt to reach the non-active, those outside the church, the sick and shut-ins and to involve them in preparation for church membership. The theme for the program is "Move Out! Lift Up Christ!"

The Rev. Randall Prince is pastor of the Chester church.

REV. JOSEPH CASEY
Will Hold Training Sessions.

Midland Church To Hear Missionary To Amazon

The Rev. David Hansen, missionary to the Amazon River area of Peru, will be the guest speaker during a special missionary service at the Assembly of God Church at 740 Beaver Ave., Midland, Sunday at 7 p. m.

Under appointment from the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God, Rev. Hansen will be working with the people living along the banks of the Amazon River, using a speed boat and house boat for transportation. Much of his work will include reaching the Indian tribes of the upper Amazon River basin area, many of whom are still headhunters and headshrinkers.

Assembly of God youth in 14 states, including Pennsylvnia, raised $25,000 to purchase a custom-designed houseboat for the endeavor. Other workers at the area are the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Hun who were guests at the Midland Assembly of God missionary convention last November.

The Rev. Merle Grosglass of Pitcairn will speak on home missions at the Sunday 11 a.m. worship service, the Rev. Charlee McClure, pastor, said.

The church Christmas choir will rehearse tonight at 8 and Sunday at 4 p.m.

Guest speaker at the midweek service at 7 p. m. today will be the Rev. Robert Collette, pastor of the Sand Flat Tabernacle at Oakland, Md. Rev. and Mrs. Collette will sing vocal selections.

Midland To Send Delegation To Jehovah Witnesses Rally

The Midland congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be represented among the more than 1,000 ministers to assemble at the Danceland, West View Park, Nov. 10-12 to participate in an advanced ministerial training session, Donald Devich, presiding minister, announced.

The program on the assembly theme, "Walking Orderly by Spirit," will be presented in the form of Bible lectures, discussions, symposiums and demonstrations.

The speaker will be Walter R. Wissman, district supervisor, a graduate of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, South Lansing, N. Y., and a former missionary to El Salvador.

He is supervising the eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia areas. He will speak Nov. 12 at 3 p.m. on "Will God Intervene in Man's Affairs?"

Local members, including men, women and teenage youths have volunteered to serve in the 21 departments of the assembly organization.

Midland Baptists To Hear Director

Dr. B. H. Logan, director of Christian Education for the Pennsylvania Baptist State Convention, will be the guest speaker at the Midland First Baptist Church Sunday at 11 a. m., the Rev. Paul A. McClenon, pastor, said.

Rev. and Mrs. McClenon have returned from Philadelphia where they attended the annual session of the convention.

The SJW Missionary Circle will sponsor a luncheon Wednesday between 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. at the church. Mrs. McClenon, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Ruby Fleming, co-chairman. The menu has been planned to cater especially to boys and girls of the community, Mrs. McCleno said. Parents are welcome also .

Local Minister To Be Guest At Farrell Church

The Rev. E. H. Harris, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, accompanied by the Mass Choir and congregation, will preach at the Community Baptist Church in Farrell, Pa., Sunday at 3 p. m. Arthur L. Roberts is pianist.

The bus will leave from the church at 1 p. m. Dinner will be served at Farrell before the service. The arrangement committee includes Dan Henderson, Millard Carter and James Martin.

If you are storing a loaf of bread in the freezer for a short time, it needs no more protection than its waxed wrapper.

Limited Incomes

pose no problems. We serve the family with limited incomes as graciously and completely as those with more extensive resources.

But whatever your circumstances, tell us unhesitatingly so that we can cooperate in fulfilling your every wish within your budget.

Look Too Idle

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian government employes have been asked not to play cards in public places during office hours. The Home Ministry said the large numbers of civil servants who rush to nearby parks and lawns to play cards during lunch or tea breaks presented an "undignified" appearance.

The bluebird differs from other members of the thrush family in that it is the only one to nest in holes.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

WHAT WILL IT PROFIT?

Jesus asked a question in Mt. 16:26 that is worthy of our careful attention. "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" It was quite evident in the day in which Jesus lived, that men were not placing a high enough value on the soul. This problem is still prevalent in the world today. Men have always placed too little value on the soul and too great a value on the material things of life.

It is sad that this is true because of the fact that those material things that seem to have so great a value to us, are the things that will soon pass. However, by contrast, our soul will live forever.

The eternal destiny of the soul is determined by the way we live while here on the earth. If we neglect our soul here, we will pay by having our soul punished in eternity. Jno. 5:28, 29. "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth: they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." These verses make it clear that our resurrection to eternal life or to eternal death depend entirely upon the way that I have lived while here on the earth.

When we consider the duration of our lives here on the earth and then compare that with the ceaseless ages of eternity, it seems foolish for us to place a greater value on some temporal thing than we do on our never-dying soul. At the very most, our lives here on the earth will cover about 100 years. Eternity will never end. This is the reason that Jesus was trying to help us to see the value of our soul.

This lesson has not been learned by the majority of the people in the world. We see some who live as though they think they will live here on the earth forever. Worldly pleasure is more important than the soul. The treasures of this life are of more value to some than the treasures that should be placed in heaven. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Mt. 6:19-21.

Dear Friend, what would you give in exchange for your soul? How great a value have you placed upon it? You are invited to attend the services of the Church of Christ tomorrow.

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

THE WEATHER MAY not be the best in many respects, but the duck hunters love it.

The season opened Tuesday and hunters in Columbiana County have made a pretty good showing.

Most of the waterfowl have been shot in the area of Guilford Lake and the surrounding marshes.

The hunters scored heavily the first day, taking several teal and mallards, although a few blacks and woodies also were shot.

Some hunters have been having a fair amount of luck "jump" hunting along the creeks in the county. Ducks will seek out quiet little pools along streams to feed and rest. Hunters quietly move along the creek, shooting them as they flush.

The only disadvantage is collecting your kill. Sometimes the birds fall in the swift water and must be followed downstream to where the water is shallow enough to recover them.

Don't forget a federal duck stamp must be secured along with a regular hunting license.

GROUSE HUNTING has been very good, although the rain the past few days has dampened the enthusiasm of most nimrods.

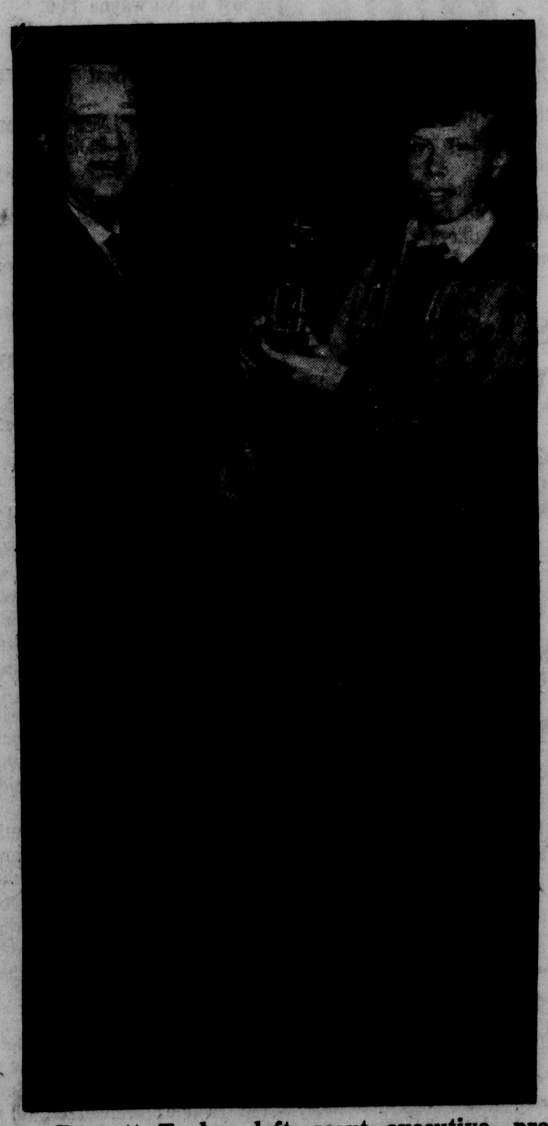

Grouse will sit very tight during wet weather. But don't get the idea they won't move at all. Grouse still feed daily, unless it is extremely windy and rainy.

There is one slight advantage to hunting grouse in wet weather. You can move quieter through the woods, and the birds, as I said before, are less inclined to fly. If you know the cover, you sometimes can get up very close before they take off. This gives you a little better shot.

Study this bird and its habits as you are hunting, it will make future hunts more productive.

CRACK SHOT. Don Raber, 14, won a rifle tournament held by the Columbiana Boy Scout Council at the Salem Hunt Club.

Don, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Raber of Hess Rd., RD 1, is a member of Troop 12 of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Bennett Taylor, left, scout executive, presents a trophy to Don Raber of East Liverpool for winning the Boy Scout rifle championship held at Salem.

Others participating in the finals were Bud Weekley of Wellsville Troop 20, Dave Haney of East Liverpool Troop 7, Edward Cyrus of Columbiana Troop 18 and Dennis Henthorn of Lisbon Troop 95.

Don recieved a trophy from Bennett Taylor, scout executive.

MUSKIE FISHING continues to be good in the state. Ed Bradley, fish management supervisor for District III, says six muskies have been taken in the past month at Deer Creek Reservoir. They ranged from almost 10 pounds to 26 pounds.

Pymatuning has recorded the heaviest muskie this year. It was 50½-inches and weighed 30½ pounds.

Leesville holds the record for the most caught with 40. Clendening and Mogadore also have produced some nice ones.

Ed says there are several lakes where northern pike are being taken. They are Findley Lake in Lorain County, Aquilla Lake in Geauga, Hinckley Lake in Medina and Mimisila Reservoir in Summit.

Walleyes have been biting good at Berlin Reservoir,

Lake Milton, Mosquito, Tappan and Pymatuning. The water temperatures are running from 58 to 61 degrees.

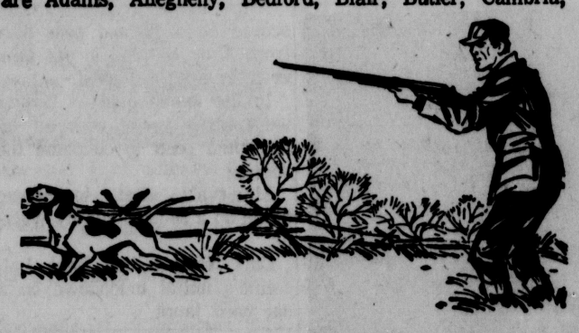

Construction work has started at Mosquito in the Miller Bay area. An earthen fill was made across the bay to control the water level for channel improvement.

About 10 acres of water was trapped in the bay, along with the fish. The area was pumped, and wildlife personnel removed 37 largemouth bass from 6 to 22 inches, 3 walleyes from 10 to 18 inches, a few crappies and some carp. Shad accounted for approximately 90 per cent of the fish netted.

DOE LICENSES. Thirty-seven counties in Pennsylvania still have antlerless deer licenses for sale. All other counties report their allocation has been sold.

The Game Commission allocated a total of 445,400 antlerless licenses for the state.

Beaver County is one of those with doe licenses. Others are Adams, Allegheny, Bedford, Blair, Butler, Cambria, Cameron, Centre, Chester, Clinton, Crawford, Delaware, Erie, Fayette, Fulton, Greene, Jefferson, Lancaster, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Mifflin, Montgomery, Montour, Northumberland, Pike, Potter, Snyder, Somerset, Susquehanna, Tioga, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming and York.

THE SALE of resident hunting licenses in Beaver County last year totaled 16,826, up only three over the previous year.

But, the sale of non-resident licenses jumped from 1,209 in 1965 to 1,329 last year.

The total resident licenses in the state jumped from 899,301 in 1965 to 931,239 last year. Non-resident licenses totaled 62,654, up from the 54,364 reported in 1965.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS TAKE NOTE. The word out is there are more squirrels in Pennsylvania than ever before. Squirrels are abundant throughout the commonwealth and — get this — "are probably the most underharvested of small game animals."

Field reports also indicate there are more waterfowl available this year than in the recent past. Grouse and woodcock populations are about the same.

SQUIRREL SEASON is still in and some hunters are still getting a few.

Bass were hitting real good in Beaver Creek until the weather got cool. If it warms up again, give it a try.

Yellow perch were btiing at Lake Erie last weekend. Striped bass fishing in the Delaware River in Pennsylvania is continuing at a fast clip. Veteran fishermen are predicting the action may continue until late November.

It's time to start gathering nuts. There seems to be a very good supply of walnuts this year. The only trouble is removing the hulls.

Stamps In The News

MORE and more stamp collectors are becoming concerned about protecting their stamp investments. Many are interested in utilizing an insurance program that will be reasonable and effective.

To help such individuals, the Society of Philatelic Americans — one of the leading stamp collecting societies in this country — has offered low-cost insurance to its members and chapters for many years. With the increasing demand for broader coverage, SPA has taken steps to offer a new policy to cover members anywhere in the world (excepting Iron Curtain countires) for as little as $25 for a three-year policy.

Present members of the SPA, or new members, may get all the facts by writing to the SPA Executive Secretary Stewart Bailey, P.O. Box 266, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202.

MIDLAND HIGH SCHOOL'S new mascot was on the sidelines Friday night, watching the Leopard football team play Rochester to a 20-20 tie. Underneath all that Leopard skin is Sharon Clark, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark of Midland Heights.

The Younger Set

The first six-weeks grading period is fini (what awful truths do the report cards hold?), the trees have done a quick but colorful shedding job, and — Holy Pumpkin Holes! — its almost time for Halloween.

The gang around the district has been kept busy with the many activities now crowding school calendars, and bracing for upcoming events.

Correspondents helping out on this column, by the way, include Diane Adams at Southern Local, Sandra Doak of Southside, Cathy Daniels and Nadine Bomestar of Western Beaver.

If you have any tips, news, items of happenings which others might be interested in, tell the gang! They'll get it to us.

Patricia Wyche, East Liverpool, Cindy Carnes, Beaver Local.

HOMECOMING WAS HAPPY at Southern Local for Susan Corbin, senior, who was chosen to reign as queen for the festivities. The black-haired, brown-eyed Susan played the role very well . . . The S. L. French class got the latest diplomatic dope from the chancellor of the French embassy during a visit at Steubenville College where he gave a lecture last week . . .

SUSAN CORBIN

ENGLISH students are also fortunate on getting firsthand information about the foreign scene from Miss Josephine Shaff who spent six weeks in Europe last year and two weeks in Hawaii just before the start of this school term. THAT SHINY LOOK around the halls is from the new junior class rings which were delivered last week. CHEERLEADER tryouts are slated Oct. 30 for the basketball season. Basketball season? Wow, how time fugits . . .

BEAVER LOCAL MYSTERY. Where are Dick Blatchford's shoes? The latest Key Club project was painting the goal posts at the football field, and when Dick, club secretary, finished the job, he left his shoes at the field. There was a grid game that night, and the Blatchford footwear hasn't been seen since . . . HOMECOMING preparations are underway for the Oct. 28 game and blast. Reservations for flowers and tables at the dance are being sold by juniors, traditional sponsors of the event. HAPPY BIRTHDAY. Each month the home economics class plans, prepares and serves a luncheon for those members of the class who have observed birthday's during that month.

A PIZZA PARTY was held at Western Beaver Wednesday to honor 11 top salesmen in the junior class magazine drive; Sam Rudman was No. 1 and earned a tapeplayer. MELANIE ENGLE received plenty of congratulations (deserved) for her selection as first runnerup in the Beaver County Junior Miss pageant. "CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN" will be on stage in November with an all-school cast for which tryouts were held this week. SENIORS were honored for band service at Friday's game.

SPOOK SOCIAL. A Halloween party is planned for the Midland High band after the annual parade Oct. 31. Special dress for the majorettes will include black slacks, orange sweatshirts and tams. Each member is allowed one guest . . . PLANS FOR A SPANISH Club are under way . . . HOW ABOUT those colored fishnet stockings the gals are sporting? . . . RODIS yearbook staff is busy working on pictures for the annual publication . . .

SOUTHSIDE'S FIRST HOMECOMING was a real swinger, with the "Soul Patrol" playing the latest in sounds. The game was a success, and even though the Oakdale Boys School came out losers, they apparently enjoyed the trip — most spent the game photographing the Southside gals and ignoring the score . . . HOW ABOUT THE neat VW bus a certain teacher has been sporting? Next time you need transportation for band instruments, paper drives, look her up . . . EYE FOR EYE. Hookstown ministers are enforcing a new rule — "If you can't pray in school, then you can't do homework in church . . ."

SPRING FEVER. A few impatient seniors at East Liverpool High have already started counting the days before school is over for them. Blackboards are chalked with the numbers of "senior days" left; sorry, people, you've got a looonngg wait . . . A MUSIC theory class will be started at ELHS by Mr. Don Adams, band director, who will offer new ideas and old methods for about 15 students after regular school hours. He rates a pat on the back for helping make better musicians of instrumental and vocal students. A-T-T-E-N-T-I-O-N! A girl's drill team has been organized at ELHS to keep the ROTC boys company. Now, instead of bussing your gal, you salute her . . . and don't dare try a hug — you may be court-martialed.

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH. Wellsville High students had a taste of Barnum & Bailey Monday when the annual circus sponsored by the Hammond Park Commission was held at the school gym. Jugglers, trapeze artists, unicyclists, horsemen, the works . . . Too bad "running away with the circus" isn't fashionable any more . . .

BAND GRADES. You get a grade now in band at Tigertown since band is no longer an elective — due to the curriculum cutbacks — and members are tested as in a regular class. Now we can understand why so many marches are in the key of A rather than F or D . . .

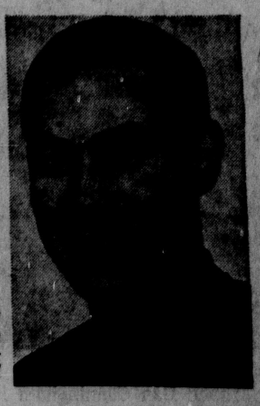

WHIZ KIDS. Lisbon High School students who use the reading machine in the principals office soon read at a gallop and get the message too. Some have doubled their reading speed. LHS juniors who operate the hot sandwich oven at noon sold 1,026 sandwiches in September for a profit of $74.40. That's prom money! The special education class taught by Robert Ashton has its own TV set — the only one at LHS — to watch National Education Television programs on Channel 13. Sharie Joseph, LHS freshman, will compete Nov. 5 in a district baton twirloff at Mogadore. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Joseph of Lisbon RD 5, Sharie won a trophy two weeks ago in novice class competition at Niles.

CLEAN CARS. Area residents will have a chance to get an auto wash for a nominal fee when Kent State Center's students hold a wash marathon next Saturday at the M.A. parking lot.

FOUR-DAY WEEK. Lucky Hancock County kids got Thursday and Friday off this week as a result of faculty meetings held the two days.

School Who's Who

President of Southern Local High School's Student Council is Jay Clapsaddle whose interests range from the school newspaper to the gridiron.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clapsaddle of Salineville, Jay, a senior, is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Junior Classical League and Blue and Gold staff, is co-editor of the "Warrior," and is on the football, basketball and track teams.

He plans to enter the College of Engineering at Ohio State University following graduation in the spring.

Farm Bureau Sets Meeting

LISBON — The annual meeting of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau Federation will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 4, at United School on Route 9 near New Garden.

Mike Noday of Youngstown, assistant chief inspector for the manufacturing division of Republic Steel Corp., will be guest speaker. A teacher of American History at Youngstown University — his alma mater — he will speak on "The U. S. Supreme Court — The Court of Last Resort."

Dawson Irey of Lisbon RD 4, president, said tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the Farm Bureau office here or from any of the directors.

Members will review and vote on resolutions submitted by the policy development committee and elect new directors.

Mrs. Elizabeth Farmer of Salem RD 3, county women's chairman, reported at the board meeting here Thursday night on the northeast women's rally Tuesday at Canton. She said this county had 30 women among the more than 300 present. Sen. Oliver Ocasek of Northfield was guest speaker.

The nominating committee reported on director nominees last night and Albert Hartley of Columbiana RD 2, chairman of the policy development committee, presented resolutions for board approval.

Directors discussed the youth conference Saturday at Ravenna, Buckeye Farm records, and the annual state meeting at Columbus in November.

Federation members interested in learning more about Buckeye farm records may contact Evelyn Hoopes, organization director, at the Farm Bureau office, 232 S. Market St., Tuesday or Thursday of any week.

Teacher, Classroom Shortage In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Beirut newspapers charge that 140,000 Lebanese children will be unable to go to school this year because of the shortage of teachers and classrooms.

Most Lebanese who can afford it — and many who cannot — send their children to private schools, claiming the education provided by the state is poor. Newspapers are urging a higher education budget to improve and expand the state-run schools.

The newspaper Le Jour said 120,000 children were left out of school last year—despite Lebanon's reputation as the best- educated of the Arab countries—and the number would go on increasing unless large-scale expansion of the educational system were undertaken.

It said Lebanon needed 3,500 new teachers at the elementary school level and a $3.5 million increase in the education budget.

Elementary schoolteachers here in state schools are sometimes paid as little as $83 dollars a month, and the cost of living in Lebanon can be higher than in the United States. Some office boys make more than the teachers.

Use warm water when you are washing fresh spinach, Swiss chard or asparagus.

Honors Due Servicemen

The second candlelight service featuring special prayers for those in the armed services will be conducted at the West Point Church of the Nazarene Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. L. D. Smith is minister.

Names of soldiers should be submitted no later than the Sunday morning services, Rev. Smith points out. The address and a picture for display also are being accepted. The pictures will be returned. Names may be phoned to Mrs. Oda Mae Howell, Mrs. Reynolds or Rev. Smith.

Any person is invited to submit the name or names of those in the service for the special prayer service, the minister said.

OTHER features of the service will be the lighting of a special light for each and as their name is called the American Flag will be displayed with special lighting.

For soldiers who have given their lives, a cross will be lighted and taps will be played.

Music will be furnished by a quartet from Elkton, called the "Cousins Four." Special numbers will include "He Has the Whole World In His Hands" and "How Great Thou Art". The members are Diane Baker, Mrs. Gloria Moser, Marilyn Baker and Karen Woodburn.

The public is invited.

Republican Governors Avoid Viet Resolution

FREDERIKSTED, V.I. (AP) —The Democrats lost the final naval battle to the Republicans but contended they won the political campaign as the nation's governors wound up the business of their seaborne conference without acting on a Vietnam resolution.

Although some dissident Democrats joined GOP state executives in knocking down a proposal to support the tax increase President Johnson has recommended to combat inflation, the Democrats stood solidly together in a test vote on the Vietnam issue. Prevented by Gov. George Romney's veto from getting executive committee approval of a strong war-supporting resolution, the Democrats tried to bring a watered down version before the last conference general session Friday.

It would have committed the conference to saying that "beyond any question of approval or disapproval of the strategic and tactical decisions which are not our responsibility, we stand united in our fight for the freedom and self-government of the people of South Vietnam."

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah moved to bring it up under a rules suspension that required a three-fourths favorable vote. On the tally 18 Republicans were against acting on it. One, Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, joined 25 Democrats in voting to bring up the resolution, but this was six short.

Rampton and Gov. John Connally of Texas taunted the Republicans with the charge they were not supporting the war. The Democrats felt that they had put their foes on a political spot.

Rhodes said he broke the GOP ranks because he had consistently supported the war effort and U.S. troops in Vietnam.

Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, elected new chairman of the national conference, supplied clear indication of Republican political uneasiness when he told a news conference he thinks several of his party members may issue statements to clarify their position.

Rampton said during the debate that the views of the governors were being "stifled by a gag rule" imposed by the Republicans.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California replied that no one was stopping any governor from voicing his own views. But he said that the proposal for a blanket endorsement of Vietnam policies constituted "an introduction of partisan politics into the governors' conference."

That was all Connally needed. He shouted a demand for the floor on a point of personal privilege and said he was personally affronted by the reference to "partisan politics."

Connally accused the Republicans of sidestepping the Vietnam issue. He likened some of them, without naming any one, to the Tories and Copperheads of previous wars. He associated them with rioters and draft card burners. He wound up by saying that there was "nothing partisan" about the resolution.

Romney spoke up during the ensuing rollcall to say that the conference was no place for foreign policy decisions. He said that past resolutions had been misused by the President as indications of strong support by the governors for the course he was taking in Vietnam.

Carlisle Named In Water, Sewer Post At Lisbon

LISBON — William Carlisle of 225 W. Chestnut St. is the new general superintendent of the village water and sewer departments.

The appointment was announced Friday by James Crowell, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs.

Carlisle succeeds Elmer Donnalley of 326 W. Pine St., who resigned.

Donnalley had been with the department 10 years and was appointed general superintendent after the resignation of Ernest (Packy) Reisinger in 1966.

Carlisle has been with the department 11½ years and will continue to supervise the sewage treatment plant. He has licenses for both water and sewer operations.

His assistants are Fred Lutz at the waterworks and Merle Esterly at the disposal plant.

Siff Purchase Final, Gilbert Firm Reports

COLUMBUS — Dr. Ivan Gilbert, chairman of the Board of Gilbert Shoe Stores, Inc., has announced that Gilbert's has completed the purchase of The D. M. Siff Shoe Co.

Siff was incorporated in 1923 and operates nine stores in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Louis Feuer, administrative vice president of Gilbert's, was elected president of the Siff Shoe Co. subsidiary.

Potters Bury Ferry 46-0; McVay Scores 24 Points

Musuraca Runs For 97 Yards

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A hapless Martins Ferry team proved no match for the East Liverpool Potters Friday night at Ferry, with the Potters rolling up a 40-0 halftime lead and coasting to a 46-0 win.

Coach Bob McNea used his second team part of the second period and the regulars saw very little action in the entire second half of the lopsided encounter. EL is now 5-1 on the year and the home team 0-7. The Purple Riders have lost 23 in a row.

Mike McVay scored 24 points for the winners, although he ran from scrimmage just twice for a net of five yards. But he scored twice within 16 seconds on a pass from Earl Diddle and an interception return. His other TD came on a 72-yard punt return.

A ferocious East Liverpool defense kept Ferry from penetrating closer than 43 yards from paydirt, and repeatedly spilled sophomore quarterback Sam Twardowski for losses. Bill Hopper, Mike Jackson, McVay and Ray (Zeb) Boyd all nailed Twardoski at one time or another. The only thing resembling a drive for the losers was late in the first period when they went from their own 27 to the Potter 43 before being pushed back. Twardoski twice hit Rich Weiskircher with first down passes on the drive.

The only offensive threat for Pete Barren's club was Don Bruney, who gained 65 yards in 15 tries. Weiskircher gained 126 yards by returning all seven Potter kickoffs.

Jim Musuraca and Bill Jones both had their best games of the season for the winners. Musuraca carried 11 times for 97 yards and Jones 10 times for 62 yards. In addition, their blocking gave Earl Diddle enough protection that he was never hit while attempting to pass and was able to gain 29 yards on four carries himself.

Overall, EL netted 349 yards on the ground, with reserves getting plenty. Herb Purton racked up 72 yards in just six carries, Al Parson had 33 in two, Jackson 19 in two and Dan Cunningham 19 in eight. The Christian brothers shone in the pass receiving department, Bruce hauling in one for 50 yards and Jerry catching two, for a total of 20 yards and a TD. Cunningham hit Mike Jackson on a 55-yard pass play for an apparent TD in the closing seconds, but the play was called back because of an offensive holding penalty. Two other Potter scores were called back by penalties, but on both those ocassions the powerful Potter offensive machine went in to score on the same series. In all, East Liverpool had 174 yards in gains called back because of penalties.

East Liverpool never had to kick and was not held on downs until 1:25 remained in the third period.

The first Potter drive of the game was thwarted by a clipping penalty, which nullified a 24-yard run to the 10 by Diddle, and an interception on the 28 by Tom Jones. One play later John Johnson intercepted for the visitors, and the Potters marched 64 yards in seven plays for the score, with Jones bulling up the middle for the final nine yards. A 40-yard end run by Musuraca was the big gain of the drive.

On the last play of the first period Ferry was forced to kick and McVay got it on his 28, shook off two tacklers as he ran along the 30, and then turned upfield behind a perfect blocking wall to go the rest of the way untouched.

The next time the Potters got the ball Diddle passed to Bruce Christian in the clear, but the rangy end was caught from behind on the 10 after a 50-yard gain. A pass was seemingly complete to Tom Chambers in the end zone, but offensive interference was called and Diddle was forced to fourth down before passing to McVay for the TD.

Sixteen seconds later, on the first play following the kickoff, McVay grabbed a Twardoski pass in the flat and ambled in for another score.

Before the half ended, Jones broke over right guard for 37 yards to paydirt, but an offside penalty nullified that run. Purton went 32 yards to the 11 and carried twice more for the score. The drive was 60 yards in 13 plays.

The final score came after a 66-yard, 13-play drive to open the second half. The running of Jones and Musuraca featured the march, and Cunningham hit Jerry Christian on the 3 and then in the end zone. After this the regulars played no more and neither team could move the ball consistently.

Friday night the Potters host Boardman.

CUNNINGHAM CAUGHT. East Liverpool second team quarterback Dan Cunningham is caught during the Potters' 46-0 win at Martins Ferry Friday night. Cunningham gained 19 yards running, completed 2 of 8 passes and caught one.

Vanlier Scores 20 Points

Rochester And Midland Tie In Last 17 Seconds, 20-20

Rochester battled with the clock twice and won to tie Midland 20-20 Friday night on the Midland gridiron.

The contest saw Midland standout Dave Vanlier score all 20 points for the Leopards on three touchdowns and two conversion runs.

Rochester tied the game with only 17 seconds remaining when Dick Hogue took a 16 yard scoring pass from Jim Mattern. The touchdown tied the game at 20-20 but Midland turned back Rochester's extra point attempt when Larry Kunder was stopped short of the goal.

Rochester also won a battle with the clock in the closing seconds of the first half when Charles Willis took a 27 yard pass from Mattern to put the Rams in front 7-0 at halftime.

Midland stormed back to score six points in the third quarter when Vanlier ran six yards to paydirt. Early in the fourth quarter of the ding-dong affair, Midland went to the lead 13-7 when Vanlier raced 10 yards.

Rochester stormed right back and went ahead 14-13 when Clark Good ran nine yards for the score. Vanlier put Midland on top again with a three yard TD run then added the extra point for a 20-14 margin in the closing minutes.

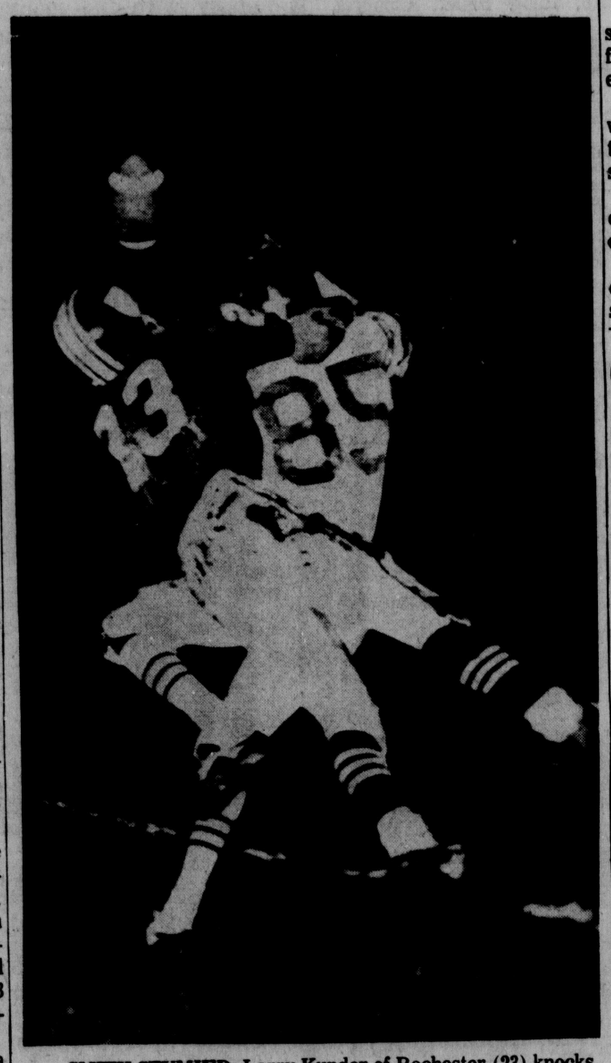

Midland showed a 17-8 edge in first downs and allowed Rochester only 11 yards rushing.

Both teams depended on an air attack as Mattern completed 12 of 34 for 177 yards and Midland's Jack Campbell hit 13 of 27 for 178 yards. The Leopards had 94 yards rushing.

The tie left Midland with a 2-3-2 record while Rochester stands at 2-4-1.

Southern Local Loses 24-0 To Jefferson Union

Southern Local was dealt its fourth setback in six starts when Jefferson Union turned in a 24-0 shutout over the Indians Friday night on the JU field.

Rodney Young scored twice for the Yellowjackets in the second quarter following a scoreless first period. Young went one yard for the first score and five for another.

Bob Harris ran four yards for JU's final TD in the fourth period.

The Jackets piled up 255 yards on the ground and 111 in the air. Southern showed 122 yards rushing and were 0 for 9 in the passing department.

The contest was a Buckeye Border Conference game.

Lisbon Blue Devils Rally, Nip Beaver Local 15-14

LISBON — The Lisbon Blue Devils continued pulling late victories from the fire as Beaver Local was the latest victim, 15-14 here Friday night.

Bud Bucher's team has been winning the close ones all season and Friday was no different as Lisbon picked up its sixth win in seven starts. The winning touchdown and conversion came with 5:53 remaining.

With Lisbon trailing 14-8 Gary Toot took an eight yard scoring pass from Randy Muntean to tie the game at 14-14 and then the versatile Muntean booted the winning point.

Toot had set up the winning TD by intercepting a Beaver Local pass on the Beavers' 40 yard line.

Muntean had a hand in all the Lisbon scoring as he tallied the first touchdown in the third quarter and then ran for the two-point conversion.

Beaver Local opened the scoring in the second period when Klembara went two yards to paydirt and ran for the two-point conversion.

After Lisbon tied the count in the third period Beaver Local went in front 14-8 when Rex Campbell took a 13-yard TD pass from Klembara.

Crafton Wins 21-0 Showdown

Western Beaver Blanked, Eliminated From Class B

The Western Beaver Golden Beavers were eliminated from WPIAL Class B contention last night, dropping a 21-0 decision to the unbeaten Crafton Cougars at Crafton.

End Al Pooley scored twice for the winners, once on an end-around play and once on a pass from quarterback Ray Marshall. Wayne Mathias rambled 32 yards for the other score. He was the top ballcarrier in the game with 83 yards in 16 attempts.

End Jimmy Wilson starred for Dan Sekeres' team, grabbing six passes for 50 yards and picking off a Crafton pass, once of only two Marshall aerials that did not find their targets.

The Golden Beavers made two drives against the tough Crafton defense, to the 27 after the third Cougar TD and to the 1-foot-line as time ran out to end the game.

Next Saturday the Golden Beavers, now 4-3, face the South Side Rams at Midland at 8 p.m.

Minerva Tops Bulldogs, Walker Scores 3 TDs

MINERVA — Minerva scored a touchdown in each period to turn back East Palestine, 24-14, for its third Tri - County League victory in four starts.

Terry Walker cashed in for three touchdowns including the last two which pulled Minerva from a 14-12 deficit to victory.

Minerva led 12-8 at halftime but East Palestine drew first blood in the second half as Joe Lewis went 39 yards for a touchdown on a third and 22 situation to put the Bulldogs in front, 14-12.

A few moments later, Walker scored on a 76-yard pass play from Andy Battisio to put Minerva in front for good.

In the fourth quarter Walker went three yards with an intercepted pass to conclude the scoring.

Minerva's first touchdown came on a 39-yard run by Walker.

Cliff Nash tallied East Palestine's initial touchdown on a six yard jaunt.

The loss was East Palestine's third against four victories. Minerva was 4-for-4 in the passing department including a 24-yarder from Battisio to Mike Kimlumco.

Red Strongman Sets Weightlifting Record

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Soviet strongman Ian Talts has given the Russians their 17th gold medal in the Pre Olympic Games with a world record performance in the weightlifting competition.

Talts bettered his own world mark in the clean and jerk event Friday night by hefting 428 pounds en route to the middle heavyweight title.

On a day devoid of competition in track and field or gymnastics, fans crowded into the theater where the lifting competition was held and saw Talts boost the Soviets' gold medal margin over the United States to 17-4.

Syracuse began the 1967 football season with 28 shutouts since 1949, when Coach Ben Schwrtzwalder arrived on the scene. The Orange has been blanked only seven times.

Taking Out Tonsils By The Numbers

It was family style at City Hospital today as eight youngsters of a Wellsville family were separated from their tonsils in a sort of mass surgery.

Shown left to right as they arrived at the hospital last night are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Mobley of 2028 Buckeye Ave. — Patrick, 5; Robin, 9; Darlene, 6; Ricky, 8; Carlajean, 7; Mike, 4; Fred, 11; and Kathy, 10.

Mr. Mobley, 31, employed at the Elite Aquarium Co. before he became disabled a few years ago, and his wife have four other children — two younger and two older.

The eight were "getting along OK" late this morning, and looking forward to returning home Sunday.

Is There Life On Earth As We Know It?

By ROBERT POPP

THE ASTOUNDING ADVANCES in scientific knowledge made possible in the last generation by development of highly sophisticated research devices were demonstrated again when the Russians succeeded in placing a tiny space vehicle on the fog-shrouded planet Venus.

Radio Moscow and the Red television stations blared forth the news across the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and to most of the nations of Europe and Asia. Foreign language broadcasts whirled around the earth via shortwave, heralding the triumph and attributing it to the absolute freedom of the human spirit and the untrammeled genius of the Red scientific community, nourished in the heady atmosphere of Lenin and Marx.

Telemetering devices dropped on Venus relayed data on the temperature, the nature of the atmosphere and other facts. The Russians rushed to report them to the world.

They found for instance, that the surface temperature of the unknown planet ranges from 114 degrees to 536 degrees. They announced also that the atmosphere is comprised almost entirely of carbon dioxide, with little or no sign of oxygen.

Scientists around the globe made due note of the Russian announcements and awaited revelation of even more startling discoveries as more and more of the radioed data was deciphered and evaluated. They hailed the Red achievement as the most significant accomplishment to date in the space race and asserted the Russians were six to 10 years ahead of the U.S.

AND WHILE all this was transpiring on one of the most insignificant planets in the universe, there also was scientific activity on Venus, unknown to the Russians.

But far from a major stir, it was good for only a few minutes' comment on the evening news program beamed to all good Venusians on their equivalent of television by a smiling team of reporters.

The script has been translated from the Venusian and paraphrased for the convenience of earthlings.

The report on the strange, small sphere found on a remote section of the planet was relegated to a brief spot between the last two commercials.

The reporter opened with a straightforward account of the discovery of the shiny metal object, attached to a strange shroudlike device, and smiled as he recounted the stir it created among some of the less sophisticated rural elements.

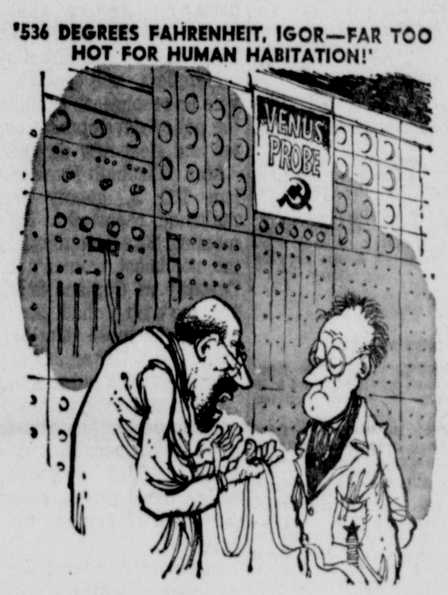

"Some of these persons believed strongly it was an object landed on the Venusian plain by creatures on another planet," he said with a broad smile. "They created such a stir that the sphere was taken to our national scientific laboratories for investigation. There was one way of quieting the ridiculous fears stirred up by these irresponsible stories — to subject this sphere to various tests and then examine its contents — if any.

"TO TEST THE quality and nature of the metal, our scientists subjected it to various temperatures ranging from 114 degrees to nearly 600 degrees. It showed no signs of stress, despite the two extremes of temperature.

"Next it was immersed in containers of various chemical elements, including one that was virtually pure carbon dioxide. Still the sphere maintained its form and shape and showed no signs of deterioration. It was determined, short of exact analysis, that the metal is a crude amalgam comprised mainly of stainless steel and titanium.

"Then our scientists opened the container and found some of the crudest, most elementary radio equipment imaginable. It also contained some other gear that seemed to be sensing equipment.

"The scientists, going back into dusty archives and long-forgotten records, decided it was an amateur attempt to counterfeit the earliest kinds of radio equipment and electronic gear developed on this planet eons ago. The one surprising thing was that knowledge of this primitive gear had survived through the generations and that someone had been able to reproduce it rather faithfully.

"THE INVESTIGATORS decided to write it off as an attempt to hoax the rural population by contriving a pseudo-scientific device and then leaving it in a spot where it could be 'discovered' by a wide-eyed rustic. They were inclined to write it off as the brainchild of some backward college students.

"But after further investigation, they declined to attribute such a rudimentary production to young men on the college level. Instead, they feel it was the work of boys in high school, or possible precocious youngsters in grade school.

"They seem to be the direct lineal descendants of those fellows hundreds of years ago who concocted disc-shaped objects, called them 'flying saucers' and set the populace astir by tossing them around the countryside.

"Boys will be boys, as the old Venusian saying goes. But this hoax was hardly up to par, fellows. Better luck next time!"

You And The Law

Parking or stopping in a no parking" zone can be a lot more expensive than just the cost of a parking ticket.

Not finding a parking space on the street makes it very tempting to use "no parking" zones when you are in a hurry.

Suppose you want to work at the drugstore to pick up a prescription on the way home from work? You have driven around the block twice and the nearest parking lot is a good three blocks away. You figure it will only take a minute to run in and pick up the prescription. So you stop in the no parking zone on the corner in front of the store.

TRUE, IF you're fast enough, you might get back to your car before it is tagged, but you're still taking an awful chance. What if someone stopping for the intersection pulls out into the other street and is hit by another car?

He might well contend that he couldn't see the oncoming traffic because your car blocked his view. Chances are that you will be defending a suit in court. If the fact that your car was parked illegally is found to have caused the accident, you will probably have to pay damages.

The same could happen if a pedestrian steps out into traffic and is struck because he couldn't see around your car.

It is better to take your time and walk a few blocks than to risk the consequences of blocking a zone which for safety reasons should be kept clear.

The Verse Box

There's nothing new
Beneath the blue . . .
'Tis difficult to conceive
Garb more brief
Than the skimpy leaf
That mini-skirted Eve.

Beatniks today
Think beards are gay —
They're now a way-out fad;
They can't compare
To the bunch of hair
That guys like Moses had.

Jackets, bright,
Are fashion's height —
In yellow, red and blue —
Such a coat before
Young Jacob wore
In a variegated hue.

Vietnam is not
A peaceful spot;
Each day the battle thickens;
When Saul was king
'Twas quite the thing
Ta fight to beat the dickens.

The race in space
Proceeds apace,
With progress sure and steady;
We're wasting time,
The nursery rhyme
Puts a cow up there already.

Our arms today
Retain at bay
Proponents of aggression;
Samson fought alone
With an ass's bone —
(You will pardon the expression.)

The food fad fellow
Waxes mellow
On sunflower seeds and air;
Locusts were what
John the Baptist got
On his exciting bill of fare.

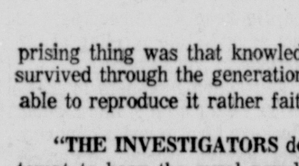

If you are swept
By a new concept,
Don't rush to take full credit —
Back along the line
The chance is fine
Some prior dope has said it!

Barbs

News from Paris has it that the (a-hem) hemline is going to drop several inches. That will bring the curtain down on a great deal of comment, as well as scenery.

To describe the lunch hour pastime here as a nice, friendly game of cards is a contradiction in terms.

Neighbor of ours has no interest in horses, though he has a nag at home.

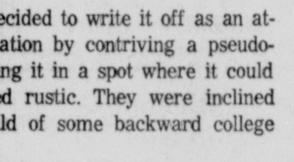

It pays to get a haircut every week. Just ask the barber.

For breakfast, we like fruit, cereal, eggs, bacon, toast and coffee. We get coffee.

In our future: food packages which can be eaten, thus disposing of the disposal problem. We can think of at least one cereal that tastes as though they're already trying to dispose of old-style boxes INSIDE the package.

Some businessmen buy check - writing devices, others marry them.

Our art director has found a new way to punish the help.

Bad-boy-of-the-day is ordered to illustrate this feature.

There's only one thing to do with a poison-pen letter: toss it into the insinuatur.

What with rising prices and one thing and another, the fine, old art of penny - pinching has given way to quarter-squeezing.

FOOD FAVORITES

Wintertime means party-time, and for a stunning finale to a variety of menus, Mrs. Alice M. Bowers of Summit Ln. offers a Spanish recipe:

Platanos Al Ron (Bananas in Rum Sauce)

8 small bananas, cut in half, lengthwise
1 cup of brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
pinch of powdered cloves
pinch of powdered ginger
8 tbls. butter
1 small can crushed pineapple
¼ cup dark sweet rum, heated.

Roll bananas in the sugar, which has been blended with the spices. Saute in butter until browned and sugar begins to caramelize. Place in layers in a shallow casserole or decorative skillet that can be brought to the table, sprinkling more of the sugar-spice mixture over each layer, but saving out 2 tablespoons.

Pour the crushed pineapple with its syrup over the bananas, add the reserved sugar mixture. Place in oven preheated to 350 until top begins to caramelize. Remove from oven, spoon heated rum over top, lighting rum. Carry flaming to table. Serves four.

Clippers Amass Over 400 Yards

COLUMBIANA — Ohio's 10th ranked Class A team, Columbiana, continued among the unbeaten by rolling to a 48-0 victory over Tri-County League foe Sebring here Friday night.

The Clippers amassed 361 yards on the ground to crush the visitors, who did not threaten during the 48 minutes. Columbiana held Sebring to only seven yards rushing.

Dave Morris scored twice for the Clippers on runs of 13 and 12 yards while four other backs and a lineman accounted for the remainder of the scoring.

George Lynn, a defensive end blocked a punt and raced 20 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Gary Schmidt opened the scoring in the first period by taking a 15-yard pass from Bill Gela for the tally. Bill Ward went 17 for a score, Gary Gregg went over from five yards out and John Savage completed the seven-touchdown barrage on a 10-yard jaunt.

Bob Hum actually kicked six straight placements. After putting five through the uprights his sixth attempt was foiled by a bad snap from center.

The loss left Sebring with a 2-5 record.

Fumbling Oak Glen Falls To Salem

Oak Glen lost the ball on fumbles five times and was held to a minus 17 yards on the ground as Salem blanked the Golden Bears, 26-0, Friday night at Newell.

The loss was fifth in seven starts for Coach Bob Starkey's club while Salem registered its fourth win against two losses and a tie.

Mike Love and Ken Kenst provided all the scoring for the visiting Quakers cashing in for two each.

Salem moved in front early in the first quarter by driving to the eight yard line where Love went the remaining distance for the six pointer.

Early in the second period, Kenst concluded another sustained drive by going over from the two. In the last minute of the first half, Salem had moved in front 19-0 after Kenst took a 31 yard pass from Scott Cody.

Love cracked over from the one in the third period to wrap up the scoring.

While Oak Glen was held to minus yardage on the ground, quarterback Vic Reed, subbing for the injured Craig Whittington, who is out for the remainder of the season, hit on 10 of 19 passes for 114 yards, but the Bears never made a serious scoring threat.

Salem picked up 144 yards rushing and 65 in the air but was setback 90 yards in penalties.

Oak Glen will travel to Cumberland, Md. for a Saturday game next week.

WVU Outbreak Linked To Contaminated Ice

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Contaminated ice has been blamed for the outbreak of nausea, vomiting and diarrhea after the West Virginia University - Virginia Military Institute football game at Morgantown, W. Va. Sept. 23.

About 740 students and fans became sick during a 72-hour period after the game.

The National Communicable Disease Center here said Friday it had traced the illness to contaminated ice shipped into Morgantown from out of state.

The center said the ice was used in soft drinks sold at the game.

Yastrzemski Salary Seen At $100,000

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, baseball's newest superstar, says his 1968 contract for an estimated $100,000 is a dream come true.

"This is the kind of figure I always dreamed about as a boy," the slugging outfielder who wed the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant said at the signing ceremonies Friday.

The Red Sox, in keeping with club policy, did not make any formal disclosure of the figure But General Manager Dick O'Connell said the contract "makes Carl one of the best paid players in Red Sox history." And most guesses were that his estimated $45,000 salary for 1967 was upped to the $100,000 bracket for the new one-year pact.

Owner Tom Yawkey was beaming with pleasure as he joked with Yastrzemski and talked to writers at the signing ceremonies.

"There is no measuring what Carl meant to us and to New England baseball this year," Yawkey said. ". . .Carl did things for us this year that other players could not do."

Some of the things Yastrzemski did included winning the Triple Crown by leading the league in batting at .326 and runs batted in with 121 and tying Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew in homers with 44. He also played spectacularly in left field all season, making numerous brilliant catches and throwing runners out at the plate in several key situations.

Official 'Tackled,' Suffers Broken Hip

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — George Dresmich, supervising principal of South Fayette School District, suffered a broken hip Friday night while officiating the Washington - Trinity High School football game.

Dresmich was injured early in the first quarter when he became entangled with three players during a tackle. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh in good condition.

Tennessee wingback Richmond Flowers comes from Montgomery, Ala.

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

THE WEATHER MAY not be the best in many respects, but the duck hunters love it.

The season opened Tuesday and hunters in Columbiana County have made a pretty good showing.

Most of the waterfowl have been shot in the area of Guilford Lake and the surrounding marshes.

The hunters scored heavily the first day, taking several teal and mallards, although a few blacks and woodies also were shot.

Some hunters have been having a fair amount of luck "jump" hunting along the creeks in the county. Ducks will seek out quiet little pools along streams to feed and rest. Hunters quietly move along the creek, shooting them as they flush.

The only disadvantage is collecting your kill. Sometimes the birds fall in the swift water and must be followed downstream to where the water is shallow enough to recover them.

Don't forget a federal duck stamp must be secured along with a regular hunting license.

GROUSE HUNTING has been very good, although the rain the past few days has dampened the enthusiasm of most nimrods.

Grouse will sit very tight during wet weather. But don't get the idea they won't move at all. Grouse still feed daily, unless it is extremely windy and rainy.

There is one slight advantage to hunting grouse in wet weather. You can move quieter through the woods, and the birds, as I said before, are less inclined to fly. If you know the cover, you sometimes can get up very close before they take off. This gives you a little better shot.

Study this bird and its habits as you are hunting, it will make future hunts more productive.

CRACK SHOT. Don Raber, 14, won a rifle tournament held by the Columbiana Boy Scout Council at the Salem Hunt Club.

Don, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Raber of Hess Rd., RD 1, is a member of Troop 12 of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

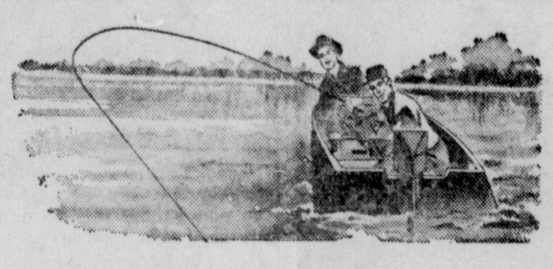

Bennett Taylor, left, scout executive, presents a trophy to Don Raber of East Liverpool for winning the Boy Scout rifle championship held at Salem.

Others participating in the finals were Bud Weekley of Wellsville Troop 20, Dave Haney of East Liverpool Troop 7, Edward Cyrus of Columbiana Troop 18 and Dennis Henthorn of Lisbon Troop 95.

Don recieved a trophy from Bennett Taylor, scout executive.

MUSKIE FISHING continues to be good in the state. Ed Bradley, fish management supervisor for District III, says six muskies have been taken in the past month at Deer Creek Reservoir. They ranged from almost 10 pounds to 26 pounds.

Pymatuning has recorded the heaviest muskie this year. It was 50½-inches and weighed 30½ pounds.

Leesville holds the record for the most caught with 40.

Clendening and Mogadore also have produced some nice ones.

Ed says there are several lakes where northern pike are being taken. They are Findley Lake in Lorain County, Aquilla Lake in Geauga, Hinckley Lake in Medina and Mimisila Reservoir in Summit.

Walleyes have been biting good at Berlin Reservoir,

Lake Milton, Mosquito, Tappan and Pymatuning. The water temperatures are running from 58 to 61 degrees.

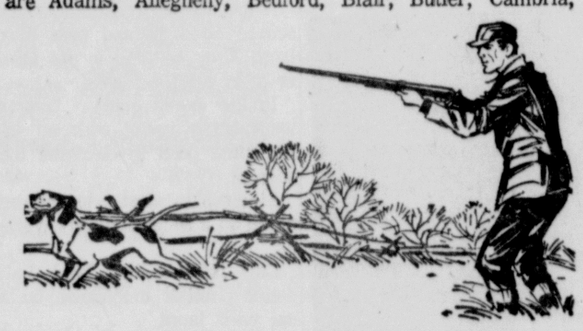

Construction work has started at Mosquito in the Miller Bay area. An earthen fill was made across the bay to control the water level for channel improvement.

About 10 acres of water was trapped in the bay, along with the fish. The area was pumped, and wildlife personnel removed 37 largemouth bass from 6 to 22 inches, 3 walleyes from 10 to 18 inches, a few crappies and some carp. Shad accounted for approximately 90 per cent of the fish netted.

DOE LICENSES. Thirty-seven counties in Pennsylvania still have antlerless deer licenses for sale. All other counties report their allocation has been sold.

The Game Commission allocated a total of 445,400 antlerless licenses for the state.

Beaver County is one of those with doe licenses. Others are Adams, Allegheny, Bedford, Blair, Butler, Cambria, Cameron, Centre, Chester, Clinton, Crawford, Delaware, Erie, Fayette, Fulton, Greene, Jefferson, Lancaster, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Mifflin, Montgomery, Montour, Northumberland, Pike, Potter, Snyder, Somerset, Susquehanna, Tioga, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming and York.

THE SALE of resident hunting licenses in Beaver County last year totaled 16,826, up only three over the previous year.

But, the sale of non-resident licenses jumped from 1,209 in 1965 to 1,329 last year.

The total resident licenses in the state jumped from 899,301 in 1965 to 931,239 last year. Non-resident licenses totaled 62,654, up from the 54,364 reported in 1965.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS TAKE NOTE. The word out is there are more squirrels in Pennsylvania than ever before. Squirrels are abundant throughout the commonwealth and — get this — "are probably the most underharvested of small game animals."

Field reports also indicate there are more waterfowl available this year than in the recent past. Grouse and woodcock populations are about the same.

SQUIRREL SEASON is still in and some hunters are still getting a few.

Bass were hitting real good in Beaver Creek until the weather got cool. If it warms up again, give it a try.

Yellow perch were btiing at Lake Erie last weekend.

Striped bass fishing in the Delaware River in Pennsylvania is continuing at a fast clip. Veteran fishermen are predicting the action may continue until late November.

It's time to start gathering nuts. There seems to be a very good supply of walnuts this year. The only trouble is removing the hulls.

Stamps In The News

MORE and more stamp collectors are becoming concerned about protecting their stamp investments. Many are interested in utilizing an insurance program that will be reasonable and effective.

To help such individuals, the Society of Philatelic Americans — one of the leading stamp collecting societies in this country — has offered low-cost insurance to its members and chapters for many years. With the increasing demand for broader coverage, SPA has taken steps to offer a new policy to cover members anywhere in the world (excepting Iron Curtain countires) for as little as $25 for a three-year policy.

Present members of the SPA, or new members, may get all the facts by writing to the SPA Executive Secretary Stewart Bailey, P.O. Box 266, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202.

MIDLAND HIGH SCHOOL'S new mascot was on the sidelines Friday night, watching the Leopard football team play Rochester to a 20-20 tie. Underneath all that Leopard skin is Sharon Clark, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark of Midland Heights.

The Younger Set

The first six-weeks grading period is fini (what awful truths do the report cards hold?), the trees have done a quick but colorful shedding job, and — Holy Pumpkin Holes! — its almost time for Halloween.

The gang around the district has been kept busy with the many activities now crowding school calendars, and bracing for upcoming events.

Correspondents helping out on this column, by the way, include Diane Adams at Southern Local, Sandra Doak of Southside, Cathy Daniels and Nadine Bomestar of Western Beaver.

If you have any tips, news, items of happenings which others might be interested in, tell the gang! They'll get it to us.

Patricia Wyche, East Liverpool, Cindy Carnes, Beaver Local.

HOMECOMING WAS HAPPY at Southern Local for Susan Corbin, senior, who was chosen to reign as queen for the festivities. The black-haired, brown-eyed Susan played the role very well . . . The S. L. French class got the latest diplomatic dope from the chancellor of the French embassy during a visit at Steubenville College where he gave a lecture last week . . .

ENGLISH students are also fortunate on getting firsthand information about the foreign scene from Miss Josephine Shaff who spent six weeks in Europe last year and two weeks in Hawaii just before the start of this school term. THAT SHINY LOOK around the halls is from the new junior class rings which were delivered last week. CHEERLEADER tryouts are slated Oct. 30 for the basketball season. Basketball season? Wow, how time fugits . . .

BEAVER LOCAL MYSTERY. Where are Dick Blatchford's shoes? The latest Key Club project was painting the goal posts at the football field, and when Dick, club secretary, finished the job, he left his shoes at the field. There was a grid game that night, and the Blatchford footwear hasn't been seen since . . . HOMECOMING preparations are underway for the Oct. 28 game and blast. Reservations for flowers and tables at the dance are being sold by juniors, traditional sponsors of the event. HAPPY BIRTHDAY. Each month the home economics class plans, prepares and serves a luncheon for those members of the class who have observed birthday's during that month.

A PIZZA PARTY was held at Western Beaver Wednesday to honor 11 top salesmen in the junior class magazine drive; Sam Rudman was No. 1 and earned a tapeplayer. MELANIE ENGLE received plenty of congratulations (deserved) for her selection as first runnerup in the Beaver County Junior Miss pageant. "CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN" will be on stage in November with an all-school cast for which tryouts were held this week. SENIORS were honored for band service at Friday's game.

SPOOK SOCIAL. A Halloween party is planned for the Midland High band after the annual parade Oct. 31. Special dress for the majorettes will include black slacks, orange sweatshirts and tams. Each member is allowed one guest . . . PLANS FOR A SPANISH Club are under way . . . HOW ABOUT those colored fishnet stockings the gals are sporting? . . . RODIS yearbook staff is busy working on pictures for the annual publication . . .

SOUTHSIDE'S FIRST HOMECOMING was a real swinger, with the "Soul Patrol" playing the latest in sounds. The game was a success, and even though the Oakdale Boys School came out losers, they apparently enjoyed the trip — most spent the game photographing the Southside gals and ignoring the score . . . HOW ABOUT THE neat VW bus a certain teacher has been sporting? Next time you need transportation for band instruments, paper drives, look her up . . . EYE FOR EYE. Hookstown ministers are enforcing a new rule — "If you can't pray in school, then you can't do homework in church . . ."

SPRING FEVER. A few impatient seniors at East Liverpool High have already started counting the days before school is over for them. Blackboards are chalked with the numbers of "senior days" left; sorry, people, you've got a looonngg wait . . . A MUSIC theory class will be started at ELHS by Mr. Don Adams, band director, who will offer new ideas and old methods for about 15 students after regular school hours. He rates a pat on the back for helping make better musicians of instrumental and vocal students. A-T-T-E-N-T-I-O-N! A girl's drill team has been organized at ELHS to keep the ROTC boys company. Now, instead of bussing your gal, you salute her . . . and don't dare try a hug — you may be court-martialed.

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH. Wellsville High students had a taste of Barnum & Bailey Monday when the annual circus sponsored by the Hammond Park Commission was held at the school gym. Jugglers, trapeze artists, unicyclists, horsemen, the works . . . Too bad "running away with the circus" isn't fashionable any more . . .

BAND GRADES. You get a grade now in band at Tigertown since band is no longer an elective — due to the curriculum cutbacks — and members are tested as in a regular class. Now we can understand why so many marches are in the key of A rather than F or D . . .

WHIZ KIDS. Lisbon High School students who use the reading machine in the principals office soon read at a gallop and get the message too. Some have doubled their reading speed. LHS juniors who operate the hot sandwich oven at noon sold 1,026 sandwiches in September for a profit of $74.40. That's prom money! The special education class taught by Robert Ashton has its own TV set — the only one at LHS — to watch National Education Television programs on Channel 13. Sharie Joseph, LHS freshman, will compete Nov. 5 in a district baton twirloff at Mogadore. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Joseph of Lisbon RD 5, Sharie won a trophy two weeks ago in novice class competition at Niles.

CLEAN CARS. Area residents will have a chance to get an auto wash for a nominal fee when Kent State Center's students hold a wash marathon next Saturday at the M.A. parking lot.

FOUR-DAY WEEK. Lucky Hancock County kids got Thursday and Friday off this week as a result of faculty meetings held the two days.

School Who's Who

President of Southern Local High School's Student Council is Jay Clapsaddle whose interests range from the school newspaper to the gridiron.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clapsaddle of Salineville, Jay, a senior, is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Junior Classical League and Blue and Gold staff, is co-editor of the "Warrior," and is on the football, basketball and track teams.

He plans to enter the College of Engineering at Ohio State University following graduation in the spring.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I happen to be what we call "In-the-Navy."

Why we Swabs read your column, I'll never know! But when we hit port and do pick it up you'd be surprised how much we can use, no only in port but on board ship.

Here's a hint we use on board ship that some of your mothers might be able to utilize:

When we wash and dry our dungarees, instead of ironing them, we lay them out flat on our bunks and smooth them with our hands. Then fold'em across at the knee so that the bottom of the legs touch about where the pockets start.

All you have to do next is to give it about a two-inch foldover at the knee again, then start rolling and roll the dungarees from the knee up to the top of the waistband.

This will give you a nice tight roll that is easily stored. Since we don't have much closet space, we put these in stacks. By the time we get ready to wear them, they have ironed themselves!

SEAMAN.

Now, gals, I didn't believe this until I tried it. I did and it absolutely works.

The blue jean manufacturers tell us that a blue jean should be folded the way they come when you purchase them. They say that jeans are not supposed to have a crease down the front at all.

But it certainly doesn't take the patience of Job to use this Seaman's method. I think we mothers would save ourselves many hours by using Whether you fold them with a crease in the knees or sideways like the manufacturer suggests, makes no difference. This sailor's method works in both instances.

I say, "Three cheers for the Navy." And thanks, "Mister Seaman."

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: As most teen-agers like to hang things on the wall in their rooms, I have a suggestion of how to save those walls from the numerous marks left by tape, tacks, etc.

Find a sheet of thick wallpaper, material or wrapping paper as large as you like and possibly in a color to go with the room. Then thumb tack it to the wall and have them tape their pictures to this.

Saves many marred places on the wall and can always be replaced with a fresh sheet when this one becomes soiled or torn.

-:-

Saves the price of a bulletin board, too!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My sons all hate to wrap gifts, so I begin early to cover all size boxes with Christmas wrapping paper.

Throughout the year we hoard all bows that come on gifts.

When Christmas comes, all they have to do is find the right size box, tape it closed and stick on a bow . . .

A HELOISE ADDICT.

DEAR HELOISE: After having considerable trouble getting a layer cake out of the pans in one piece, this is what I did:

Cut extra tabs (two to four) on the edges of the waxed paper I lined the pans with. The tabs extended up the sides of the pans.

After the cake was baked, I gently pulled on the tabs and the cake came right out all in one piece. And when it was turned over onto the rack, the paper came off easily.

I have no more trouble since I've been using this method.

MRS. BETHANY NELSON.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: If only I could wish and have a wish come true, it would be — that I could pick up the phone and say — "Daddy, MY kids are driving me crazy . . . HOW did you stand US?" . . .

NEW MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep a young child covered in bed, use the length of the top sheet or first blanket from side to side.

When it is turned across the bed, there is plenty to tuck in on each side and still cover his feet.

ANDREE.

Midland Area News

Mrs. Charles McClure 643-1130

Open house will be held Nov. 9 from 7-9 p.m. at the Midland 1st St. School, Mrs. William Hulme, president, has announced.

Hostesses named at a meeting of the school's Parent - Teacher Association Thursday afternoon are Mrs. Hulme, Mrs. William Cornwell, vice president, Mrs. Lorenzo McCauley, secretary, Mrs. Ann Davis, treasurer, and Mrs. Phillip Taylor, historian.

Mrs. Helen Bradfield gave the invocation.

A membership report revealed 76 members have joined the PTA. The drive will conclude Nov. 7.

Mrs. Cornwell introduced Beaver County Judge James E. Rowley of the Common Pleas Court who spoke on "Children and the Law."

Mrs. Taylor announced Halloween treats will be given out at a party for those in kindergarten through grade three on Oct. 31. Mrs. Michael Caffro of the Ways and Means committee reported on the progress of a home products sale.

School Supt. Charles P. Henderson spoke briefly. Mrs. Susan Vines played the piano for the singing of "America" led by Mrs. Irene Steinacker who also led the salute to the flag.

Mrs. Hulme closed the meeting with a poem. The hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Joseph Coratto and Mrs. Victor Gutierrez served refreshments.

The literary staff will be announced by Francis Lamberson, sponsor.

Birthday Party Held

Mrs. Marie Sentz, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sentz of 312 Midland Ave., was honored at a birthday party given Monday by Mrs. Howard Eckles, a relative, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Donatella. Twenty attended. Mrs. Eckles baked a large birthday cake for Lisa.

Lisbon Area News

Mrs. Ray Alexander 424-5674

LISBON — Gamma Zeta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority met at the home of Mrs. Felix Rutecki of the Columbiana Rd. Thursday night, with members of Beta Lambda Chapter of Leetonia and Mrs. Mark Manning and Miss Bonnie Swogger of Lisbon among the guests.

"It's the Fashion Doll" was the program topic presented by Miss Joy Washburn of Columbus, a member of the Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., public relations department.

With nine dolls, attired in authentic costumes of the past and the 10th dressed in 1967 style of synthetics made of natural gas, Miss Washburn related how women's fashions and natural gas have had paralleling histories.

She was introduced by Mrs. James Kennedy, social chairman.

The chapter members plan to attend the "Christmas Through the House" program sponsored by the Lisbon Business and Professional Women's Club" Nov. 9 at the First Methodist Church and later meet at the home of Mrs. William Langsdale of E. High St.

Chapter Holds Work Session

Seventeen members of Gamma Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha attended a special meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Adomitis of E. Pine St.

Mrs. Reinhold Rankis, philanthropic project chairman, was in charge of the work session — making of cancer bandages for the Columbiana County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

"Buttons and Paperweights" will be the program topic for the next meeting Nov. 2, with Mrs. O. Dail Mason of Columbiana Rd. serving as hostess and program leader.

D. of A. Group Meets

Mrs. Mildred McCord, councilor of Pride of Center Council 190, Daughters of America, presided at the meeting Thursday night when plans were made to serve Kiwanis luncheons during November and December.

Prizes for games and cards were awarded Mrs. Olive Scott, Miss Laura McKee, Mrs. Mildred Hiscox and Mrs. Ora Coen.

A coverdish dinner will preceded next Thursday's meeting in honor of Mrs. Hiscox, district deputy.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were William B. Hagen of Hanoverton, $40, speeding; Thomas S. Romano of Malvern, $30, speeding, and Helen F. Young of Perrysville, $15, failure to yield the right - of - way.

Belated Report Filed On $1,890 Fur Theft

A belated report was filed Friday at police headquarters on theft of two fur pieces worth a total of $1,890 Monday at the Metz Fur Co. store at 118 W. 5th St.

The cryptic report said the two garments were stolen from the store between 4 and 5 p.m. The missing articles were listed as a natural mink stole worth $995 and a light natural mink stole valued at $895.

Carl and Mary Metz of Highland Dr., Calcutta, were listed as owners of the store. The record indicated the report was filed by the store management Monday, although it was not made public until yesterday.

Spanish and Portuguese are the two languages most prevalent in South America.

Moore Proposes Wiretapping Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to legalize court - authorized wire-tapping has been introduced in the House by Rep. Arch A. Moore, R-W.Va.

Moore, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said Wednesday that the bill is "essential to combat the growing national crisis created by serious crime."

Wiretap evidence currently is not admissable in court, and the means of securing it is a federal offense.

President Coolidge signed a special act of Congress making the U.S. Navy Band an official part of the Navy on March 4, 1925.

Potters Bury Ferry 46-0; McVay Scores 24 Points

Musuraca Runs For 97 Yards

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A hapless Martins Ferry team proved no match for the East Liverpool Potters Friday night at Ferry, with the Potters rolling up a 40-0 halftime lead and coasting to a 46-0 win.

Coach Bob McNea used his second team part of the second period and the regulars saw very little action in the entire second half of the lopsided encounter. EL is now 5-1 on the year and the home team 0-7. The Purple Riders have lost 23 in a row.

Mike McVay scored 24 points for the winners, although he ran from scrimmage just twice for a net of five yards. But he scored twice within 16 seconds on a pass from Earl Diddle and an interception return. His other TD came on a 72-yard punt return.

A ferocious East Liverpool defense kept Ferry from penetrating closer than 43 yards from paydirt, and repeatedly spilled sophomore quarterback Sam Twardowski for losses. Bill Hopper, Mike Jackson, McVay and Ray (Zeb) Boyd all nailed Twardoski at one time or another. The only thing resembling a drive for the losers was late in the first period when they went from their own 27 to the Potter 43 before being pushed back. Twardoski twice hit Rich Weiskircher with first down passes on the drive.

The only offensive threat for Pete Barren's club was Don Bruney, who gained 65 yards in 15 tries. Weiskircher gained 126 yards by returning all seven Potter kickoffs.

Jim Musuraca and Bill Jones both had their best games of the season for the winners. Musuraca carried 11 times for 97 yards and Jones 10 times for 62 yards. In addition, their blocking gave Earl Diddle enough protection that he was never hit while attempting to pass and was able to gain 29 yards on four carries himself.

Overall, EL netted 349 yards on the ground, with reserves getting plenty. Herb Purton racked up 72 yards in just six carries, Al Parson had 33 in two, Jackson 19 in two and Dan Cunningham 19 in eight. The Christian brothers shone in the pass receiving department, Bruce hauling in one for 50 yards and Jerry catching two, for a total of 20 yards and a TD. Cunningham hit Mike Jackson on a 55-yard pass play for an apparent TD in the closing seconds, but the play was called back because of an offensive holding penalty. Two other Potter scores were called back by penalties, but on both those ocassions the powerful Potter offensive machine went in to score on the same series. In all, East Liverpool had 174 yards in gains called back because of penalties.

East Liverpool never had to kick and was not held on downs until 1:25 remained in the third period.

The first Potter drive of the game was thwarted by a clipping penalty, which nullified a 24-yard run to the 10 by Diddle, and an interception on the 28 by Tom Jones. One play later John Johnson intercepted for the visitors, and the Potters marched 64 yards in seven plays for the score, with Jones bulling up the middle for the final nine yards. A 40-yard end run by Musuraca was the big gain of the drive.

On the last play of the first period Ferry was forced to kick and McVay got it on his 28, shook off two tacklers as he ran along the 30, and then turned upfield behind a perfect blocking wall to go the rest of the way untouched.

The next time the Potters got the ball Diddle passed to Bruce Christian in the clear, but the rangy end was caught from behind on the 10 after a 50-yard gain. A pass was seemingly complete to Tom Chambers in the end zone, but offensive interference was called and Diddle was forced to fourth down before passing to McVay for the TD.

Sixteen seconds later, on the first play following the kickoff, McVay grabbed a Twardoski pass in the flat and ambled in for another score.

Before the half ended, Jones broke over right guard for 37 yards to paydirt, but an offside penalty nullified that run. Purton went 32 yards to the 11 and carried twice more for the score. The drive was 60 yards in 13 plays.

The final score came after a 66-yard, 13-play drive to open the second half. The running of Jones and Musuraca featured the march, and Cunningham hit Jerry Christian on the 3 and then in the end zone. After this the regulars played no more and neither team could move the ball consistently.

Friday night the Potters host Boardman.

Vanlier Scores 20 Points

Rochester And Midland Tie In Last 17 Seconds, 20-20

Rochester battled with the clock twice and won to tie Midland 20-20 Friday night on the Midland gridiron.

The contest saw Midland standout Dave Vanlier score all 20 points for the Leopards on three touchdowns and two conversion runs.

Rochester tied the game with only 17 seconds remaining when Dick Hogue took a 16 yard scoring pass from Jim Mattern. The touchdown tied the game at 20-20 but Midland turned back Rochester's extra point attempt when Larry Kunder was stopped short of the goal.

Rochester also won a battle with the clock in the closing seconds of the first half when Charles Willis took a 27 yard pass from Mattern to put the Rams in front 7-0 at halftime.

Midland stormed back to score six points in the third quarter when Vanlier ran six yards to paydirt. Early in the fourth quarter of the ding-dong affair, Midland went to the lead 13-7 when Vanlier raced 10 yards.

Rochester stormed right back and went ahead 14-13 when Clark Good ran nine yards for the score. Vanlier put Midland on top again with a three yard TD run then added the extra point for a 20-14 margin in the closing minutes.

Midland showed a 17-8 edge in first downs and allowed Rochester only 11 yards rushing.

Both teams depended on an air attack as Mattern completed 12 of 34 for 177 yards and Midland's Jack Campbell hit 13 of 27 for 178 yards. The Leopards had 94 yards rushing.

The tie left Midland with a 2-3-2 record while Rochester stands at 2-4-1.

Lisbon Blue Devils Rally, Nip Beaver Local 15-14

LISBON — The Lisbon Blue Devils continued pulling late victories from the fire as Beaver Local was the latest victim, 15-14 here Friday night.

Bud Bucher's team has been winning the close ones all season and Friday was no different as Lisbon picked up its sixth win in seven starts. The winning touchdown and conversion came with 5:53 remaining.

With Lisbon trailing 14-8 Gary Toot took an eight yard scoring pass from Randy Muntean to tie the game at 14-14 and then the versatile Muntean booted the winning point.

Toot had set up the winning TD by intercepting a Beaver Local pass on the Beavers' 40 yard line.

Muntean had a hand in all the Lisbon scoring as he tallied the first touchdown in the third quarter and then ran for the two-point conversion.

Beaver Local opened the scoring in the second period when Klembara went two yards to paydirt and ran for the two-point conversion.

After Lisbon tied the count in the third period Beaver Local went in front 14-8 when Rex Campbell took a 13-yard TD pass from Klembara.

The loss left Coach Don Ross' Beavers with a 3-4 record.

Western Beaver Blanked, Eliminated From Class B

The Western Beaver Golden Beavers were eliminated from WPIAL Class B contention last night, dropping a 21-0 decision to the unbeaten Crafton Cougars at Crafton.

End Al Pooley scored twice for the winners, once on an end-around play and once on a pass from quarterback Ray Marshall. Wayne Mathias rambled 32 yards for the other score. He was the top ballcarrier in the game with 83 yards in 16 attempts.

End Jimmy Wilson starred for Dan Sekeres' team, grabbing six passes for 50 yards and picking off a Crafton pass, once of only two Marshall aerials that did not find their targets.

The Golden Beavers made two drives against the tough Crafton defense, to the 27 after the third Cougar TD and to the 1-foot-line as time ran out to end the game.

Next Saturday the Golden Beavers, now 4-3, face the South Side Rams at Midland at 8 p.m.

Minerva Tops Bulldogs, Walker Scores 3 TDs

MINERVA — Minerva scored a touchdown in each period to turn back East Palestine, 24-14, for its third Tri - County League victory in four starts.

Terry Walker cashed in for three touchdowns including the last two which pulled Minerva from a 14-12 deficit to victory.

Minerva led 12-8 at halftime but East Palestine drew first blood in the second half as Joe Lewis went 39 yards for a touchdown on a third and 22 situation to put the Bulldogs in front, 14-12.

A few moments later, Walker scored on a 76-yard pass play from Andy Battisio to put Minerva in front for good.

In the fourth quarter Walker went three yards with an intercepted pass to conclude the scoring.

Minerva's first touchdown came on a 39-yard run by Walker.

Cliff Nash tallied East Palestine's initial touchdown on a six yard jaunt.

The loss was East Palestine's third against four victories. Minerva was 4-for-4 in the passing department including a 24-yarder from Battisio to Mike Kimlumco.

Red Strongman Sets Weightlifting Record

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Soviet strongman Ian Talts has given the Russians their 17th gold medal in the Pre Olympic Games with a world record performance in the weightlifting competition.

Talts bettered his own world mark in the clean and jerk event Friday night by hefting 428 pounds en route to the middle heavyweight title.

On a day devoid of competition in track and field or gymnastics, fans crowded into the theater where the lifting competition was held and saw Talts boost the Soviets' gold medal margin over the United States to 17-4.

Syracuse began the 1967 football season with 28 shutouts since 1949, when Coach Ben Schwrtzwalder arrived on the scene. The Orange has been blanked only seven times.

Kennedy Is Named Oakland Manager

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Now the hopefuls at the Oakland Athletics' winter instructional camp know why Bob Kennedy has been so interested in their progress.

The onetime head coach of the Chicago Cubs will be their manager if they make it to the major leagues when the Athletics move to Oakland next season.

Owner Charles Finley announced in Chicago Friday that he had signed Kennedy to a two-year contract, as the veteran watched the rookies work out near here.

Kennedy, a coach for the Atlanta Braves last season, was signed two weeks ago, but Finley held up the announcement until the American League had approved shifting the franchise from Kansas City.

Kennedy replaces Luke Appling who took over temporarily after Finley fired Alvin Dark following a rhubarb last August.

Watching the rookies work out, Kennedy called the Athletics "a promising club . . . with lots of young talent just waiting to grow into the job . . ."

In his 16-year major-league playing career Kennedy played for the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland, Baltimore, Detroit and the Dodgers. He had a lifetime batting average of .255 as a first baseman, third baseman and outfielder.

After managing Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League in 1962, Kennedy piloted the Chicago Cubs to seventh place in the National League in 1963 and eighth in 1964.

He managed Albuquerque in 1965 before joining the Braves as a coach last season.

Palmer On Bench In U.S. Match With Great Britain

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The great Arnold Palmer was on the bench when U.S. golf professionals went out to try to widen their 5½-2½ lead over the British today in the second phase of the 17th biennial Ryder Cup matches.

Palmer, one of the stars in America's strong start Friday in the two-ball foursomes, was surprisingly dropped from the line-up for the four morning four-ball tests although slated to return to action in the afternoon.

The decision was made by the strict U.S. captain, Ben Hogan, who didn't think it was necessary to give an explanation.

"He is not playing because I say so," Hogan told a news conference. "I am the captain and I say who plays."

A reporter asked if there were reasons.

"Yep," said Hogan.

"May I ask what they are?" the reporter pressed.

"You may ask, but I don't have to tell you," Hogan replied.

In addition to Palmer, the world's all-time leading money winner, Hogan also ordered the 47-year-old Julius Boros to sit out the morning matches.

The schedule was this: Bill Casper-Gay Brewer, United States, vs. Peter Alliss-Christy O'Connor, Britain; Bobby Nichols-Johnny Pott, United States, vs. Neil Coles-Bernard Hunt, Britain; Gene Littler - Al Geiberger, United States, vs. Dave Thomas-Tony Jacklin, Britain; Doug Sanders - Gardner Dickinson, United States, vs. Brian (Huggett - George) Will, Britain.

Four matches with revised line-ups follow in the afternoon. The series, which the United States has lost only three times in 40 years, ends with 26 singles tilts Sunday.

Palmer and Gardner Dickinson won two matches Friday, beating O'Connor and Alliss 2 and 1 and then trouncing young Malcolm Gregson and Hugh Boyle 5 and 4. Palmer made a fantastic shot out of the woods for the key shot of the morning match. Fine putting by Dickinson won the second.

Pott and Nichols also won two points, beating Hunt and Coles 6 and 5 and Alliss and O'Connor 2 and 1. The other U.S. full point came on a 1-up victory by Boros and Casper over Will and Huggett, who played the same pair to a standstill for a half in the morning.

Jacklin and Thomas were Britain's heroes, winning twice. They beat Sanders and Brewer 4 and 3 and Littler and Geiberger 3 and 2. Jacklin is Britain's 23-year-old rookie.

Fund Set Up To Aid Aged Won't Be Used

BOSTON (AP) — Before the days of Social Security and other programs to help the elderly, the Massachusttes Bequest Fund was initiated so persons could donate money to the state for disbursement to needy, elderly persons.

Now State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko doesn't think the fund will ever be used for its stated purpose. Buczko says funds rules state that there must be a cash balance of $500,000 before any payments can be made.

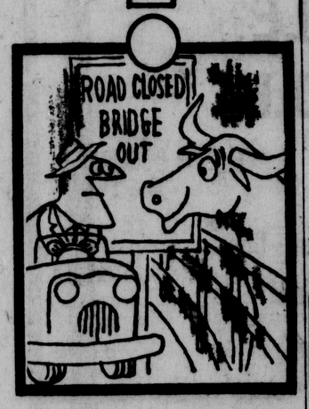

In the almost 40 years since the fund was established in 1928, only $1,979.01 has been donated. The fund now stands — with interest and all — at $5,678.86.

Royals Get Rodgers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Guy Rodgers, leading scorer with the Chicago Bulls last year, was obtained by the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association Friday night in a deal for Flynn Robinson.

Hong Kong's 398 square miles are so crowded that many neighborhood schools in the British Colony hold classes on the rooftops of buildings.

Operating Head Of Eagles Fired In Kuharich Rift

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A rift between Ed Snider and General Manager-Coach Joe Kuharich apparently is one of the reasons which provoked owner Jerry Wolman to fire Snider Thursday as operating head of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles.

The bitterness between Kuharich and Snider broke out during a news conference Friday night after Snider, Wolman and co-owner Earl Foreman met for 45 minutes and failed to resolve their dispute over Snider's dismissal.

Kuharich started the exchange when he needled Snider during the questioning. "I'm enjoying this," said the coach from his position behind newsmen.

The grim looking Snider snapped, "Maybe next time it will be your party Joe."

The repartee started when Foreman, executive vice president and secretary as well as a 48 per cent stockholder in the Eagles, disclosed that Snider had a 15-year contract with the club. Asked when it was dated, Foreman said he believed it was 1965.

Kuharich interrupted to say it was 1964, "the same year I got mine." Kuharich is in the fourth year of a 15-year contract.

Neither the 34-year-old Snider, nor Foreman, a Washington attorney, would say what caused the rift that prompted Wolman to fire his executive vice president and secretary. Wolman, who holds 52 per cent of the stock, also wasn't talking. They said they agreed not to discuss the matter with newsmen either on or off the record.

Ohio St., Northwestern Play In 'Misery Bowl'

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes faces a "'win or out'" situation when he brings his Buckeyes into Evanston, Ill., Saturday for a Big Ten battle with Northwestern.

A loss to the Wildcats would drop Ohio State (1-2) out of the conference race with more than half the season still to go.

One scribe earlier this week labeled the Buckeye - Wildcat affair the "'Misery Bowl" after both absorbed severe pastings last week. Purdue rocked Ohio 41-6 and Rice smacked Northwestern 50-6.

The Bucks will be without middle guard Dwight Fertig and it's doubtful whether his replacement, Vic Stottlemyer, will be ready.

THE WILDCATS are 3-1 after defeating Miami of Florida and losing to Missouri, Purdue and Rice.

Ohio, which has looked futile in its passing game, may use soph Kevin Rusnak at quarterback. Buck throwers have completed only 28 aerials in 75 attempts.

There are other headliners on an attractive 23-game football card involving Ohio schools.

Surging Toledo (2-1) takes on Western Michigan (3-0) in a night affair in the Glass Bowl with first place in the Mid-American Conference at stake.

Quarterback John Schneider, who riddled Bowling Green last week with his nifty passing, could give the Broncos fits. Western needs only two victories in three league games to claim at least a share of the MAC crown.

The other major Mid - Am clash is at Oxford where Miami entertains Ohio University. Both are 2-1 in the league and need a victory to keep their championship hopes alive.

The game could turn out to be a duel between Miami's Al Moore and Dick Conley of the Bobcats, the top two rushers in the league.

IN ANOTHER MAC game, Kent plays host to Bowling Green on homecoming day. The Golden Flashes have scored only 14 points in their last two setbacks while the Falcons have posted only six. A scoreless duel is in prospect.

Cincinnati, 1-0 in the Missouri Valley Conference, faces the awesome task of stopping Tulsa's Hurricanes on the road. Tulsa is averaging 50 points a game.

In others, speedy halfback Billy Mayo is Dayton's chief threat against visiting Temple; Wittenberg should make John Carroll its fifth straight victim; Ashland should cop its sixth in a row against Heidelberg; Akron pits its defense against the strong offense of Baldwin-Wallace and ambitious Capital challenges rugged Muskingum at New Concord in the top Ohio Conference game of the day.

The others:

Marietta at Otterbein; Denison at Oberlin; Mount Union at Hiram; Kenyon at Wooster; Bluffton at Defiance; Central Michigan at Central State; Wayne State at Adelbert; Case at Wilmington; Midwestern (Iowa) at Ohio Northern; Ohio Wesleyan at Wabash; Youngstown at Pensacola (Fla.) Navy; Xavier at Chattanooga (N) and Kent State at Findlay (N).

Youthful Driver Charged After Fleeing In Mishap

One driver was injured in a three - car mishap early today on E. 3rd St., one of two investigated during the night by East Liverpool police.

Ralph Sheets, 19, of N. Shady Ln. Dr. received treatment at Osteopathic Hospital and then was released.

Police said Sheets had stopped his car on E. 3rd St., about 40 feet west of the Walnut St. intersection, and was struck from behind by another auto operated by Ronald D. Bailey, 18, of 1748 Clark Ave., Wellsville, which received heavy damage.

Witnesses said Bailey then backed his car at a high rate of speed up Walnut St. to 4th St. and into a parked auto owned by Harry P. Judy of Stagecoach Rd. It too received heavy damage.

Then, according to witnesses, Bailey continued backing his auto on 4th St., across Broadway, Washington and Market Sts., coming to a halt in the 300 block of W. 4th St.

Patrolmen William Copestick and David Huffman reported Bailey jumped from his vehicle and ran between two houses heading toward 5th St. He tried to hide, but a search of the area was made and Huffman found the youth and returned him to the accident scene.

Several witnesses who chased Bailey said the car left a trail of water which aided in the search.

Bailey was cited for driving without an operator's license, reckless operation and leaving the scene of an accident.

The mishap occurred about 12:18 this morning.

A drifting auto caused the only other accident in the city.

William M. Jones of 2221 Harvey Ave. said he parked his car on Market St., about 30 feet north of Center Ln., and went to a football game, returning to find a car owned by Dave Shelton of 147 Pennsylvania Ave. had drifted into his vehicle.

William R. Ward of Gardendale Ave. was identified as the driver of the Shelton auto.

Damage was minor. No arrests were made.

Head-On Collision Seen Over Slash In Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A head-on collision between the Senate and House seems to be shaping up over cuts in government spending.

The Senate's Appropriations Committee erased from a House-passed resolution Friday a directive to President Johnson to reduce expenditures by $6 billion to $8 billion in the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

It also wiped out other spending restrictions the House had written into a resolution to provide temporary spending authority for government departments whose regular appropriations have not yet been voted by Congress.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, promptly predicted the House will stand firm, raising the prospect of a deadlock if the Senate backs up its Appropriations Committee.

The Senate committee approved, 16-4, a resolution that would simply extend until Nov. 15 the spending authority of departments whose 1967-68 appropriations are still pending.

This was a victory for the administration. But it was scored only after a spending cut proposal by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., failed on a 10-10 tie vote.

Mundt tried to write into the resolution a directive for a 5 per cent cut in all but defense expenditures and other appropriations required by law, such as interest on the national debt.

This would have forced a cutback of about $1 billion in spending in the current fiscal year, but individual items to be cut would have been left to the president's discretion. Mundt said he would carry the fight for his proposal to the Senate and predicted he would win.

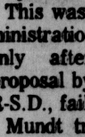

Mundt told a reporter refusal of the committee to approve any formula for reducing expenditures was "a gratuitous insult" to the House and could create "a hopeless situation."

But another member of the committee, Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said the "intolerable" House-passed resolution was an abdication to the President of Congress' responsibility for appropriations.

And other senators said the House's approach would give he President "a massive item veto" on appropriations voted by Congress.

The stopgap financing resolution approved by the committee is not expected to be taken up in the Senate until Tuesday, even though the spending authority of departments without any appropriated funds will expire at midnight Monday. While these departments will technically be penniless, Senate leaders foresaw no immediate crisis.

The first telephone line was installed between Boston and Somerville, Mass., in April of 1877.

Booster Club Given Report

Paul Clunk, chairman of the football advertising committee, reported less than $100 remains outstanding on program advertisements during a meeting of the Oak Glen Boosters Club Wednesday night at the high school.

Members discussed the subject and voted to send tear sheets of unpaid ads along with statements. The club thanked advertisers for their support in the 1967 program.

Because of a previous commitment, the coaches' smoker will not be held at the school, but details of the Nov. 11 event are nearing completion and two other locations are being considered.

Coach Robert Starkey reported he received an invoice for game films and requested the club continue this project as in past years. He said the films are valuable in reviewing the games with players. The club agreed to take the question under advisement until the Oct. 25 meeting.

Starkey said no films of Friday's win over Philip Barbour High can be shown since they were stolen from the fender of the photographer's car after the game. The club issued a plea for the film's return.

The team will be guests overnight of Allegheny High School players when it plays the Cumberland, (Md.) team Oct. 28.

Plans were discussed for the all-sports banquet to be held in the spring.

Complaints of members were aired concerning a parking problem at Clark Field in Newell. Residents behind the field have complained about parking on both sides of the narrow street, making it virtually impossible for fire trucks to get through during the game.

Some vehicles have completely blocked fire hydrants. Unauthorized vehicles near the football field make it nearly impossible for ambulances to leave and a near accident recently resulted, the club said. The club is investigating.

Barons Win 3-2

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Doug Senior banged in a shot at 3:52 of the overtime period Friday night to give the Cleveland Barons a 3-2 ice hockey victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

Tennessee has three quarterbacks behind senior Dewey Warren of Savannah, Ga.

Fumbling Oak Glen Falls To Salem

Oak Glen lost the ball on fumbles five times and was held to a minus 17 yards on the ground as Salem blanked the Golden Bears, 26-0, Friday night at Newell.

The loss was fifth in seven starts for Coach Bob Starkey's club while Salem registered its fourth win against two losses and a tie.

Mike Love and Ken Kenst provided all the scoring for the visiting Quakers cashing in for two each.

Salem moved in front early in the first quarter by driving to the eight yard line where Love went the remaining distance for the six pointer.

Early in the second period, Kenst concluded another sustained drive by going over from the two. In the last minute of the first half, Salem had moved in front 19-0 after Kenst took a 31 yard pass from Scott Cody.

Love cracked over from the one in the third period to wrap up the scoring.

While Oak Glen was held to minus yardage on the ground, quarterback Vic Reed, subbing for the injured Craig Whittington, who is out for the remainder of the season, hit on 10 of 19 passes for 114 yards, but the Bears never made a serious scoring threat.

Salem picked up 144 yards rushing and 65 in the air but was setback 90 yards in penalties.

Oak Glen will travel to Cumberland, Md. for a Saturday game next week.

Clippers Amass Over 400 Yards

COLUMBIANA — Ohio's 10th ranked Class A team, Columbiana, continued among the unbeaten by rolling to a 48-0 victory over Tri-County League foe Sebring here Friday night.

The Clippers amassed 361 yards on the ground to crush the visitors, who did not threaten during the 48 minutes. Columbiana held Sebring to only seven yards rushing.

Dave Morris scored twice for the Clippers on runs of 13 and 12 yards while four other backs and a lineman accounted for the remainder of the scoring.

George Lynn, a defensive end blocked a punt and raced 20 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Gary Schmidt opened the scoring in the first period by taking a 15-yard pass from Bill Gela for the tally. Bill Ward went 17 for a score, Gary Gregg went over from five yards out and John Savage completed the seven-touchdown barrage on a 10-yard jaunt.

Bob Hum actually kicked six straight placements. After putting five through the uprights his sixth attempt was foiled by a bad snap from center.

The loss left Sebring with a 2-5 record.

WVU Outbreak Linked To Contaminated Ice

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Contaminated ice has been blamed for the outbreak of nausea, vomiting and diarrhea after the West Virginia University - Virginia Military Institute football game at Morgantown, W. Va. Sept. 23.

About 740 students and fans became sick during a 72-hour period after the game.

The National Communicable Disease Center here said Friday it had traced the illness to contaminated ice shipped into Morgantown from out of state.

The center said the ice was used in soft drinks sold at the game.

Yastrzemski Salary Seen At $100,000

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, baseball's newest superstar, says his 1968 contract for an estimated $100,000 is a dream come true.

"This is the kind of figure I always dreamed about as a boy," the slugging outfielder who wed the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant said at the signing ceremonies Friday.

The Red Sox, in keeping with club policy, did not make any formal disclosure of the figure But General Manager Dick O'Connell said the contract "makes Carl one of the best paid players in Red Sox history." And most guesses were that his estimated $45,000 salary for 1967 was upped to the $100,000 bracket for the new one-year pact.

Owner Tom Yawkey was beaming with pleasure as he joked with Yastrzemski and talked to writers at the signing ceremonies.

"There is no measuring what Carl meant to us and to New England baseball this year," Yawkey said. ". . .Carl did things for us this year that other players could not do."

Some of the things Yastrzemski did included winning the Triple Crown by leading the league in batting at .326 and runs batted in with 121 and tying Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew in homers with 44. He also played spectacularly in left field all season, making numerous brilliant catches and throwing runners out at the plate in several key situations.

Official 'Tackled,' Suffers Broken Hip

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — George Dresmich, supervising principal of South Fayette School District, suffered a broken hip Friday night while officiating the Washington - Trinity High School football game.

Dresmich was injured early in the first quarter when he became entangled with three players during a tackle. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh in good condition.

Tennessee wingback Richmond Flowers comes from Montgomery, Ala.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I happen to be what we call "In-the-Navy."

Why we Swabs read your column, I'll never know! But when we hit port and do pick it up you'd be surprised how much we can use, no only in port but on board ship.

Here's a hint we use on board ship that some of your mothers might be able to utilize:

When we wash and dry our dungarees, instead of ironing them, we lay them out flat on our bunks and smooth them with our hands. Then fold'em across at the knee so that the bottom of the legs touch about where the pockets start.

All you have to do next is to give it about a two-inch foldover at the knee again, then start rolling and roll the dungarees from the knee up to the top of the waistband.

This will give you a nice tight roll that is easily stored. Since we don't have much closet space, we put these in stacks. By the time we get ready to wear them, they have ironed themselves!

SEAMAN.

Now, gals, I didn't believe this until I tried it. I did and it absolutely works.

The blue jean manufacturers tell us that a blue jean should be folded the way they come when you purchase them. They say that jeans are not supposed to have a crease down the front at all.

But it certainly doesn't take the patience of Job to use this Seaman's method. I think we mothers would save ourselves many hours by using Whether you fold them with a crease in the knees or sideways like the manufacturer suggests, makes no difference. This sailor's method works in both instances.

I say, "Three cheers for the Navy." And thanks, "Mister Seaman."

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: As most teen-agers like to hang things on the wall in their rooms, I have a suggestion of how to save those walls from the numerous marks left by tape, tacks, etc.

Find a sheet of thick wallpaper, material or wrapping paper as large as you like and possibly in a color to go with the room. Then thumb tack it to the wall and have them tape their pictures to this.

Saves many marred places on the wall and can always be replaced with a fresh sheet when this one becomes soiled or torn.

-:-

Saves the price of a bulletin board, too!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My sons all hate to wrap gifts, so I begin early to cover all size boxes with Christmas wrapping paper.

Throughout the year we hoard all bows that come on gifts.

When Christmas comes, all they have to do is find the right size box, tape it closed and stick on a bow . . .

A HELOISE ADDICT.

DEAR HELOISE: After having considerable trouble getting a layer cake out of the pans in one piece, this is what I did:

Cut extra tabs (two to four) on the edges of the waxed paper I lined the pans with. The tabs extended up the sides of the pans.

After the cake was baked, I gently pulled on the tabs and the cake came right out all in one piece. And when it was turned over onto the rack, the paper came off easily.

I have no more trouble since I've been using this method.

MRS. BETHANY NELSON.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: If only I could wish and have a wish come true, it would be — that I could pick up the phone and say — "Daddy, MY kids are driving me crazy . . . HOW did you stand US?" . . .

NEW MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep a young child covered in bed, use the length of the top sheet or first blanket from side to side.

When it is turned across the bed, there is plenty to tuck in on each side and still cover his feet.

ANDREE.

Lisbon Area News

Mrs. Ray Alexander 424-5674

LISBON — Gamma Zeta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority met at the home of Mrs. Felix Rutecki of the Columbiana Rd. Thursday night, with members of Beta Lambda Chapter of Leetonia and Mrs. Mark Manning and Miss Bonnie Swogger of Lisbon among the guests.

"It's the Fashion Doll" was the program topic presented by Miss Joy Washburn of Columbus, a member of the Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., public relations department.

With nine dolls, attired in authentic costumes of the past and the 10th dressed in 1967 style of synthetics made of natural gas, Miss Washburn related how women's fashions and natural gas have had paralleling histories.

She was introduced by Mrs. James Kennedy, social chairman.

The chapter members plan to attend the "Christmas Through the House" program sponsored by the Lisbon Business and Professional Women's Club" Nov. 9 at the First Methodist Church and later meet at the home of Mrs. William Langsdale of E. High St.

Chapter Holds Work Session

Seventeen members of Gamma Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha attended a special meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Adomitis of E. Pine St.

Mrs. Reinhold Rankis, philanthropic project chairman, was in charge of the work session — making of cancer bandages for the Columbiana County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

"Buttons and Paperweights" will be the program topic for the next meeting Nov. 2, with Mrs. O. Dail Mason of Columbiana Rd. serving as hostess and program leader.

D. of A. Group Meets

Mrs. Mildred McCord, councilor of Pride of Center Council 190, Daughters of America, presided at the meeting Thursday night when plans were made to serve Kiwanis luncheons during November and December.

Prizes for games and cards were awarded Mrs. Olive Scott, Miss Laura McKee, Mrs. Mildred Hiscox and Mrs. Ora Coen.

A coverdish dinner will preceded next Thursday's meeting in honor of Mrs. Hiscox, district deputy.

2 Waterfowl Hunters Are Fined At Lisbon

LISBON — Two men charged with unlawfully hunting waterfowl were fined $15 and costs each Friday by Judge J. L. MacDonald in Columbiana County Southwest Court.

Ralph Drake, county game protector, filed the complaint against Bill Snyder and Robert Shinn, both of Salem RD 3. They pleaded guilty.

Stanley L. Wallenberg of Wellsville was fined $10 and costs for a stop sign violation and William G. O'Hair of Englewood, Ohio, $15 and costs for speeding.

Belated Report Filed On $1,890 Fur Theft

A belated report was filed Friday at police headquarters on theft of two fur pieces worth a total of $1,890 Monday at the Metz Fur Co. store at 118 W. 5th St.

The cryptic report said the two garments were stolen from the store between 4 and 5 p.m. The missing articles were listed as a natural mink stole worth $995 and a light natural mink stole valued at $895.

Carl and Mary Metz of Highland Dr., Calcutta, were listed as owners of the store. The record indicated the report was filed by the store management Monday, although it was not made public until yesterday.

Spanish and Portuguese are the two languages most prevalent in South America.

Moore Proposes Wiretapping Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to legalize court - authorized wire-tapping has been introduced in the House by Rep. Arch A. Moore, R-W.Va.

Moore, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said Wednesday that the bill is "essential to combat the growing national crisis created by serious crime."

Wiretap evidence currently is not admissable in court, and the means of securing it is a federal offense.

President Coolidge signed a special act of Congress making the U.S. Navy Band an official part of the Navy on March 4, 1925.

Kennedy Is Named Oakland Manager

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Now the hopefuls at the Oakland Athletics' winter instructional camp know why Bob Kennedy has been so interested in their progress.

The onetime head coach of the Chicago Cubs will be their manager if they make it to the major leagues when the Athletics move to Oakland next season.

Owner Charles Finley announced in Chicago Friday that he had signed Kennedy to a two-year contract, as the veteran watched the rookies work out near here.

Kennedy, a coach for the Atlanta Braves last season, was signed two weeks ago, but Finley held up the announcement until the American League had approved shifting the franchise from Kansas City.

Kennedy replaces Luke Appling who took over temporarily after Finley fired Alvin Dark following a rhubarb last August.

Watching the rookies work out, Kennedy called the Athletics "a promising club . . . with lots of young talent just waiting to grow into the job . . ."

In his 16-year major-league playing career Kennedy played for the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland, Baltimore, Detroit and the Dodgers. He had a lifetime batting average of .255 as a first baseman, third baseman and outfielder.

After managing Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League in 1962, Kennedy piloted the Chicago Cubs to seventh place in the National League in 1963 and eighth in 1964.

He managed Albuquerque in 1965 before joining the Braves as a coach last season.

Palmer On Bench In U.S. Match With Great Britain

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The great Arnold Palmer was on the bench when U.S. golf professionals went out to try to widen their 5½-2½ lead over the British today in the second phase of the 17th biennial Ryder Cup matches.

Palmer, one of the stars in America's strong start Friday in the two-ball foursomes, was surprisingly dropped from the line-up for the four morning four-ball tests although slated to return to action in the afternoon.

The decision was made by the strict U.S. captain, Ben Hogan, who didn't think it was necessary to give an explanation.

"He is not playing because I say so," Hogan told a news conference. "I am the captain and I say who plays."

A reporter asked if there were reasons.

"Yep," said Hogan.

"May I ask what they are?" the reporter pressed.

"You may ask, but I don't have to tell you," Hogan replied.

In addition to Palmer, the world's all-time leading money winner, Hogan also ordered the 47-year-old Julius Boros to sit out the morning matches.

The schedule was this: Bill Casper-Gay Brewer, United States, vs. Peter Alliss-Christy O'Connor, Britain; Bobby Nichols-Johnny Pott, United States, vs. Neil Coles-Bernard Hunt, Britain; Gene Littler - Al Geiberger, United States, vs. Dave Thomas-Tony Jacklin, Britain; Doug Sanders - Gardner Dickinson, United States, vs. Brian (Huggett - George) Will, Britain.

Four matches with revised line-ups follow in the afternoon. The series, which the United States has lost only three times in 40 years, ends with 26 singles tilts Sunday.

Palmer and Gardner Dickinson won two matches Friday, beating O'Connor and Alliss 2 and 1 and then trouncing young Malcolm Gregson and Hugh Boyle 5 and 4. Palmer made a fantastic shot out of the woods for the key shot of the morning match. Fine putting by Dickinson won the second.

Pott and Nichols also won two points, beating Hunt and Coles 6 and 5 and Alliss and O'Connor 2 and 1. The other U.S. full point came on a 1-up victory by Boros and Casper over Will and Huggett, who played the same pair to a standstill for a half in the morning.

Jacklin and Thomas were Britain's heroes, winning twice. They beat Sanders and Brewer 4 and 3 and Littler and Geiberger 3 and 2. Jacklin is Britain's 23-year-old rookie.

Fund Set Up To Aid Aged Won't Be Used

BOSTON (AP) — Before the days of Social Security and other programs to help the elderly, the Massachusttes Bequest Fund was initaited so persons could donate money to the state for disbursement to needy, elderly persons.

Now State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko doesn't think the fund will ever be used for its stated purpose. Buczko says funds rules state that there must be a cash balance of $500,000 before any payments can be made.

In the almost 40 years since the fund was established in 1928, only $1,979.01 has been donated. The fund now stands — with interest and all — at $5,678.86.

Operating Head Of Eagles Fired In Kuharich Rift

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A rift between Ed Snider and General Manager-Coach Joe Kuharich apparently is one of the reasons which provoked owner Jerry Wolman to fire Snider Thursday as operating head of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles.

The bitterness between Kuharich and Snider broke out during a news conference Friday night after Snider, Wolman and co-owner Earl Foreman met for 45 minutes and failed to resolve their dispute over Snider's dismissal.

Kuharich started the exchange when he needled Snider during the questioning. "I'm enjoying this," said the coach from his position behind newsmen.

The grim looking Snider snapped, "Maybe next time it will be your party Joe."

The repartee started when Foreman, executive vice president and secretary as well as a 48 per cent stockholder in the Eagles, disclosed that Snider had a 15-year contract with the club. Asked when it was dated, Foreman said he believed it was 1965.

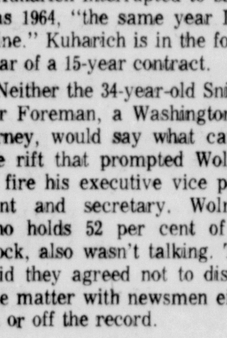

Kuharich interrupted to say it was 1964, "the same year I got mine." Kuharich is in the fourth year of a 15-year contract.

Neither the 34-year-old Snider, nor Foreman, a Washington attorney, would say what caused the rift that prompted Wolman to fire his executive vice president and secretary. Wolman, who holds 52 per cent of the stock, also wasn't talking. They said they agreed not to discuss the matter with newsmen either on or off the record.

Ohio St., Northwestern Play In 'Misery Bowl'

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes faces a "win or out" situation when he brings his Buckeyes into Evanston, Ill., Saturday for a Big Ten battle with Northwestern.

A loss to the Wildcats would drop Ohio State (1-2) out of the conference race with more than half the season still to go.

One scribe earlier this week labeled the Buckeye - Wildcat affair the "Misery Bowl" after both absorbed severe pastings last week. Purdue rocked Ohio 41-6 and Rice smacked Northwestern 50-6.

The Bucks will be without middle guard Dwight Fertig and it's doubtful whether his replacement, Vic Stottlemyer, will be ready.

THE WILDCATS are 3-1 after defeating Miami of Florida and losing to Missouri, Purdue and Rice.

Ohio, which has looked futile in its passing game, may use soph Kevin Rusnak at quarterback. Buck throwers have completed only 28 aerials in 75 attempts.

There are other headliners on an attractive 23-game football card involving Ohio schools.

Surging Toledo (2-1) takes on Western Michigan (3-0) in a night affair in the Glass Bowl with first place in the Mid-American Conference at stake.

Quarterback John Schneider, who riddled Bowling Green last week with his nifty passing, could give the Broncos fits. Western needs only two victories in three league games to claim at least a share of the MAC crown.

The other major Mid - Am clash is at Oxford where Miami entertains Ohio University. Both are 2-1 in the league and need a victory to keep their championship hopes alive.

The game could turn out to be a duel between Miami's Al Moore and Dick Conley of the Bobcats, the top two rushers in the league.

IN ANOTHER MAC game, Kent plays host to Bowling Green on homecoming day. The Golden Flashes have scored only 14 points in their last two setbacks while the Falcons have posted only six. A scoreless duel is in prospect.

Cincinnati, 1-0 in the Missouri Valley Conference, faces the awesome task of stopping Tulsa's Hurricanes on the road. Tulsa is averaging 50 points a game.

In others, speedy halfback Billy Mayo is Dayton's chief threat against visiting Temple; Wittenberg should make John Carroll its fifth straight victim; Ashland should cop its sixth in a row against Heidelberg; Akron pits its defense against the strong offense of Baldwin-Wallace and ambitious Capital challenges rugged Muskingum at New Concord in the top Ohio Conference game of the day.

The others:

Marietta at Otterbein; Denison at Oberlin; Mount Union at Hiram; Kenyon at Wooster; Bluffton at Defiance; Central Michigan at Central State; Wayne State at Adelbert; Case at Wilmington; Midwestern (Iowa) at Ohio Northern; Ohio Wesleyan at Wabash; Youngstown at Pensacola (Fla.) Navy; Xavier at Chattanooga (N) and Kent State at Findlay (N).

Youthful Driver Charged After Fleeing In Mishap

One driver was injured in a three - car mishap early today on E. 3rd St., one of two investigated during the night by East Liverpool police.

Ralph Sheets, 19, of N. Shady Ln. Dr. received treatment at Osteopathic Hospital and then was released.

Police said Sheets had stopped his car on E. 3rd St., about 40 feet west of the Walnut St. intersection, and was struck from behind by another auto operated by Ronald D. Bailey, 18, of 1748 Clark Ave., Wellsville, which received heavy damage.

Witnesses said Bailey then backed his car at a high rate of speed up Walnut St. to 4th St. and into a parked auto owned by Harry P. Judy of Stagecoach Rd. It too received heavy damage.

Then, according to witnesses, Bailey continued backing his auto on 4th St., across Broadway, Washington and Market Sts., coming to a halt in the 300 block of W. 4th St.

Patrolmen William Copestick and David Huffman reported Bailey jumped from his vehicle and ran between two houses heading toward 5th St. He tried to hide, but a search of the area was made and Huffman found the youth and returned him to the accident scene.

Several witnesses who chased Bailey said the car left a trail of water which aided in the search.

Bailey was cited for driving without an operator's license, reckless operation and leaving the scene of an accident.

The mishap occurred about 12:18 this morning.

A drifting auto caused the only other accident in the city.

William M. Jones of 2221 Harvey Ave. said he parked his car on Market St., about 30 feet north of Center Ln., and went to a football game, returning to find a car owned by Dave Shelton of 147 Pennsylvania Ave. had drifted into his vehicle.

William R. Ward of Gardendale Ave. was identified as the driver of the Shelton auto.

Damage was minor. No arrests were made.

Head-On Collision Seen Over Slash In Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A head-on collision between the Senate and House seems to be shaping up over cuts in government spending.

The Senate's Appropriations Committee erased from a House-passed resolution Friday a directive to President Johnson to reduce expenditures by $6 billion to $8 billion in the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

It also wiped out other spending restrictions the House had written into a resolution to provide temporary spending authority for government departments whose regular appropriations have not yet been voted by Congress.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, promptly predicted the House will stand firm, raising the prospect of a deadlock if the Senate backs up its Appropriations Committee.

The Senate committee approved, 16-4, a resolution that would simply extend until Nov. 15 the spending authority of departments whose 1967-68 appropriations are still pending.

This was a victory for the administration. But it was scored only after a spending cut proposal by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., failed on a 10-10 tie vote.

Mundt tried to write into the resolution a directive for a 5 per cent cut in all but defense expenditures and other appropriations required by law, such as interest on the national debt.

This would have forced a cutback of about $1 billion in spending in the current fiscal year, but individual items to be cut would have been left to the President's discretion. Mundt said he would carry the fight for his proposal to the Senate and predicted he would win.

Mundt told a reporter refusal of the committee to approve any formula for reducing expenditures was "a gratuitous insult" to the House and could create "a hopeless situation."

But another member of the committee, Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said the "intolerable" House-passed resolution was an abdication to the President of Congress' responsibility for appropriations.

And other senators said the House's approach would give the President "a massive item veto" on appropriations voted by Congress.

The stopgap financing resolution approved by the committee is not expected to be taken up in the Senate until Tuesday, even though the spending authority of departments without any appropriated funds will expire at midnight Monday. While these departments will technically be penniless, Senate leaders foresaw no immediate crisis.

The first telephone line was installed between Boston and Somerville, Mass., in April of 1877.

Booster Club Given Report

Paul Clunk, chairman of the football advertising committee, reported less than $100 remains outstanding on program advertisements during a meeting of the Oak Glen Boosters Club Wednesday night at the high school.

Members discussed the subject and voted to send tear sheets of unpaid ads along with statements. The club thanked advertisers for their support in the 1967 program.

Because of a previous commitment, the coaches' smoker will not be held at the school, but details of the Nov. 11 event are nearing completion and two other locations are being considered.

Coach Robert Starkey reported he received an invoice for game films and requested the club continue this project as in past years. He said the films are valuable in reviewing the games with players. The club agreed to take the question under advisement until the Oct. 25 meeting.

Starkey said no films of Friday's win over Philip Barbour High can be shown since they were stolen from the fender of the photographer's car after the game. The club issued a plea for the film's return.

The team will be guests overnight of Allegheny High School players when it plays the Cumberland, (Md.) team Oct. 28.

Plans were discussed for the all-sports banquet to be held in the spring.

Complaints of members were aired concerning a parking problem at Clark Field in Newell. Residents behind the field have complained about parking on both sides of the narrow street, making it virtually impossible for fire trucks to get through during the game.

Some vehicles have completely blocked fire hydrants. Unauthorized vehicles near the football field make it nearly impossible for ambulances to leave and a near accident recently resulted, the club said. The club is investigating.

Barons Win 3-2

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Doug Senior banged in a shot at 3:52 of the overtime period Friday night to give the Cleveland Barons a 3-2 ice hockey victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

Tennessee has three quarterbacks behind senior Dewey Warren of Savannah, Ga.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of HUBERT UHL who passed away October 21, 1966:
Too fair a flower for us to keep.
God took you to his rest, But folded in the Savior's arms our darling thou are blest.
Sadly missed by mother, father, grandfather and family.

In memory of our Mother, Mrs. Mayme Parsons, who passed away October 22, 1966.
So softly He spoke to her that night
No other ears could hear.
"Come with me now, though you must go
The ones you love are near.
They'll miss you, but they'll understand. I'll comfort them in grief.
I'll take you to your Home above
Now faithful, dear One, sleep."
—Norma Wilson, Mary Baker, Garnetta Lysle, Lucille Miller, Deryl Parsons.

Junior Editors Quiz on COCONUTS

QUESTION: Are coconuts used for anything other than food?

ANSWER: It makes sense to talk about coconuts in very large numbers because, while one coconut gives tasty meat and a refreshing drink, large numbers of them are used in an important tropical industry: the making of copra or in the dried meat of the coconut. The nuts are gathered as they hang in the treetops (upper left), then split and spread in the sun to dry. Expert workers, using knives fastened to benches, cut out the meats, which are then bagged for export. Later, coconut oil will be extracted from the meats. A gallon of this oil may be made from 30 coconuts; it is used in manufacturing soap, candles and other products. Coconut trees are a source of other valuable raw materials, including wood, fibers for rope and leaves for thatched baskets and hats.

Judy McCollum of Kansas City, Mo., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Oct. 21, the 294th day of 1967. There are 71 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1805, an English fleet under Lord Nelson defeated French and Spanish fleets off Spain's Cape of Trafalgar, ending Napoleon's power on the seas.

On this date:

In 1797, the U.S. Navy frigate Constitution—known as old Ironsides—was launched in Boston.

In 1833, the Swedish chemist and philanthropist Alfred Nobel was born.

In 1879, Thomas A. Edison invented a workable electric lamp after 14 months of experimentation at his Menlo Park, N.J., laboratory.

In 1915, the first telephone message was sent across the Atlantic.

In 1938, the Japanese captured the Chinese city of Canton.

In 1945, women voted for the first time in France.

Ten years ago—More than 1¼ million persons cheered Queen Elizabeth II on a visit to New York.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy and high administration officials were in almost constant conference over the Cuban crisis.

One year ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson's limousine was splattered with paint during a visit to Melbourne, Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rambo spent the weekend at Pymatuning.

Sale To Be Held By Mothers Club Of DeMolay Here

Plans for a rummage sale Dec. 4-6 were discussed during the meeting of the Mothers Club of the DeMolay Chapter Thursday night at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Connie Brokaw, president, conducted business.

A report was given on the recent district session at Canton. The group discussed the menu and favors for the district meeting here in February.

Mrs. Dorcas Raber was welcomed as a new member.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Irene Griffith, chaplain, who read a poem, followed by the Mothers DeMolay prayer.

The meeting closed with the DeMolay Mother's Creed. The next meeting will be Nov. 16.

Park Door Was Ajar, But Nothing's Missing

Two Chester policemen on routine patrol discovered a door open to an office at Rock Springs Park Friday night, but reported nothing apparently was missing.

Patrolmen Rex Cowey and Joseph Cornell said a back door to the office of the amusement park was found open about 8:20.

Cowey said he notified park owner Robert Hand, who checked the building and reported nothing had been taken.

Slides Shown By Wheeler At Lions Meeting

John Wheeler of Avondale St., a former member of the Peace Corps in Ethiopia who continued his studies at the University of Cairo, screened slides of eastern Africa during the Lions Club meeting Friday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Wheeler spent more than two years in northwestern Ethiopia with the Peace Corps and then moved onto Cairo, where he studied Arabic.

He said he soon will seek employment with an American oil company, hoping to find a position in the Middle East as a personnel liaison with the Arabs.

The club reported a successful light bulb sale.

Richard Allison was program chairman Friday.

Members have been invited to the Elks Club Nov. 8 when Bill Bratt will screen slides of his return to Bataan and Corregidor.

Army Recruiter Sgt. Ed Vallor will screen a film during next Firday's meeting.

Chales Haugh is president.

Cancer Detection Stressed During Meeting Of Club

SUMMITVILLE — Mrs. Wayne Calhoun, director of the American Cancer Society in Columbiana County, screened a film on cancer detection Wednesday when the Summitville Women's Civic Club met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Ketterer.

Mrs. Calhoun stressed the importance of women having periodic checks for the disease and advised club members to receive their free cancer check at the cancer clinic in the courthouse at Lisbon.

Mrs. Calhoun pointed out that the Lisbon clinic was the only full - time agency in the United States. "However, she said, "if more people do not take advantage of its services, it may be forced to reduce its hours."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Keterer, assisted by Mrs. Earl Rogers and Mrs. Lewis McCollough. The next meeting will be Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. McCollough.

Mrs. Hugh Marshall presided.

Local Group Attends Area Union's Session

A four-member delegation represented Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, Thursday night in Youngstown at a meeting of the five-county Northeast Ohio Public Employes Council No. 18.

The city delegation was comprised of James McKinnon, Junior Horner, Leah Kelly and Oliver Lonkert. Tony Bellino of Youngstown, president, conducted the session.

The council represents public employes in Columbiana, Mahoning, Jefferson, Trumbull and Ashtabula Counties. The delegates decided the council will endorse candidate slates in municipal elections Nov. 7. A new constitution also was reviewed. The next meeting will be Nov. 16.

George Washington helped to build and subsequently had to surrender Fort Necessity during the French and Indian war.

'Neighborhood Youth Corps' Planned For 3-County Area

The Northern West Virginia Community Action Council has applied to the federal government for a grant of $252,040 to finance a new neighborhood Youth Corps project in three Northern Panhandle counties about to merge into one CAC group.

Ronald E. Wilson of Weirton, area administrator for the organization which includes Hancock, Brooke and Marshall counties, said the project will cost an estimated $332,440, with federal funds being topped by $70,400 from local governments.

The application has been approved by Richard Parker of Charleston, district director of the West Virginia Youth Corps office.

The existing Hancock - Brooke youth corps will merge on Feb. 5, 1968, with the Marshall County office.

The proposed budget for the three - county group would allow 100 to be enrolled.

Some $192,260 would be used for salaries of the youths, $35,880 for five administrative staff members, $17,030 for four education professors and materials and $6,870 for operational costs.

"I think it should be pointed out that of the total budget request only 13 per cent is for administrative and operational costs," Wilson said. The remainder goes directly to youths enrolled and to finance the remedial education program.

Steven M. Yurko of New Cumberland is youth corps project director. The program calls for 40 from Hancock and 30 each from Brooke and Marshall counties.

Under the 1968 program, it is expected wages of those enrolled will be increased from $1.25 an hour, to $1.40, the new minimum wage. Youths will be employed for 32 hours each week instead of 30.

Yurko explained a unique phase of next year's project will be the remedial education program to be held at the Hancock County branch of West Liberty State College and funded by the corps.

The program this year is open to boys and girls who have been out of school three months instead of six.

Yurko reported the NYC program in Hancock and Brooke began in May and by Sept. 30 a total of 107 young people enrolled were paid wages totaling $30,656.25.

Zollinger Seeks Bids For City's Bond Issue

Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger said today bids will be opened at City Hall at noon Nov. 20 for sale of a $34,800 municipal bond issue authorized by Council Monday night.

The bonds will mature annually from Dec. 1, 1959, through Dec. 1, 1973. The first installment will carry a face value of $6,800 and the rest will be worth $7,000 each.

Council authorized the action to retire notes issued to pay a judgment returned by a Common Pleas Court jury in the case of a woman who filed a civil action against the city, for injuries, medical bills and loss of wages after a fall on a flight of city - maintained steps.

Grange Seats New Officers

HOOKSTOWN—Junior Grange officers were installed by William Thompson, overseer and past master, during a meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night.

Thompson was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Evert Maki, Mrs. Gregge McElhaney, Miss Barbara Steele and Myron Elliott.

Seated were Jay Floyd, master; Mark Searight, overseer; David Wright, steward; Dennis Floyd, assistant steward; Janet Anderson, chaplain; Terry Floyd, treasurer; Becky Elliott, secretary; Bobbby Anderson, gate keeper, and Kay Floyd, Ceries.

Maki, master, and other senior Grange officers were installed Tuesday night in ceremonies at the Fairview Grange in Ohioville borough by Harold Douglas, senior Pomona master, and his team from the New Sewickley Grange.

It was announced the Pomona Grange will sponsor a public relations dinner in cooperation with the Beaver County Agricultural Extension Service and the Lower Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club Nov. 14 at the Brighton Township fire hall.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Romaine Shane, Mrs. Norma Floyd and Charles Stewart.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 at 8 p. m. A meeting set for Nov. 2 has been canceled so members can participate in a week of "Good News Services" at the Mill Creek United Presbyterian Church here.

Rats Worsened Flood

NEW DELHI (AP) — Rats were blamed for some of India's flood problems during the 1967 monsoon. Irrigation Minister K. L. Rao visited one area where a canal embankment gave way, flooding a large area. He said the bank had been weakened by rat holes.

TOMORROW'S REBEL?
HELP HIM TODAY...
GIVE THE UNITED WAY
Sometimes a boy needs people much more than material things. He needs people who will listen to problems and soothe hurt feelings, people who will explain and reassure and inspire. Our community is lucky to have many people like that: caring for homeless children, watching over the youngsters of working mothers, guiding teen-agers in healthy, wholesome recreation. Please help them carry on this all-important work.

A SERVICE WITHOUT PARALLEL--

It is with great civic pride that one of the East Liverpool Area's finest and most respected mortuaries, Dawson Funeral Home, announces the opening of a beautiful, new addition, representing another progressive advancement in modern funeral service.

Dignity, service, privacy, understanding and convenience have always been a part of the Dawson tradition. The thought and planning that went into this new addition is worthy of a proud history of fine service to the East Liverpool Area.

The genuinely friendly personal service that has distinguished Dawson Funeral Home for many generations will continue at the refurbished mortuary, now a building of unsurpassed beauty.

The first consideration of any funeral home should be for the comfort and convenience of family and friends. It's always been first at Dawson's. If it were otherwise, someone else might be announcing a new addition. Come to think of it, Dawson's has always been first. In Service. In Progress. In Thoughtfulness.

Junior Editors Quiz on COCONUTS

QUESTION: Are coconuts used for anything other than food?

ANSWER: It makes sense to talk about coconuts in very large numbers because, while one coconut gives tasty meat and a refreshing drink, large numbers of them are used in an important tropical industry: the making of copra or in the dried meat of the coconut. The nuts are gathered as they hang in the treetops (upper left), then split and spread in the sun to dry. Expert workers, using knives fastened to benches, cut out the meats, which are then bagged for export. Later, coconut oil will be extracted from the meats. A gallon of this oil may be made from 30 coconuts; it is used in manufacturing soap, candles and other products. Coconut trees are a source of other valuable raw materials, including wood, fibers for rope and leaves for thatched baskets and hats.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Oct. 21, the 294th day of 1967. There are 71 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1805, an English fleet under Lord Nelson defeated French and Spanish fleets off Spain's Cape of Trafalgar, ending Napoleon's power on the seas.

On this date:

In 1797, the U.S. Navy frigate Constitution—known as old Ironsides—was launched in Boston.

In 1833, the Swedish chemist and philanthropist Alfred Nobel was born.

In 1879, Thomas A. Edison invented a workable electric lamp after 14 months of experimentation at his Menlo Park, N.J., laboratory.

In 1915, the first telephone message was sent across the Atlantic.

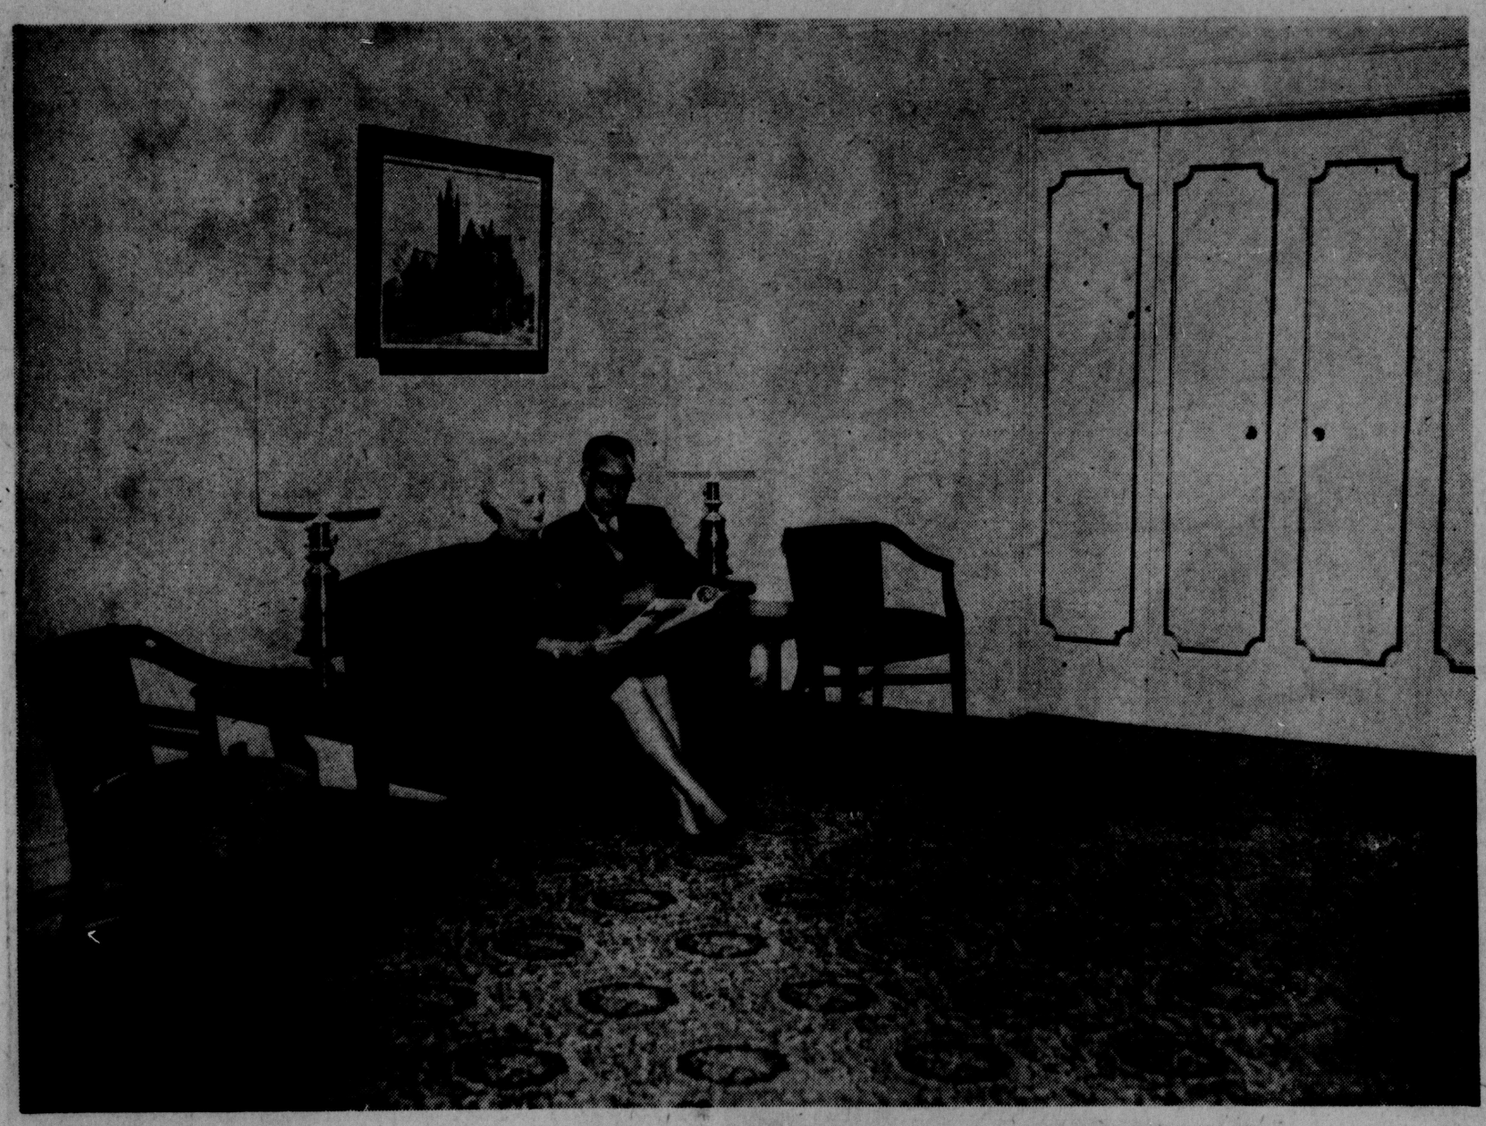

In 1938, the Japanese captured the Chinese city of Canton.

In 1945, women voted for the first time in France.

Ten years ago—More than 1¼ million persons cheered Queen Elizabeth II on a visit to New York.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy and high administration officials were in almost constant conference over the Cuban crisis.

One year ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson's limousine was splattered with paint during a visit to Melbourne, Australia.

FRANK A. DAWSON AND HIS WIFE, Mildred, started their funeral service in East Liverpool in 1935. They sit beneath a large painting of the Central School on East Fourth Street, a well-known city landmark. The beautiful oil painting is the work of Hazel Todd, local artist. This scene was taken in the downstairs of the Dawson Funeral Home upon completion of a major renovation program.

Dawson's Is Member Of Long-Established Organization

Selected Mortician—A High Honor

The reaction of most people upon learning for the first time that Dawson Funeral Home is East Liverpool's only member of the National Selected Morticians is usually this:

"Fine. But isn't every funeral director a member of some national group?" Frank C. Dawson, President, and Frank A. Dawson, Secretary, might answer the question this way:

"Perhaps. But only a comparative handful of the thousands of funeral homes in the U. S. can meet the stringent membership standards of National Selected Morticians. Not every community has an NSM member. The cities that do are very fortunate in this respect, because membership in NSM is one of the highest national honors a funeral director can achieve."

TO A mortician, qualifying for membership in NSM parallels a baseball player making the All-Star team, a musician giving a recital at Carnegie Hall, or a race driver winning the Indianapolis 500.

In other words, membership in NSM means the funeral director is a tested professional. It means he has met the most exacting professional standards for stability, dependability, rellability and outstanding service.

A limited membership organization, National Selected Morticians was formed Sept. 7, 1917. Its first president was George W. Olinger of Denver, Colo., who, with eight other prominent funeral directors, desired to organize an association to increase the effectiveness of funeral directing and to improve the standards of funeral service.

THE FOUNDERS were all members of Rotary International who looked upon the noncompetitive principle of Rotary as something highly desiraole. They felt if they could achieve a Rotary Club of Funeral Directors — that is with no competitors present — they could talk very freely about their problems and give each other the benefit of their ideas, methods, procedures, etc. It was with this thought in mind that the organization was formed.

As stated in the constituion and accepted by the membership, the purposes of NSM were:

"To ascertain and study the general principles governing the business and profession of the funeral director, and to promote their proper application.

"To work toward higher standards, clearer ideals, a spirit of service, improved methods, and organization and equipment, with an increasingly satisfactory relationship with patrons, manufacturers, and the public, generally, not only among its members, but among all funeral directors."

In other words, National Selected Morticians was founded to raise the standards of funeral service. Much has been accomplished by the members of this pace-setting association.

WHAT DOES Dawson's membership in NSM mean to you and East Liverpool?

It means that . . . .

— The Dawson Funeral Home measures up to the most rigid qualifications of professional funeral service.

— Is pledged to serve the public interest through complete funeral service facilities, plainly marked prices, and truthful representation of all services and merchandise.

— Is pledged to maintain the highest standards in the selection, training and supervision of all employees.

— Stands ready to assist the family 24 hours every day, seven days each week, with qualified personnel, complete facilities, specialized equipment, knowledge and experience.

— Is pledged to serve all, regardless of their religious beliefs, or financial ability.

— Is pledged to maintain a range of service prices commensurate with all economic groups in the East Liverpool Area.

Dawson's is pledged to complete confidential relationship with every family served.

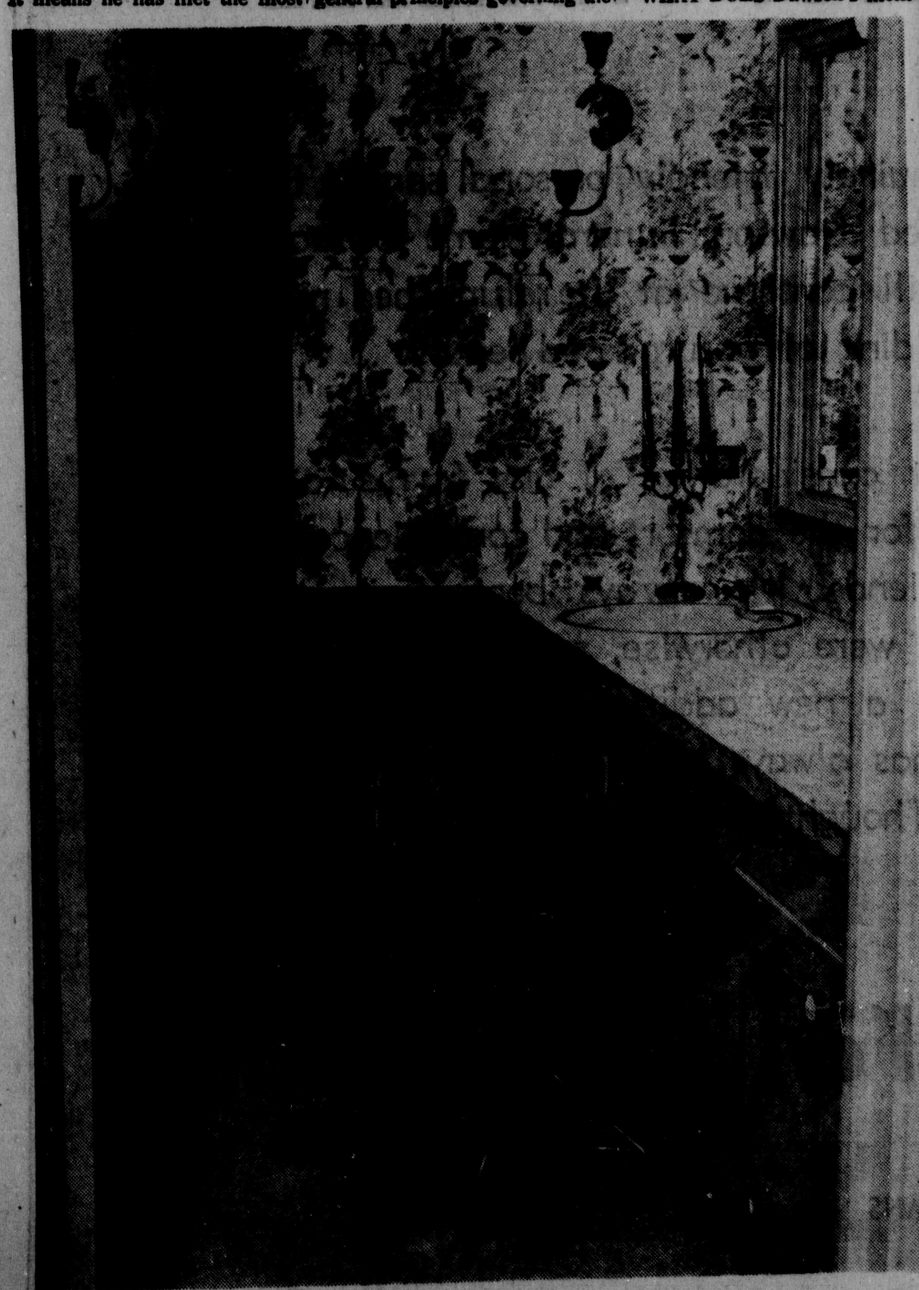

Funeral service performs a valuable therapeutic function. For the immediate family, a rapid adjustment is necessary to fill the gap left by the deceased. Not only are there legal and business matters which often require immediate attention, but emotional shock and often the strain of long illness leaves the family in need of a sense of direction. The bringing together of family and friends helps to bring love, comfort and aid to the survivors. The funeral director handles most of the funeral details. He advises the family as to their survivor benefits, and assists them in filling out forms.

The present-day funeral service is a religious rite which is patterned after the first Christian funeral — that of Jesus Christ. After His crucifixion, His body was removed from the cross, anointed in oils, wrapped in soft cloth and laid in a tomb. The funeral rite is a vital part of Christian religious custom, and a recognition of immortality of the spirit.

With God all things are possible.—(Matt. 19:26)

There are within the body marvelous capacities for healing and renewal. Even when a healing need is very great and the condition is considered most serious, healing can come forth, restoration can take place. This is proved time and time again. Every day letters come to silent unity telling of healings of conditions that had been pronounced hopeless or incurable. We believe in healing. Through the years of the silent unity work we have rejoiced in reports of healing or conditions of every kind.

Director's Responsibility

Here Are Eight Key Points To Remember

It's just as wise to select a funeral director before the need arises as it is to choose a family doctor or an attorney who can be called on in the event of emergency.

While few funeral homes discourage visits and tours, those who belong to National Selected Morticians, such as the Dawson Funeral Home, emphasize the importance of becoming personally familiar with the services of the mortuary now, rather than later. The staff at Dawson's welcomes the opportunity to arrange inspection tours at any time, and invites frank and open discussions on funeral matters.

IN YOUR selection of a funeral director, you should give serious consideration to the following eight points:

One — Does he maintain a complete, modern funeral establishment? Such an establishment is one which provides for every comfort and convenience for family and friends. It should have spacious reposing rooms and the interior should be as tastefully decorated as your own home. It should have a well-lighted casket selection room with plainly-marked prices, and a wide selection of other merchandise.

Two — Does the merchandise of the funeral home have an aura of high quality? And just as important, will you be able to choose and decide without pressure of any kind and place fullest trust and confidence in his recommendations?

Three — Are prices plainly marked? You should be able to approach any casket in the display room and see for yourself the amount of the posted cost from three feet distant. You can place added trust in the funeral director who marks all his prices plainly. If he hedges and haws in discussions on prices, or is an adept double-talker, you may end up spending more than you wish.

Four — Has the funeral director a reputation for honesty and business integrity? In what regard is he held in the community? By his business associates? The one you select should have a reputation for honest and fair business transactions. He should inspire your confidence!

PUBLIC INVITED . . .

The Dawson Funeral Home extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend an open house Sunday, October 22 from 10 A.M. to 8 P.M. A complete tour of our modern facilities is being offered to each person visiting our establishment.

FREE GIFT TO EVERY-ONE ATTENDING

Five — Is the funeral director of good moral character? Even if his business transactions are above reproach, this is not enough for a good funeral director. His moral character should be unquestionable, for he comes in your home at a time of deep mourning. You should always evaluate and appraise the man behind the organization, because he is always a measure of its caliber.

Six — What about the staff of the funeral home? Are these people professionally trained and licensed, capable, and above all, reliable? In general, you can judge the ableness of the staff by the caliber of the funeral director himself. A good funeral director would never surround himself with an incompetent staff.

Seven — Is there a reputation for prompt, reliable service? Ask around the community, but form your own opinion. When faced with the necessity of calling a funeral director, you will appreciate promptness and extra kindness. The funeral director should respond to your call at any hour of the day or night.

Eight — Is the funeral director financially responsible? Often you can get a hint by the appearance of the mortuary. Has he remodeled lately, or constructed a new addition? If he has, it would indicate solid financial standing and means to keep abreast of progress. Unquestionably, you will receive finer service and more value from the funeral director who is financially responsible. The one you select should have sufficient financial standing to assure you the very best in equipment, facilities and services.

There was a time when decisions for the family were made by one person—the head of the house. Not today. Now such matters as insurance, investments, property ownership, etc., are family matters. They are discussed freely. Decisions are made and carried out according to plan—a family plan. In today's world, planning is essential to fulfillment. This applies to planning ahead to meet emergencies, too. Today, more people are looking into funeral costs and arrangements before emergencies arise. This is called pre-arrangement. It relieves others of so much responsibility and worry. The Dawson Funeral Home will be glad to talk to you about it at any time. Please call at your convenience.

TWELVE LOCAL CONTRACTORS SHARED in the renovation project at the Dawson Funeral Home. The architect was Robert F. Beatty of East Liverpool. Improvements added 480 square feet of floor space and a completely new "look" to the downstairs. Kenneth C. Eardley, (left), an associate at Dawson's, and Frank C. Dawson, President, stand in one of the remodeled parlors on the first floor.

MAJOR CHANGES WERE MADE at the side entrance of the Dawson Funeral Home in the interest of providing as much weather protection as possible for families awaiting the formation of the funeral procession. 'Neighborhood Youth Corps' Planned For 3-County Area

The Northern West Virginia Community Action Council has applied to the federal government for a grant of $252,040 to finance a new neighborhood Youth Corps project in three Northern Panhandle counties about to merge into one CAC group.

Ronald E. Wilson of Weirton, area administrator for the organization which includes Hancock, Brooke and Marshall counties, said the project will cost an estimated $332,440, with federal funds being topped by $70,400 from local governments.

The application has been approved by Richard Parker of Charleston, district director of the West Virginia Youth Corps office.

The existing Hancock - Brooke youth corps will merge on Feb. 5, 1968, with the Marshall County office.

The proposed budget for the three - county group would allow 100 to be enrolled.

Some $192,260 would be used for salaries of the youths, $35,880 for five administrative staff members, $17,030 for four education professors and materials and $6,870 for operational costs.

"I think it should be pointed out that of the total budget request only 13 per cent is for administrative and operational costs," Wilson said. The remainder goes directly to youths enrolled and to finance the remedial education program.

Steven M. Yurko of New Cumberland is youth corps project director. The program calls for 40 from Hancock and 30 each from Brooke and Marshall counties.

Under the 1968 program, it is expected wages of those enrolled will be increased from $1.25 an hour, to $1.40, the new minimum wage. Youths will be employed for 32 hours each week instead of 30.

Yurko explained a unique phase of next year's project will be the remedial education program to be held at the Hancock County branch of West Liberty State College and funded by the corps.

The program this year is open to boys and girls who have been out of school three months instead of six.

Yurko reported the NYC program in Hancock and Brooke began in May and by Sept. 30 a total of 107 young people enrolled were paid wages totaling $30,656.25.

Zollinger Seeks Bids For City's Bond Issue

Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger said today bids will be opened at City Hall at noon Nov. 20 for sale of a $34,800 municipal bond issue authorized by Council Monday night.

The bonds will mature annually from Dec. 1, 1959, through Dec. 1, 1973. The first installment will carry a face value of $6,800 and the rest will be worth $7,000 each.

Council authorized the action to retire notes issued to pay a judgment returned by a Common Pleas Court jury in the case of a woman who filed a civil action against the city, for injuries, medical bills and loss of wages after a fall on a flight of city - maintained steps.

Grange Seats New Officers

HOOKSTOWN—Junior Grange officers were installed by William Thompson, overseer and past master, during a meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night.

Thompson was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Evert Maki, Mrs. Gregge McElhaney, Miss Barbara Steele and Myron Elliott.

Seated were Jay Floyd, master; Mark Searight, overseer; David Wright, steward; Dennis Floyd, assistant steward; Janet Anderson, chaplain; Terry Floyd, treasurer; Becky Elliott, secretary; Bobbby Anderson, gate keeper, and Kay Floyd, Ceries.

Maki, master, and other senior Grange officers were installed Tuesday night in ceremonies at the Fairview Grange in Ohioville borough by Harold Douglas, senior Pomona master, and his team from the New Sewickley Grange.

It was announced the Pomona Grange will sponsor a public relations dinner in cooperation with the Beaver County Agricultural Extension Service and the Lower Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club Nov. 14 at the Brighton Township fire hall.

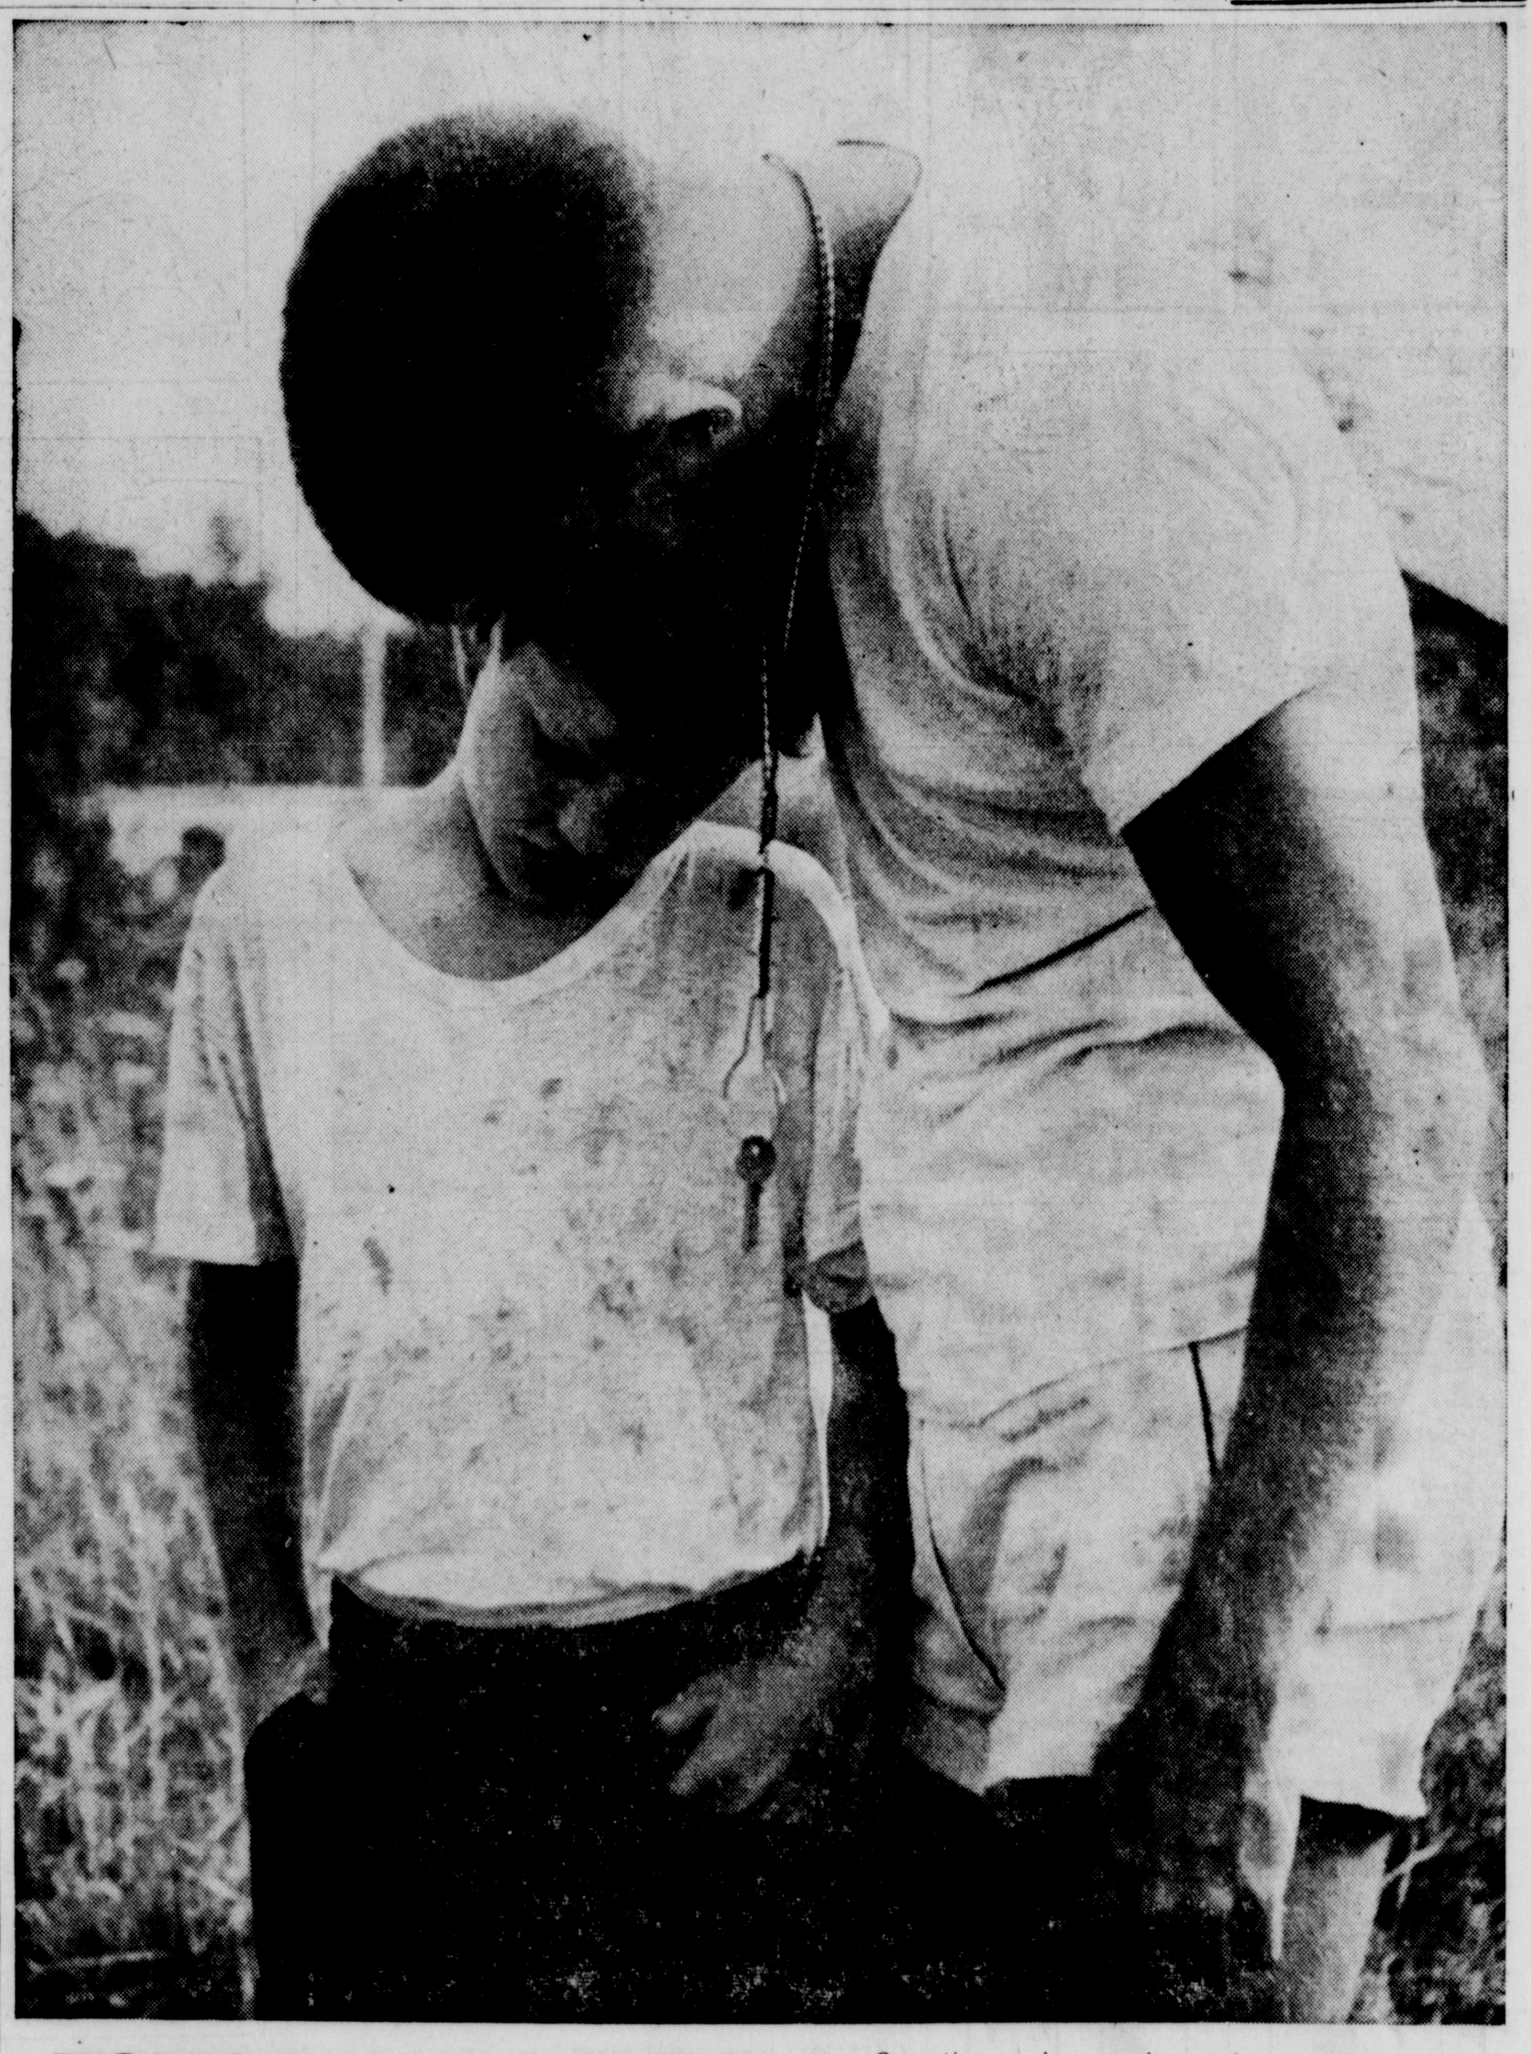

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Romaine Shane, Mrs. Norma Floyd and Charles Stewart.

The next meeting will be Nov. 16 at 8 p. m. A meeting set for Nov. 2 has been canceled so members can participate in a week of "Good News Services" at the Mill Creek United Presbyterian Church here.

$75,000 Expansion And Remodeling Widen Services

Firm Continues Growth Here

The completion of a $75,000 expansion and remodeling program at the Dawson Funeral Home, Inc., is another significant milestone in the distinguished history of this influential firm which has served the East Liverpool area since 1935.

A project born of healthy business growth, it reflects the faith of the owners in East Liverpool's future and a sincere desire to better serve the community in which they live.

In serving hundreds of local and district families at their W. 5th St. landmark, the Dawson Funeral Home has established a reputation of eminence in funeral home practice, with the accent on fairness and gracious personal relationships with area residents.

Largely because of the responsible attitude of the owners, they have been able to translate the concept of "personal service" into something meaningful and of genuine benefit for those experiencing an emotional shock through the loss of a loved one.

"Personal service" has never been just a sterile cliche or meaningless expression at Dawson's. It has been the very cornerstone of their tradition of fine service, as many area families will attest. One need only check the files of the funeral home to find glowing testimony to warmth and fairness in business relationships with Dawson's and the public.

THE FIRM was established under the ownership of Frank A. Dawson in 1935 upon the death of E. G. Sturgis, a leading funeral home director in East Liverpool for several years. Its original location was at 122 W. 5th St.

Mr. Dawson purchased the former Monroe Patterson residence at 215 W. 5th St. in 1939 and has transformed the dwelling into what is now one of the most beautiful funeral homes in the tri-state area.

The many remodeling programs that have been completed through the years have greatly altered the building. It now has a total of 29 rooms and neither its inside nor outside even faintly resemble the residence in which the firm began business.

While incorporating the best features of several funeral homes, the Dawson home still retains the atmosphere of reverency so essential in easing the strain of emotional shock of a grieving family.

In many ways, the Dawson home is symbolic of important changes that have come about in funeral service since the era of the horse - drawn funeral coach and embalming beside a flickering oil lamp in the poorly-ventilated bedroom of the late home at the turn of the century.

YEARS AGO, home funerals were often necessary because of the inconveniences of travel. If the dwelling of the deceased was small, the strain on the family to accommodate visitors was severe. The clergyman sometimes conducted the services from an awkward place—often seeking the added elevation of a stairway. It was doubtful if the entire gathering heard his words, because visitors were sometimes crowded into an upstairs bedroom. Electronic amplifying systems had not yet come into widespread use. Church services were also popular, because the cemetery was nearly always close at hand.

Progress has rescued us from the exasperation that marked a funeral service in grandpa's time. Modern, cheerful, comfortable funeral homes have replaced the black shrouds and dimly-lit places of the past to the approval of nearly everyone. However, the fundamental concepts of funeral service remain the same.

TODAY'S funeral services have evolved through the years in consequence to man's instinctive wish to pay tribute to the deceased. They symbolize the customs, the hopes, the ideals, the religious precepts of our society. They are affected by local, state and federal laws and regulations.

From every standpoint, the Dawson Funeral Home has kept abreast of each practical change in funeral service. But of cardinal importance, it still adheres to the policy of impartiality. . . .that EVERY family is to be treated with dignity, that EVERY family deserves privacy, that EVERY family is worthy of the kindest possible considerations.

Dawson's makes its pledge of "personal service" known in many different ways, and one way is never failing to provide every comfort for the families the firm is privileged to serve. Good evidence of this is the recent remodeling.

The newly-completed project adds 480 square feet of floor space and a great deal of new beauty to the lovely, rambling mortuary strategically located in the downtown.

THE OUTSIDE is neatly maintained, with the exterior freshly painted in pleasing gray. Charcoal shutters add a sense of "hominess." Off to one side, a parking lot has been constructed to accommodate 15 vehicles, and out of sight at the rear of the home is an auxiliary parking lot with space for 16 more cars.

Standing at curbside in front of the home, one is impressed by the appearance of stability, beauty and permanence. At the right, as one faces the building, gold letters on a window-shaped facade of polished marble spell out the name of the establishment in simple elegance.

One walks into a spacious central hall which runs midway through the home, ending at a semi-circular bench on which flowers are arranged. Above, occupying a large part of the wall is a large mural of a pleasant countryside scene. An expanse of wall-to-wall carpeting in moss green, beige and gold, embellished with floral medallions, further expresses the serene mood of the handsome Provincial decor.

Complete renovation of the ladies boudoir in the downstairs was another improvement. It features a long vanity sink and fixtures of pastel color. By applying vinyl wallpaper in tones of orange and white, an ordinary wall was transformed into a charming background. Thick walls in the comfort lounges were made thicker to enhance privacy.

THE MEN'S room was also remodeled. Other improvements to the downstairs included construction of two paneled offices for the staff and management. Extensive improvements were made to the side entrance at the front. An overhead canopy provides weather protection for visitors alighting from autos at the side entrance. Heaters have been installed to promote warmth, and the stairs leading to the side entrance are completely carpeted in a weather-resistant material.

Improvements to the upstairs were mainly in the casket display room where the overhead lighting system was greatly strengthened. Patrons inspecting any of the 24 caskets on display never need worry about being "kept in the dark." This room is as brightly lighted as any business office in town and the owners have taken pains to mark plainly the price of each casket.

Inspiration For Today

By Rev. Philip N. Carl
Orchard Grove
Methodist Church

"The Lord Is The Strength of my life." (Psalms 27:1)

The psalmist made a great discovery. He learned that the great source of all strength is God. Perhaps he learned it by experience as we so often do.

We attempt to stand in our own power and only discover a set of rubber legs beneath us. The longer we live the more convinced we become that we are spiritually and morally impotent apart from God's help. Every human heart at some time or another must admit his frailty.

We become especially aware of our weakness in times of crises. Sometimes the strain of our daily work exhausts our reserves and leaves us weak in body and mind again telling us of our limitations. And in our weakness we become unhappy: we do not like being frail.

The human heart has a great desire for power. We all want to be strong, in mind, body and character. So the great question becomes: "How can I fortify myself for the facing of life's problems: the trials, the crises which are certain to confront me?"

WE MUST begin by knowing ourselves. We are all made up differently. One person may go through a situation untroubled while another may be completely demoralized in the same spot. So we have to know our limitations.

The second essential for a strong life is a clear conscience. The man who hides his guilt is permitting his own moral stability to be undermined. No man can ignore the still small voice of conscience and suffer through life's battles without trouble.

Insecurity is a constant enemy when we deliberately attempt to do what we know is wrong.

But when we know that the cause for which we fight is right we possess a strength that is victorious. Sir Galahad reminds us: "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure."

A third essential for strength in daily victorious living is harmony. A complicated machine can only operate efficiently when all its parts work in proper relationship. A group of persons functions best when there is agreement.

Likewise, a man's life is strong not when his soul is torn by strife, but when he lives in peace with his neighbor, and with himself. Many are the failures which stem from conflicting emotions and drives. Where there is friction there is loss of power.

THE CHIEF source of power is found in knowing God and living in his fellowship. The Apostle Paul said: "All I care for is to know Christ, to experience the power of his resurrection, and to share his sufferings, in growing conformity with his death. . ."

All these things — knowing ourselves, a clear conscience, inner harmony depend for their complete realization on our faith in something greater than ourselves, namely God.

Let us compare the word strong to the word string. A string is composed of many threads or strands twisted together. To say then, "The Lord is the strength of my life" means that my life is interwoven with the life of God. Separated from the strong cord of omnipotence my life is a weak strand, but to learn wherein is the strength of life is to make the greatest discovery of all.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible
He will give you the desires of your heart.—(Psalms 37:4)
It is good to take time to plan. Successful people always plan a meeting, a meal, a day's work. The most successful people take time to plan with God's help and direction. Let us take time to talk with God about our life plans now. Then let us write them down. Let us write down what we want this morning, today, this week, this month, this year. Let us thank God that He has already given us all good and that we can have any good desire.

A SERVICE WITHOUT PARALLEL--

It is with great civic pride that one of the East Liverpool Area's finest and most respected mortuaries, Dawson Funeral Home, announces the opening of a beautiful, new addition, representing another progressive advancement in modern funeral service.

Dignity, service, privacy, understanding and convenience have always been a part of the Dawson tradition. The thought and planning that went into this new addition is worthy of a proud history of fine service to the East Liverpool Area.

The genuinely friendly personal service that has distinguished Dawson Funeral Home for many generations will continue at the refurbished mortuary, now a building of unsurpassed beauty.

The first consideration of any funeral home should be for the comfort and convenience of family and friends. It's always been first at Dawson's. If it were otherwise, someone else might be announcing a new addition. Come to think of it, Dawson's has always been first. In Service. In Progress. In Thoughtfulness.

Modern Vaults

Concrete, Steel Replace Wood

Not so many years ago, it was considered routine practice to bury a casket in an unfinished wooden box. It isn't difficult to spot these graves when strolling through some of the older cemeteries. They are conspicuous by their caved-in, unsightly appearance.

A wooden box is very seldom used today. Most cemeteries prohibit the wooden rough box, because they deteriorate so very quickly.

BUT THERE are other perfectly logical reasons besides grave appearance why the concrete or metal grave vault has supplanted the wooden rough box.

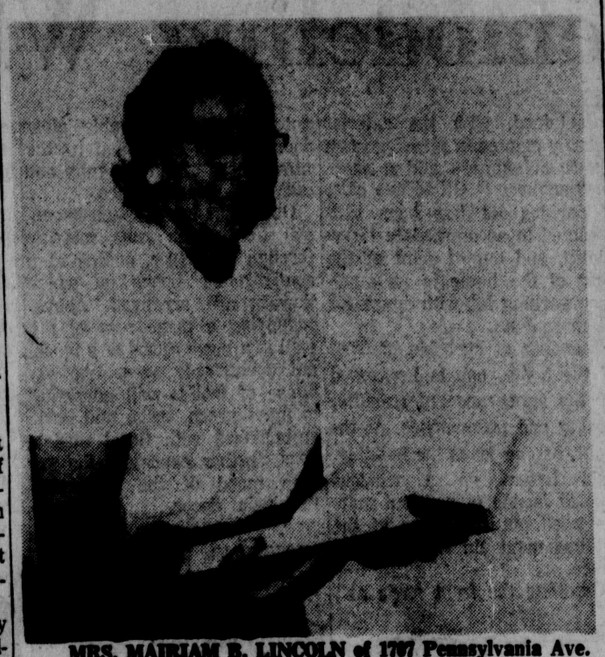

After the family has purchased an attractive casket, the family very naturally wishes to protect it and its contents. The modern vault is scientifically designed and is relatively inexpensive. The vault of concrete or steel provides a remarkable degree of protection.

Most everyone will agree that a casket constructed of less than the ideal material needs a good vault, while a finer casket deserves a good vault.

THE PURCHASE of a vault is an investment in peace of mind, for it gives constant assurance of complete protection of the casket. The Dawson Funeral Home does not insist that a vault be purchased, but recommends it.

Vaults that are reasonably priced, and capable of affording the substantial protection that every family wishes, may be purchased by the family at Dawson Funeral Home. There are various types and their relative merits can best be explained in person at the time the family selects the casket.

MRS. MARIAM B. LINCOLN of 1707 Pennsylvania Ave. has been associated with the Dawson Funeral Home for over 20 years.

National Selected Morticians is an international association of over 800 funeral firms, which was founded in 1917 to create a better understanding of funeral service and to sponsor public information programs in local communities. The Dawson Funeral Home is East Liverpool's only member of National Selected Morticians.

St. Louis's newly opened Gateway Arch commemorates the city as the gateway to the West. The monument towers 630 feet, 75 feet higher than the Washington Monument. Some 900 tons of polished stainless steel were used — the largest amount ever employed in a single project.

Urban problems hardly existed in the United States a century ago. In 1866, the nation had only three cities with more than 300,000 people — New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis. Now there are 42.

Capt. Meriwether Lewis was the actual leader of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. Lewis was selected by President Jefferson and he, in turn, chose Clark as his associate.

The president is the only American citizen not required to have a passport for foreign travel.

To consider the vast unknown space surrounding our planet Earth has become a thrilling challenge to the mind of man. When we think out into the reaches of infinity and venture into space, we realize with overwhelming impact how small we are. Perhaps in the mind of some persons there may even be a certain apprehension concerning whatever discoveries may be in store for us. All of space if filled with the same loving and friendly Spirit of God that we have learned to trust.

FRANK A. DAWSON AND HIS WIFE, Mildred, started their funeral service in East Liverpool in 1935. This scene was taken in the downstairs of the Dawson Funeral Home upon completion of a major renovation program.

Dawson's Is Member Of Long-Established Organization

Selected Mortician—A High Honor

The reaction of most people upon learning for the first time that Dawson Funeral Home is East Liverpool's only member of the National Selected Morticians is usually this:

"Fine. But isn't every funeral director a member of some national group?" Frank C. Dawson, President, and Frank A. Dawson, Secretary, might answer the question this way:

"Perhaps. But only a comparative handful of the thousands of funeral homes in the U. S. can meet the stringent membership standards of National Selected Morticians. Not every community has an NSM member. The cities that do are very fortunate in this respect, because membership in NSM is one of the highest national honors a funeral director can achieve."

TO A mortician, qualifying for membership in NSM parallels a baseball player making the All-Star team, a musician giving a recital at Carnegie Hall, or a race driver winning the Indianapolis 500.

In other words, membership in NSM means the funeral director is a tested professional. It means he has met the most exacting professional standards for stability, dependability, reliability and outstanding service.

A limited membership organization, National Selected Morticians was formed Sept. 7, 1917. Its first president was George W. Olinger of Denver, Colo., who, with eight other prominent funeral directors, desired to organize an association to increase the effectiveness of funeral directing and to improve the standards of funeral service.

THE FOUNDERS were all members of Rotary International who looked upon the noncompetitive principle of Rotary as something highly desiraole. They felt if they could achieve a Rotary Club of Funeral Directors — that is with no competitors present — they could talk very freely about their problems and give each other the benefit of their ideas, methods, procedures, etc. It was with this thought in mind that the organization was formed.

As stated in the constituion and accepted by the membership, the purposes of NSM were:

"To ascertain and study the general principles governing the business and profession of the funeral director, and to promote their proper application.

"To work toward higher standards, clearer ideals, a spirit of service, improved methods, and organization and equipment, with an increasingly satisfactory relationship with patrons, manufacturers, and the public, generally, not only among its members, but among all funeral directors."

In other words, National Selected Morticians was founded to raise the standards of funeral service. Much has been accomplished by the members of this pace-setting association.

WHAT DOES Dawson's membership in NSM mean to you and East Liverpool?

It means that . . . .

— The Dawson Funeral Home measures up to the most rigid qualifications of professional funeral service.

— Is pledged to serve the public interest through complete funeral service facilities, plainly marked prices, and truthful representation of all services and merchandise.

— Is pledged to maintain the highest standards in the selection, training and supervision of all employees.

— Stands ready to assist the family 24 hours every day, seven days each week, with qualified personnel, complete facilities, specialized equipment, knowledge and experience.

— Is pledged to serve all, regardless of their religious beliefs, or financial ability.

— Is pledged to maintain a range of service prices commensurate with all economic groups in the East Liverpool Area.

Dawson Funeral Home welcomes inquiries, personal visits and consultations and price comparisons. The owners invite questions on every facet of their business.

Dawson's is pledged to complete confidential relationship with every family served.

The present-day funeral service is a religious rite which is patterned after the first Christian funeral — that of Jesus Christ. After His crucifixion, His body was removed from the cross, anointed in oils, wrapped in soft cloth and laid in a tomb. The funeral rite is a vital part of Christian religious custom, and a recognition of immortality of the spirit.

Funeral service performs a valuable therapeutic function. For the immediate family, a rapid adjustment is necessary to fill the gap left by the deceased. Not only are there legal and business matters which often require immediate attention, but emotional shock and often the strain of long illness leaves the family in need of a sense of direction. The bringing together of family and friends helps to bring love, comfort and aid to the survivors. The funeral director handles most of the funeral details. He advises the family as to their survivor benefits, and assists them in filling out forms.

RENOVATION OF THE LADIES BOUDOIR on the first floor, with installation of new facilities, was part of a large remodeling project at the Dawson Funeral Home.

With God all things are possible.—(Matt. 19:26)

There are within the body marvelous capacities for healing and renewal. Even when a healing need is very great and the condition is considered most serious, healing can come forth, restoration can take place. This is proved time and time again. Every day letters come to silent unity telling of healings of conditions that had been pronounced hopeless or incurable. We believe in healing. Through the years of the silent unity work we have rejoiced in reports of healing or conditions of every kind.

Director's Responsibility

Here Are Eight Key Points To Remember

It's just as wise to select a funeral director before the need arises as it is to choose a family doctor or an attorney who can be called on in the event of emergency.

While few funeral homes discourage visits and tours, those who belong to National Selected Morticians, such as the Dawson Funeral Home, emphasize the importance of becoming personally familiar with the services of the mortuary now, rather than later. The staff at Dawson's welcomes the opportunity to arrange inspection tours at any time, and invites frank and open discussions on funeral matters.

IN YOUR selection of a funeral director, you should give serious consideration to the following eight points:

One — Does he maintain a complete, modern funeral establishment? Such an establishment is one which provides for every comfort and convenience for family and friends. It should have spacious reposing rooms and the interior should be as tastefully decorated as your own home. It should have a well-lighted casket selection room with plainly-marked prices, and a wide selection of other merchandise.

Two — Does the merchandise of the funeral home have an aura of high quality? And just as important, will you be able to choose and decide without pressure of any kind and place fullest trust and confidence in his recommendations?

Three — Are prices plainly marked? You should be able to approach any casket in the display room and see for yourself the amount of the posted cost from three feet distant. You can place added trust in the funeral director who marks all his prices plainly. If he hedges and haws in discussions on prices, or is an adept double-talker, you may end up spending more than you wish.

Four — Has the funeral director a reputation for honesty and business integrity? In what regard is he held in the community? By his business associates? The one you select should have a reputation for honest and fair business transactions. He should inspire your confidence!

PUBLIC INVITED . . .

The Dawson Funeral Home extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend an open house Sunday, October 22 from 10 A.M. to 8 P.M. A complete tour of our modern facilities is being offered to each person visiting our establishment.

Five — Is the funeral director of good moral character? Even if his business transactions are above reproach, this is not enough for a good funeral director. His moral character should be unquestionable, for he comes in your home at a time of deep mourning. You should always evaluate and appraise the man behind the organization, because he is always a measure of its caliber.

Six — What about the staff of the funeral home? Are these people professionally trained and licensed, capable, and above all, reliable? In general, you can judge the ableness of the staff by the caliber of the funeral director himself. A good funeral director would never surround himself with an incompetent staff.

Seven — Is there a reputation for prompt, reliable service? Ask around the community, but form your own opinion. When faced with the necessity of calling a funeral director, you will appreciate promptness and extra kindness. The funeral director should respond to your call at any hour of the day or night.

Eight — Is the funeral director financially responsible? Often you can get a hint by the appearance of the mortuary. Has he remodeled lately, or constructed a new addition? If he has, it would indicate solid financial standing and means to keep abreast of progress. Unquestionably, you will receive finer service and more value from the funeral director who is financially responsible. The one you select should have sufficient financial standing to assure you the very best in equipment, facilities and services.

There was a time when decisions for the family were made by one person—the head of the house. Not today. Now such matters as insurance, investments, property ownership, etc., are family matters. They are discussed freely. Decisions are made and carried out according to plan—a family plan. In today's world, planning is essential to fulfillment. This applies to planning ahead to meet emergencies, too. Today, more people are looking into funeral costs and arrangements before emergencies arise. This is called pre-arrangement. It relieves others of so much responsibility and worry. The Dawson Funeral Home will be glad to talk to you about it at any time. Please call at your convenience.

TWELVE LOCAL CONTRACTORS SHARED in the renovation project at the Dawson Funeral Home. The architect was Robert F. Beatty of East Liverpool. Improvements added 480 square feet of floor space and a completely new "look" to the downstairs. Kenneth C. Eardley, (left), an associate at Dawson's, and Frank C. Dawson, President, stand in one of the remodeled parlors on the first floor.

MAJOR CHANGES WERE MADE at the side entrance of the Dawson Funeral Home in the interest of providing as much weather protection as possible for families awaiting the formation of the funeral procession. Standing in this area are (from left) Frank C. Dawson, James R. Sigler, Bruce L. Conkle, Frank A. Dawson, Joseph C. Wyand and Kenneth C. Eardley.

Selection Of A Casket

Complete Freedom Of Choice Offered By Dawson's

Once the family has settled on a funeral director, its next most important decision is selection of a casket.

Cost of the casket is an important consideration, because it determines to a large degree the ultimate cost of the complete funeral service.

At the Dawson Funeral Home, families are guaranteed complete freedom in their choice of a casket. They are also assured of an honest, frank explanation of the advantages of the different types of caskets.

ORDINARILY, the selection is made the day after the funeral director is summoned, at a time convenient for the family. If desired, the funeral director will send a car for the family at an appointed time to convey the family to the funeral home, and will return the family to the residence after the selection has been made.

Caskets are available in a wide variety of materials. . . . cloth covered wood, steel, lead coated steel, hardwoods, copper, bronze and stainless steel. Each type of casket offers certain specific advantages which are best explained on a personal visit to the display room.

The funeral director will fully explain to you the advantages of the different types of caskets, and, if you wish, will aid in selecting a casket of suitable material, design, finish, color and price.

Twenty-four caskets are always kept in the display room at Dawson's. They are priced from the very least expensive plainly marked as to price, to the most elaborate. Each is showing the complete cost of the service.

THE PRICE to be paid for the complete funeral service is an important matter to the ordinary or average family.

When the funeral director says "complete standard service," he includes the casket, his professional services, and the many usual and essential services incidental to the funeral. These additional services are more numerous than you might imagine. A few include removal from home or hospital, preparation of the body, securing permits, etc.

It is the policy at Dawson's to make no effort at any time to induce the family to buy a funeral more expensive than desired. Indeed, the funeral director's presence in the casket display room is for the sole purpose of guiding those he serves in making a selection within their means. He does not want to see them yield to the natural temptation to honor the memory of the deceased by purchasing something more costly than circumstances warrant.

The caskets on display in the brightly-illuminated, air - conditioned casket display room at the Dawson Funeral Home are varied enough to meet the needs of any family—from those in the most moderate circumstances to those who feel that price is of little or no consequence.

THE IMPORTANT point to remember is that no family, however limited in means, need deny itself the advantages of being served by the finest funeral home in the East Liverpool area—the Dawson Funeral Home.

The cost of the funeral is the choice of the patron at Dawson's. The "one-price" figure on the casket includes (1) the casket; (2) use of the funeral home; (3) complete scientific preparation and professional care; (4) local use of funeral coach, limousine for the family, flower car, limousine for the clergy and bearers, and (5) all other necessary facilities and equipment.

In other words, the price found on the casket in the casket display room covers all necessary funeral expenses, generally speaking, except cemetery charges, a vault ($90 to $250) and any clothing provided by the funeral director.

HOW MUCH do funerals cost? They vary, of course, from family-to-family, ranging from a low of $180 to four figures.

However, a survey conducted by National Selected Morticians revealed that of 50,446 funerals studied, the largest majority cost between $301 and $800. The survey results:

$300 or less	5,070
$801 to $1250	13,656

$75,000 Expansion And Remodeling Widen Services

Firm Continues Growth Here

The completion of a $75,000 expansion and remodeling program at the Dawson Funeral Home, Inc., is another significant milestone in the distinguished history of this influential firm which has served the East Liverpool area since 1935.

A project born of healthy business growth, it reflects the faith of the owners in East Liverpool's future and a sincere desire to better serve the community in which they live.

In serving hundreds of local and district families at their W. 5th St. landmark, the Dawson Funeral Home has established a reputation of eminence in funeral home practice, with the accent on fairness and gracious personal relationships with area residents.

Largely because of the responsible attitude of the owners, they have been able to translate the concept of "personal service" into something meaningful and of genuine benefit for those experiencing an emotional shock through the loss of a loved one.

"Personal service" has never been just a sterile cliche or meaningless expression at Dawson's. It has been the very cornerstone of their tradition of fine service, as many area families will attest. One need only check the files of the funeral home to find glowing testimony to warmth and fairness in business relationships with Dawson's and the public.

THE FIRM was established under the ownership of Frank A. Dawson in 1935 upon the death of E. G. Sturgis, a leading funeral home director in East Liverpool for several years. Its original location was at 122 W. 5th St.

Mr. Dawson purchased the former Monroe Patterson residence at 215 W. 5th St. in 1939 and has transformed the dwelling into what is now one of the most beautiful funeral homes in the tri-state area.

The many remodeling programs that have been completed through the years have greatly altered the building. It now has a total of 29 rooms and neither its inside nor outside even faintly resemble the residence in which the firm began business.

While incorporating the best features of several funeral homes, the Dawson home still retains the atmosphere of reverency so essential in easing the strain of emotional shock of a grieving family.

In many ways, the Dawson home is symbolic of important changes that have come about in funeral service since the era of the horse - drawn funeral coach and embalming beside a flickering oil lamp in the poorly-ventilated bedroom of the late home at the turn of the century.

YEARS AGO, home funerals were often necessary because of the inconveniences of travel. If the dwelling of the deceased was small, the strain on the family to accommodate visitors was severe. The clergyman sometimes conducted the services from an awkward place—often seeking the added elevation of a stairway. It was doubtful if the entire gathering heard his words, because visitors were sometimes crowded into an upstairs bedroom. Electronic amplifying systems had not yet come into widespread use. Church services were also popular, because the cemetery was nearly always close at hand.

Progress has rescued us from the exasperation that marked a funeral service in grandpa's time. Modern, cheerful, comfortable funeral homes have replaced the black shrouds and dimly-lit places of the past to the approval of nearly everyone. However, the fundamental concepts of funeral service remain the same.

TODAY'S funeral services have evolved through the years in consequence to man's instinctive wish to pay tribute to the deceased. They symbolize the customs, the hopes, the ideals, the religious precepts of our society. They are affected by local, state and federal laws and regulations.

From every standpoint, the Dawson Funeral Home has kept abreast of each practical change in funeral service. But of cardinal importance, it still adheres to the policy of impartiality. . . .that EVERY family is to be treated with dignity, that EVERY family deserves privacy, that EVERY family is worthy of the kindest possible considerations.

Dawson's makes its pledge of "personal service" known in many different ways, and one way is never failing to provide every comfort for the families the firm is privileged to serve. Good evidence of this is the recent remodeling.

The newly-completed project adds 480 square feet of floor space and a great deal of new beauty to the lovely, rambling mortuary strategically located in the downtown.

THE OUTSIDE is neatly maintained, with the exterior freshly painted in pleasing gray. Charcoal shutters add a sense of "hominess." Off to one side, a parking lot has been constructed to accommodate 15 vehicles, and out of sight at the rear of the home is an auxiliary parking lot with space for 16 more cars.

Standing at curbside in front of the home, one is impressed by the appearance of stability, beauty and permanence. At the right, as one faces the building, gold letters on a window-shaped facade of polished marble spell out the name of the establishment in simple elegance.

Climbing the front steps and entering through double glass doors, one is enthralled by the atmosphere of quiet dignity and cathedral-like reverence.

One walks into a spacious central hall which runs midway through the home, ending at a semi-circular bench on which flowers are arranged. Above, occupying a large part of the wall is a large mural of a pleasant countryside scene. An expanse of wall-to-wall carpeting in moss green, beige and gold, embellished with floral medallions, further expresses the serene mood of the handsome Provincial decor.

DIVIDING the central hall from two newly-added business offices at the very front of the home is a wall of "Tropisel," made by enclosing curls of mahogany in sheets of transparent plastic. The effect is most unique.

Complete renovation of the ladies boudoir in the downstairs was another improvement. It features a long vanity sink and fixtures of pastel color. By applying vinyl wallpaper in tones of orange and white, an ordinary wall was transformed into a charming background. Thick walls in the comfort lounges were made thicker to enhance privacy.

THE MEN'S room was also remodeled. Other improvements to the downstairs included construction of two paneled offices for the staff and management. Extensive improvements were made to the side entrance at the front. An overhead canopy provides weather protection for visitors alighting from autos at the side entrance. Heaters have been installed to promote warmth, and the stairs leading to the side entrance are completely carpeted in a weather-resistant material.

Improvements to the upstairs were mainly in the casket display room where the overhead lighting system was greatly strengthened. Patrons inspecting any of the 24 caskets on display never need worry about being "kept in the dark." This room is as brightly lighted as any business office in town and the owners have taken pains to mark plainly the price of each casket.

Inspiration For Today

By Rev. Philip N. Carl
Orchard Grove
Methodist Church

"The Lord Is The Strength of my life." (Psalms 27:1)

The psalmist made a great discovery. He learned that the great source of all strength is God. Perhaps he learned it by experience as we so often do.

We attempt to stand in our own power and only discover a set of rubber legs beneath us. The longer we live the more convinced we become that we are spiritually and morally impotent apart from God's help. Every human heart at some time or another must admit his frailty.

We become especially aware of our weakness in times of crises. Sometimes the strain of our daily work exhausts our reserves and leaves us weak in body and mind again telling us of our limitations. And in our weakness we become unhappy: we do not like being frail.

The human heart has a great desire for power. We all want to be strong, in mind, body and character. So the great question becomes: "How can I fortify myself for the facing of life's problems: the trials, the crises which are certain to confront me?"

WE MUST begin by knowing ourselves. We are all made up differently. One person may go through a situation untroubled while another may be completely demoralized in the same spot. So we have to know our limitations.

The second essential for a strong life is a clear conscience. The man who hides his guilt is permitting his own moral stability to be undermined. No man can ignore the still small voice of conscience and suffer through life's battles without trouble.

Insecurity is a constant enemy when we deliberately attempt to do what we know is wrong.

But when we know that the cause for which we fight is right we possess a strength that is victorious. Sir Galahad reminds us: "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure."

A third essential for strength in daily victorious living is harmony. A complicated machine can only operate efficiently when all its parts work in proper relationship. A group of persons functions best when there is agreement.

Likewise, a man's life is strong not when his soul is torn by strife, but when he lives in peace with his neighbor, and with himself. Many are the failures which stem from conflicting emotions and drives. Where there is friction there is loss of power.

THE CHIEF source of power is found in knowing God and living in his fellowship. The Apostle Paul said: "All I care for is to know Christ, to experience the power of his resurrection, and to share his sufferings, in growing conformity with his death. . ."

All these things — knowing ourselves, a clear conscience, inner harmony depend for their complete realization on our faith in something greater than ourselves, namely God.

Let us compare the word strong to the word string. A string is composed of many threads or strands twisted together. To say then, "The Lord is the strength of my life" means that my life is interwoven with the life of God. Separated from the strong cord of omnipotence my life is a weak strand, but to learn wherein is the strength of life is to make the greatest discovery of all.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible
He will give you the desires of your heart.—(Psalms 37:4)
It is good to take time to plan. Successful people always plan a meeting, a meal, a day's work. The most successful people take time to plan with God's help and direction. Let us take time to talk with God about our life plans now. Then let us write them down. Let us write down what we want this morning, today, this week, this month, this year. Let us thank God that He has already given us all good and that we can have any good desire.

Father-And-Son Team Serves City Well

FRANK A. DAWSON

FRANK C. DAWSON

Civic-Minded Role Cited

Enthusiasm, the magical power that seems to breed unbelieveable energy and resourcefulness for those who have it, is probably the most conspicuous trait of the successful father-son team of Frank A. Dawson and Frank C. Dawson, who own and operate the Dawson Funeral Home, Inc.

As outstanding civic leaders, they seem to approach their community responsibilities with the attitude that anything worth doing is worth doing well. Those who know them best say each man has developed the uncommon habit of putting everything he's got into everything he does.

The proof of this is recorded in their phenomenal list of community achievements, embracing every worthwhile civic endeavor from sports and higher education to the United Fund and YMCA.

Neither man, it appears, has been willing to settle for the uneasy and inadequate contentment that comes with mediocrity or insincere effort. This drive for excellence carries over into their business as well.

The quicksands of complacency will probably never trap these two. Frank A. is still a young man at 61 years. Frank C. is 38, with astonishing energy and endurance. They are active, involved, restless.

The senior partner in the business is the son of an East Liverpool policeman who began his career in funeral service 43 years ago as a car washer and driver for the late E. G. Sturgis, whose firm Mr. Dawson purchased in 1934.

He built the business into one of the leading funeral establishments in the tri - state area through initiative and fairness to his patrons. All the while, he worked unselfishly towards community improvement. He has been an officer or active member of virtually every leading civic organization in town.

A few years ago, Mr. Dawson turned the job of president of the firm over to his son, but remains active in community affairs. His most recent achievement was heading up the committee that brought higher education to East Liverpool with the establishment of a branch of Kent State University here.

That Mr. Dawson is endowed with extraordinary business skill is reflected in his position as a director of both the Potters Bank and Trust Co. and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of East Liverpool.

He is a member of Elks Lodge 258, the YMCA, the Rotary Club, Riddle Masonic Lodge 315, Al Koran Shrine of Cleveland and the East Liverpool Shrine Club, to list a few of his activities.

An avid golfer, he is a past champion at the East Liverpool Country Club. And the fact that he still has a low handicap indicates he's still playing well.

Although a tyro in the funeral business by comparison with his father, the younger Dawson has displayed a keen grasp of business fundamentals since joining the firm full time in 1959. The recent $75,000 remodeling program is his latest contribution to the continued growth of the business.

Every bit as civic-minded as his father, the younger Dawson has an inimitable style when it comes to wading into tough jobs for civic improvement. Nothing detracts him from his objective, if at all, once he has accepted the commitment to head up a project. His approach is that the only way to get rid of the things that have to be done is to do them.

Item: With a wad of enthusiasm in his hip pocket, young Dawson returned to East Liverpool in 1959 after college and military service and plunged into one of his favorite pastimes — improving the well-being for the high school football team. One look at deteriorating Patterson Field, and he was off on a program to construct a stadium all-purpose room. With no revenue available for such a costly job, he asked for and received volunteer help and materials. When finished, the facilities were valued at $5,000. Actual money spent—$600!

Still later, he enlisted community support for much-needed shower room improvements at the stadium in 1962, and coordinated Key Club efforts to build a concession stand at Patterson Field. The concession stand cost $1,500. . .and its book value is about $4,000.

Who was chairman of the Patterson Field Improvement Project in 1965 when $50,000 was expended for new stands, lights and general improvements? Dawson again.

The younger Dawson was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1952, and received a B. A. degree in business administration from Baldwin - Wallace College. He was valedictorian of his class in graduating from the Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science.

Like his father, the younger Dawson is active in most every civic organization going and is presently president of the Rotary Club and member of the Board of Directors of the YMCA. He still serves as a trainer for the High School football team — a position he has held for many years.

He was named East Liverpool's "outstanding young man" in 1962 when he became recipient of the Distinguished Service Award from the Jaycees. His father was recipient of the Civic Service Award from the Jaycees. They were only the second father-son combination to win the community's highest awards for civic leadership.

The Dawsons Go All Out

What should you expect from your funeral director? The list should include full disclosure of costs, assurance of dignity and quality, full responsibility for arrangements, respect for religious beliefs and customs. These principles have been adopted by every member of National Selected Morticians and are the guiding creed of their service to the public. The Dawson Funeral Home is a member of NSM.

Odd Facts

The Golden Anniversary Annual Meeting of National Selected Morticians will be held November 7-10 at the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago. Paul Harvey, Commentator, lecturer, and author, will address the group at the noon luncheon on the first day of the meeting. A feature of the 50th anniversary meeting will be general group discussions where members from one area will have the opportunity of learning customs, procedures and problems faced by their friends from other sections of the country.

The Chinese developed hundreds of devices that the rest of the world failed to adopt for many centuries. The kite, the rotary winnowing machine with crank handle and piston bellows for continuous blast, all arrived in Europe 14 centuries after China had them. Various types of bridges, canal locks, ship construction, gunpowder, paper, and wood and metal printing blocks were used by the Chinese while the West was still in the Dark Ages.

The prayer of faith will save the sick man, and the Lord will raise him up.—(James 5:15)

Most of us know of someone in our own family or circle of friends, or a co-worker, who needs healing. Today let us think especially of these dear ones; let us pray for them in the faith that God's power is with them, mighty to heal and to restore. Let us let go any anxious thought about those for whom we pray; let us see them as beloved children of God; let us see their bodies as temples of the living God; let us see them filled with a new spirit, perfect in mind, perfect in body.

Modern Vaults

Concrete, Steel Replace Wood

Not so many years ago, it was considered routine practice to bury a casket in an unfinished wooden box. It isn't difficult to spot these graves when strolling through some of the older cemeteries. They are conspicuous by their caved-in, unsightly appearance.

A wooden box is very seldom used today. Most cemeteries prohibit the wooden rough box, because they deteriorate so very quickly.

BUT THERE are other perfectly logical reasons besides grave appearance why the concrete or metal grave vault has supplanted the wooden rough box.

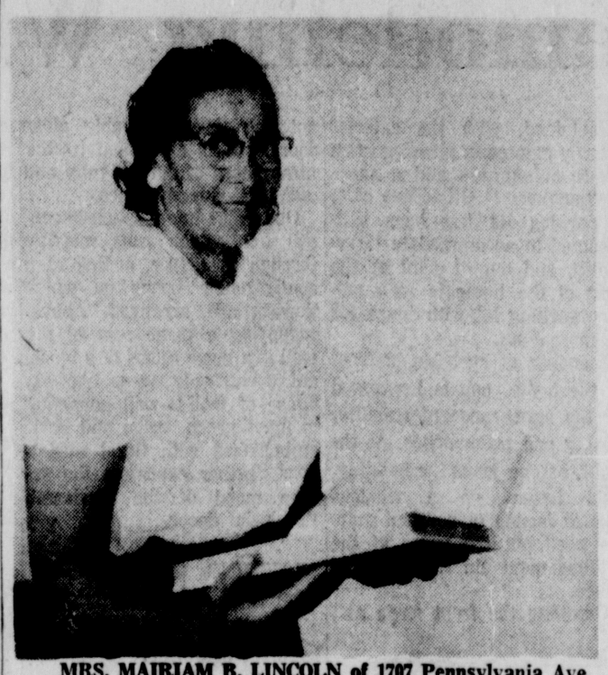

After the family has purchased an attractive casket, the family very naturally wishes to protect it and its contents. The modern vault is scientifically designed and is relatively inexpensive. The vault of concrete or steel provides a remarkable degree of protection.

Most everyone will agree that a casket constructed of less than the ideal material needs a good vault, while a finer casket deserves a good vault.

THE PURCHASE of a vault is an investment in peace of mind, for it gives constant assurance of complete protection of the casket. The Dawson Funeral Home does not insist that a vault be purchased, but recommends it.

Vaults that are reasonably priced, and capable of affording the substantial protection that every family wishes, may be purchased by the family at Dawson Funeral Home. There are various types and their relative merits can best be explained in person at the time the family selects the casket.

MRS. MAIRIAM B. LINCOLN of 1707 Pennsylvania Ave. has been associated with the Dawson Funeral Home for over 20 years.

National Selected Morticians is an international association of over 800 funeral firms, which was founded in 1917 to create a better understanding of funeral service and to sponsor public information programs in local communities. St. Louis's newly opened Gateway Arch commemorates the city as the gateway to the West. The monument towers 630 feet, 75 feet higher than the Washington Monument. Some 900 tons of polished stainless steel were used — the largest amount ever employed in a single project.

Urban problems hardly existed in the United States a century ago. In 1866, the nation had only three cities with more than 300,000 people — New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis. Now there are 42.

Capt. Meriwether Lewis was the actual leader of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. Lewis was selected by President Jefferson and he, in turn, chose Clark as his associate.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

All things were made through him.—(John 1:3)

To consider the vast unknown space surrounding our planet Earth has become a thrilling challenge to the mind of man. When we think out into the reaches of infinity and venture into space, we realize with overwhelming impact how small we are. Perhaps in the mind of some persons there may even be a certain apprehension concerning whatever discoveries may be in store for us. All of space if filled with the same loving and friendly Spirit of God that we have learned to trust.

Selection Of A Casket

Complete Freedom Of Choice Offered By Dawson's

Once the family has settled on a funeral director, its next most important decision is selection of a casket.

Cost of the casket is an important consideration, because it determines to a large degree the ultimate cost of the complete funeral service.

At the Dawson Funeral Home, families are guaranteed complete freedom in their choice of a casket. They are also assured of an honest, frank explanation of the advantages of the different types of caskets.

ORDINARILY, the selection is made the day after the funeral director is summoned, at a time convenient for the family. If desired, the funeral director will send a car for the family at an appointed time to convey the family to the funeral home, and will return the family to the residence after the selection has been made.

Caskets are available in a wide variety of materials. . . . cloth covered wood, steel, lead coated steel, hardwoods, copper, bronze and stainless steel. Each type of casket offers certain specific advantages which are best explained on a personal visit to the display room.

The funeral director will fully explain to you the advantages of the different types of caskets, and, if you wish, will aid in selecting a casket of suitable material, design, finish, color and price.

Twenty-four caskets are always kept in the display room at Dawson's. They are priced from the very least expensive plainly marked as to price, to the most elaborate. Each is showing the complete cost of the service.

THE PRICE to be paid for the complete funeral service is an important matter to the ordinary or average family.

When the funeral director says "complete standard service," he includes the casket, his professional services, and the many usual and essential services incidental to the funeral. These additional services are more numerous than you might imagine. A few include removal from home or hospital, preparation of the body, securing permits, etc.

It is the policy at Dawson's to make no effort at any time to induce the family to buy a funeral more expensive than desired. Indeed, the funeral director's presence in the casket display room is for the sole purpose of guiding those he serves in making a selection within their means. He does not want to see them yield to the natural temptation to honor the memory of the deceased by purchasing something more costly than circumstances warrant.

The caskets on display in the brightly-illuminated, air - conditioned casket display room at the Dawson Funeral Home are varied enough to meet the needs of any family—from those in the most moderate circumstances to those who feel that price is of little or no consequence.

THE IMPORTANT point to remember is that no family, however limited in means, need deny itself the advantages of being served by the finest funeral home in the East Liverpool area—the Dawson Funeral Home.

The cost of the funeral is the choice of the patron at Dawson's. The "one-price" figure on the casket includes (1) the casket; (2) use of the funeral home; (3) complete scientific preparation and professional care; (4) local use of funeral coach, limousine for the family, flower car, limousine for the clergy and bearers, and (5) all other necessary facilities and equipment.

In other words, the price found on the casket in the casket display room covers all necessary funeral expenses, generally speaking, except cemetery charges, a vault ($90 to $250) and any clothing provided by the funeral director.

HOW MUCH do funerals cost? They vary, of course, from family-to-family, ranging from a low of $180 to four figures.

However, a survey conducted by National Selected Morticians revealed that of 50,446 funerals studied, the largest majority cost between $301 and $800. The survey results:

$300 or less	5,070
$301 to $800	29,032
$801 to $1250	13,656

Enthusiasm, the magical power that seems to breed unbelieveable energy and resourcefulness for those who have it, is probably the most conspicuous trait of the successful father-son team of Frank A. Dawson and Frank C. Dawson, who own and operate the Dawson Funeral Home, Inc.

As outstanding civic leaders, they seem to approach their community responsibilities with the attitude that anything worth doing is worth doing well. Those who know them best say each man has developed the uncommon habit of putting everything he's got into everything he does.

The proof of this is recorded in their phenomenal list of community achievements, embracing every worthwhile civic endeavor from sports and higher education to the United Fund and YMCA.

Neither man, it appears, has been willing to settle for the uneasy and inadequate contentment that comes with mediocrity or insincere effort. This drive for excellence carries over into their business as well.

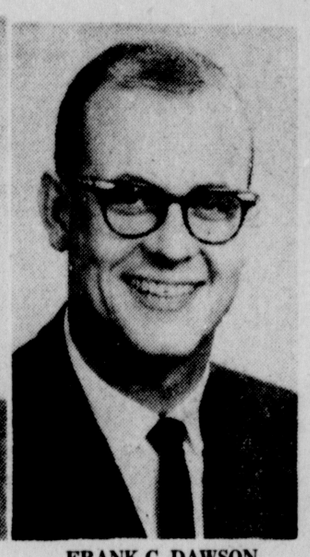

The quicksands of complacency will probably never trap these two. Frank A. is still a young man at 61 years. Frank C. is 33, with astonishing energy and endurance. They are active, involved, restless.

The senior partner in the business is the son of an East Liverpool policeman who began his career in funeral service 43 years ago as a car washer and driver for the late E. G. Sturgis, whose firm Mr. Dawson purchased in 1934.

He built the business into one of the leading funeral establishments in the tri - state area through initiative and fairness to his patrons. All the while, he worked unselfishly towards community improvement. He has been an officer or active member of virtually every leading civic organization in town.

FRANK A. DAWSON

FRANK C. DAWSON

A few years ago, Mr. Dawson turned the job of president of the firm over to his son, but remains active in community affairs. His most recent achievement was heading up the committee that brought higher education to East Liverpool with the establishment of a branch of Kent State University here.

That Mr. Dawson is endowed with extraordinary business skill is reflected in his position as a director of both the Potters Bank and Trust Co. and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of East Liverpool.

He is a member of Elks Lodge 258, the YMCA, the Rotary Club, Riddle Masonic Lodge 315, Al Koran Shrine of Cleveland and the East Liverpool Shrine Club, to list a few of his activities.

An avid golfer, he is a past champion at the East Liverpool Country Club. And the fact that he still has a low handicap indicates he's still playing well.

The Dawsons Go All Out

Although a tyro in the funeral business by comparison with his father, the younger Dawson has displayed a keen grasp of business fundamentals since joining the firm full time in 1959. The recent $75,000 remodeling program is his latest contribution to the continued growth of the business.

Every bit as civic-minded as his father, the younger Dawson has an inimitable style when it comes to wading into tough jobs for civic improvement. Nothing detracts him from his objective, if at all, once he has accepted the commitment to head up a project. His approach is that the only way to get rid of the things that have to be done is to do them.

Item: With a wad of enthusiasm in his hip pocket, young Dawson returned to East Liverpool in 1959 after college and military service and plunged into one of his favorite pastimes — improving the well-being for the high school football team. One look at deteriorating Patterson Field, and he was off on a program to construct a stadium all-purpose room. With no revenue available for such a costly job, he asked for and received volunteer help and materials. When finished, the facilities were valued at $5,000. Actual money spent—$600!

Still later, he enlisted community support for much-needed shower room improvements at the stadium in 1962, and coordinated Key Club efforts to build a concession stand at Patterson Field. The concession stand cost $1,500. . .and its book value is about $4,000.

Who was chairman of the Patterson Field Improvement Project in 1965 when $50,000 was expended for new stands, lights and general improvements? Dawson again.

The younger Dawson was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1952, and received a B. A. degree in business administration from Baldwin - Wallace College. He was valedictorian of his class in graduating from the Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science.

Like his father, the younger Dawson is active in most every civic organization going and is presently president of the Rotary Club and member of the Board of Directors of the YMCA. He still serves as a trainer for the High School football team — a position he has held for many years.

He was named East Liverpool's "outstanding young man" in 1962 when he became recipient of the Distinguished Service Award from the Jaycees. His father was recipient of the Civic Service Award from the Jaycees. They were only the second father-son combination to win the community's highest awards for civic leadership.

Odd Facts

The Golden Anniversary Annual Meeting of National Selected Morticians will be held November 7-10 at the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago. Paul Harvey, Commentator, lecturer, and author, will address the group at the noon luncheon on the first day of the meeting. A feature of the 50th anniversary meeting will be general group discussions where members from one area will have the opportunity of learning customs, procedures and problems faced by their friends from other sections of the country.

The Chinese developed hundreds of devices that the rest of the world failed to adopt for many centuries. The kite, the rotary winnowing machine with crank handle and piston bellows for continuous blast, all arrived in Europe 14 centuries after China had them. Various types of bridges, canal locks, ship construction, gunpowder, paper, and wood and metal printing blocks were used by the Chinese while the West was still in the Dark Ages.

The Ice Age altered America's topography more quickly than it was altered at any other time.

Malleable describes metals that can be hammered into thin sheets; those that can be drawn out into wires are called ductile.

A mother blue whale pumps as much as 200 pounds of milk into her youngster each day.

What should you expect from your funeral director? The list should include full disclosure of costs, assurance of dignity and quality, full responsibility for arrangements, respect for religious beliefs and customs. These principles have been adopted by every member of National Selected Morticians and are the guiding creed of their service to the public. The Dawson Funeral Home is a member of NSM.

PUBLIC INVITED . . .

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from the Bible

The prayer of faith will save the sick man, and the Lord will raise him up.—(James 5:15)

Most of us know of someone in our own family or circle of friends, or a co-worker, who needs healing. Today let us think especially of these dear ones; let us pray for them in the faith that God's power is with them, mighty to heal and to restore. Let us let go any anxious thought about those for whom we pray; let us see them as beloved children of God; let us see their bodies as temples of the living God; let us see them filled with a new spirit, perfect in mind, perfect in body.

Dawson Funeral Home
215 West Fifth Street
East Liverpool, Ohio 43902

Dear Frank:

Let me add my word of commendation on your outstanding achievement on the remodeling, refurbishing and redecorating of your funeral home.

Your willingness continually to reinvest in order to make available to your community the finest of facilities is proof positive of the sincerity of your desire to serve all, always and in all ways.

Membership in National Selected Morticians is a distinction of which our members are justifiably proud. But it is because this society of ours is composed of men like you two gentlemen that NSM is equally as proud of its members.

Sincerely,

NATIONAL SELECTED MORTICIANS
